VOTE TO KEEP F. D. R.'S HANDS OFF SURPLUSES

Huge Army Funds in Senate Mind.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Over White House and war department protests, the senate today gave overwhelming approval to legislation abolishing burocratic control over surplus war billions.

Acting under suspension of the rules, which was voted 61 to 10, and beating down two efforts to weaken the proposed action by majorities of 55 to 19 and 41 to 29, the legislators recorded their resentment at recent disclosures of asserted unauthorized and wasteful war expenditures.

The most devastating result of the surprise maneuver will be to cancel the recent "impounding" by President Roosevelt's budget bureau of 13½ billion dollars in surplus war department funds. This sum must now be returned to the treasury instead of being diverted to purposes which congress had not approved.

War Department Curbed.

Swept away also was the war department's authority in present law to transfer up to 10 per cent of army appropriations [totaling more than 7 billions under the 71 billion current appropriation] to such purposes as it might designate.

The legislation was adopted in the form of an amendment to the $307,995,019 supplemental defense appropriation bill carrying funds to supply deficiencies in a number of government agencies. The bill with the amendment now goes to conference with the house.

The construction of a $100,000,000 oil refinery in Canada known as the "Canol" project was cited in heated debate as a typical evidence of unauthorized war department extravagance.

More Canol Cases.

"There are more Canol cases and we'll be in here soon to tell you about them," Sen Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] informed his colleagues.

Summing up the sentiment of the senate in adopting the sweeping amendment, Sen. Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] declared:

"We are opposed to permitting the war and navy departments to pile up huge, unexpended balances and spend them as they please at the whim of some general."

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.] fought vainly for war department approved amendments retaining the power to transfer 10 per cent of appropriations to other funds.

Bars Fund to Play With.

"Why set up a 7 billion dollar revolving fund for them to play around with?" asked Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.]

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] provides that no funds appropriated by congress which are found unnecessary for the purpose for which appropriated shall be spent for any other purpose but must be turned over to the treasury.

The amendment also prohibits any executive department or agency from impounding or holding as a reserve any part of such funds. This was aimed directly at the budget bureau impounding of $13,500,000,000 in war funds, a procedure indorsed by Mr. Roosevelt in a recent letter to Sen. Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.].

Barkley Snowed Under.

"If the war department, as announced, does not need to spend $13,500,000,000 of the $71,000,000,000 appropriated by congress," said McKellar, "that sum should not be diverted to other purposes but returned to the treasury. Congress is in session all the time and no army requirement to win the war will be denied but we don't want to surrender our power to appropriate and designate the purpose for which the money shall be spent."

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley was snowed under in his attempts to prevent the senate's action. On the vote to suspend the rules, which required a two-thirds majority, only three Republicans and six Democrats joined Barkley in opposition, while 61 senators voted in favor of the emergency procedure.

Eyewitness Tells How Gang Killed Quirk

Slayers' Aid Details Roles of 3 on Trial

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

How, why, and by whom Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, a public enemy, was murdered as an incident in a gambling war was told from the witness stand in Judge Harold G. Ward's court yesterday by James Egan, an ex-convict.

Egan, who is 30 years old, bright eyed, handsome, sleek, well dressed, and well groomed, was telling on his pals, but not sparing himself.

He was testifying against three men who are on trial for their lives—John J. Williams, gambling house boss, and John Enright and Anthony De Lordo, gaming house employes. In this respect the trial was one of the most unusual of gang murder trials, for a participant in the killing—an eyewitness to the crime—was telling the story in detail.

Awaited Chance for Month.

Lt. Tom Kelly, who persuaded Egan to confess, was on edge until Egan started his story. Kelly said that until that minute he and the state's attorney's staff had to combat attempts to keep Egan from testifying. But gradually Lt. Kelly was able to breathe easier—Egan was talking casually about the sensational gang murder that has kept three grand juries busy ever since.

Egan divided his story into several instalments. As they reached the jury, they were: [1] The alleged plotters' month of plans, attempts and failures, always with hope, to get a chance to kill Quirk because they had been told he was trying to "muscle in" on their gambling racket; [2] the murder in front of 6620 Stony Island avenue on the night of Sept. 18; [3] the party after the murder, and [4] Egan's arrest and confession.

Asked to 'Give a Hand.'

Egan began by telling how well and how long he knew the defendants. He said he had been hired by Williams as an employe of his gambling rooms at $8 or $10 a day and the same for night sessions, so that he usually made from $16 to $20 a day.

"In the early part of August did you have a conversation with Williams about Martin Quirk?" asked Prosecutor Alex Napoli.

"Yes, he said Jim Fawcett wanted a man to give him a hand in killing Quirk," Egan answered. Then the story continued, Fawcett had told Williams that Quirk intended to muscle him out of his handbooks, Egan said, and Williams said he had enough money for himself, but if he went out of business, Egan and De Lordo and the others would lose their good jobs.

Month of Stalking Told.

So, said Egan, he went to see Fawcett about "giving him a hand." For a month, he told the jurors, the gang tried to get an opportunity to kill Quirk. Ray Deskovitch, one of the gang, who had been assigned to

SENATORS TAKE ANOTHER BITE OUT OF TAX BILL

Hike 2 House Levies and Reduce 4.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The prospective yield of the 1943 revenue bill was slashed to less than one-fifth of the treasury's 10½ billion dollar goal today when the senate finance committee adjusted house approved excise rates—principally downward.

The estimated net loss of 112 millions in tax money from the committee's action shaved the anticipated annual yield to about 2 billion 28 million dollars. In combination with present federal taxes, however, the government would collect about 43 billions a year from its citizens.

Travelers, telephone users, whisky drinkers, clubmen, pool players, night club play boys and women buying furs, face powder, and handbags are among those lassoed by the new levies, previously voted by the house but still subject to senate approval.

Even to a Light Bulb.

Altho hitting hardest at the country club trade, the new rates also will collect a few extra pennies from the housewife who needs a new light bulb.

The committee approved reductions below the house levels in four categories, raised two, left eight unchanged, and specified a flat rather than a percentage rate on the sport of bowling.

The following increases, provided in the house bill, were approved by the senators without change:

Whisky — From $6 a proof gallon to $9.

Beer—From $7 a barrel to $8.

Toilet preparations—From 10 per cent of retail price to 25 per cent.

Telephone service—Local, from 10 to 15 per cent; long distance, from 20 to 25 per cent.

Domestic telegraph, radio, and cable service—From 15 to 25 per cent.

Transportation of persons [including sleeping car charges]—From 10 to 15 per cent.

Club dues and initiation fees—From 11 to 20 per cent.

Billiard and pool tables—From $10 per table annually to $20.

Items Senate Increased.

Raised even higher than house rates were taxes on:

Leased wires—From 15 to 25 per cent. [House had voted 20 per cent.]

Burglar and fire alarms—From 5 to 8 per cent. [House had voted 7 per cent.]

The items subject to higher taxes than at present, but below the house rates, were:

Furs—Increased from 10 to 20 per cent. [House voted 25 per cent.]

Electric light bulbs—Raised from 5 to 15 per cent. [House voted 25 per cent.]

Cabarets—From 5 to 20 per cent, contrasted with 30 per cent approved by house.

Luggage, wallets, and ladies' handbags—15 per cent of retail price, in place of 25 per cent voted by the house. Luggage at present is subject to a 10 per cent manufacturers' excise tax, while handbags are untaxed.

The committee voted to raise the bowling tax from $10 an alley to $20. The house had approved a 20 per cent rate. The committee also retained the existing 10 per cent tax on international telegraph, radio, and cable charges. All the increases will be canceled six months after the end of the war, it was provided by both the house and the senate committee.

REPORTS LEND-LEASE GAS SOLD BACK TO U. S. AT BIG PROFIT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Rep. William Lemke [R., N. D.] told the house today he had been "reliably informed" that "certain foreign countries" were selling gasoline, received under lend-lease, to the American army at a profit of 40 cents a gallon.

Lemke said he was told the gasoline was being sold at 2 cents a gallon and then resold to the army at 42 cents a gallon.

He did not name the countries or give the source of his information.

THE ONLY DEFENSE FOR A BAD RECORD

SON SAYS DOYLE IS REAL HOLMES

Denies Professor Became Great Sherlock.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Who was Sherlock Holmes, the master detective of all time?

The consensus among a sizable group of Sherlockians has been that Arthur Conan Doyle, the late writer and spiritualism enthusiast, derived the character from his old medical teacher at Edinburgh university, Dr. Joseph Bell, who was renowned for his uncanny deductive reasoning.

Contradicted by Son.

But this theory has evoked a decisive contradiction from the man who must be conceded as much of an authority on Doyle as any one—his son Adrian Conan Doyle.

Following the time honored English procedure, Adrian wrote a letter to the Times about it.

"In view of the public interest," he said, "my family and I consider it is high time that the truth be placed on record. The fact is that my father himself was Sherlock Holmes.

"Mr. Pearson [Hesketh Pearson, the biographer] gives us a few instances in which my father was slow to pick up a perfectly obvious fact.

"What do these things prove? In short, that my father had a mind with all the characteristics of a microscope. The obvious passed unnoticed because the obvious was entirely unimportant compared with the fact that his brain was focused upon the problem to hand, dissecting, exploring, and weighing the evidence that his extraordinary powers of perception could unearth from some detail that would yield nothing whatever to a brain less keen than his own.

Always Solved Problem.

"Many cases that baffled the police were brought to him, and tho none of them was of the homicidal order, I can recall no single instance in which my father failed to solve the problem.

"Dr. Joseph Bell did indeed help to develop my father's immense power of observation and conclusions, but it must be placed on record that those powers were indubitably innate, and for the mental prototype of Sherlock Holmes we must search no farther than his creator."

There remains at least one urgent question to Holmes fans and that is the unpublished Holmes story, "The Case of the Man Who Was Wanted," which Adrian discovered among his father's papers last year.

Love Runs Uneven Course in the City and on the Farm

Judge Startled

Judge Joseph Sabath, the veteran divorce judge who has had more experience with triangles than a mathematics professor, got the shock of his judicial life yesterday when the other woman in one case walked into Superior court and complained that her paramour is paying too much money for the support of his estranged wife and their two children.

Russell Miller, 43 years old, a railroad engineer who was arrested Tuesday night on an attachment because he was $200 in arrears in support payments to his wife, Bertha, 38, of 8205 Anthony avenue, was standing before the bench when a tall blonde, good looking woman walked up.

Wife Accuses Rival.

"Who are you?" asked Norman Becker, attorney for Mrs. Miller.

"I'll tell you who she is," cut in Mrs. Miller. "She's the woman who has broken up my home. She was a high school kid five years ago when they met. We had a happy home for 20 years until she broke us up."

The woman said she was Helen Triller, 21, of 9736 Ewing avenue, and that Miller was the father of a daughter born to her seven months ago. The Millers, who were married in 1923, have two children, James, 20, with the army air corps at Kelly field, Tex., and Jeanne, 17.

"I think it is an outrage that Russell should be arrested and brought into court this way," Miss Triller said. "And I think $25 a week is too much to make him pay his wife. He pays $4 a week for our baby and has other expenses."

Prisoner Renounces Both.

"It is most unusual for a person who is party to the breaking up of a home to come into court and defend her position," Judge Sabath said.

Mrs. Miller said she would drop her divorce action and take Miller back because she still loved him. Miss Triller said she loved him, too.

"Well, I don't love them," Miller cut in. "After spending a night in that cell with roaches and rats, I won't ever go back to her. In fact, I'm not going back to either of them. I'm thru with both."

The judge finally ordered Miller to jail for six months or until the arrearage is paid. Miss Triller went to Miller's home at 6312 Drexel avenue to get money to effect his release.

Several hours later she returned, but she had only $100, and stood by sadly as Miller left for the county jail.

School Girl Shot

Eastman, Ga., Dec. 8 [Special].—A 35 year old farm wife was jailed on a kidnaping charge here today after authorities said she called an 18 year old girl from a high school classroom yesterday and shot her in the breast after holding her prisoner for several hours.

Deputy Sheriff C. A. Lewis of Dodge county said the shooting took place in a truck parked in front of the older woman's home near Rochelle, in adjoining Wilcox county, after she had accused the school girl of stealing the love of her husband.

The wounded girl is Ruby Sheppard, who lives on a farm near Rhine, in Dodge county, and is a student in the Rhine High school. Attendants at the hospital to which she was taken reported her near death tonight.

Husband Also Accused.

Her assailant, Mrs. Ronnie Britt, was arrested on the kidnaping charge today and brought to the jail here, where she refused to make a statement to authorities. A warrant charging seduction was issued against her husband on complaint of H. B. Wood, stepfather of Miss Sheppard. Lewis said police are searching for Britt.

Lewis said Mrs. Britt arrived at the Rhine High school yesterday morning in a truck driven by her nephew, James Harris Macy, 14. She induced teachers to excuse Miss Sheppard for the day by telling them the girl's mother wanted her and she would take the girl to her home, the deputy sheriff said.

Talk It Over for 6 Hours.

Instead of driving to the Sheppard home, Mrs. Britt drove out of the village and took the girl to the Britt home near Rochelle, Lewis said. For the next six hours the women sat in the truck, parked on the highway in front of the Britt farmhouse, and discussed Mrs. Britt's charges that Miss Sheppard and Britt were having a love affair, he said.

Lewis said that about 4 p. m. Mrs. Britt produced a .38 caliber revolver and shot Miss Sheppard. She and the Macy boy then carried the wounded girl into the farmhouse and kept her there for 4 hours without medical attention. Authorities were notified about 8 p. m. by a brother of Mrs. Britt who visited the farm and learned what had happened.

Lewis said Miss Sheppard admitted knowing Britt for 17 months and frequently going out with him, but asserted she did not know he was married.

MARSHALLS RAIDERS RIP 8 SHIPS AND 72 AIRCRAFT

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Dec. 8 (AP).—Six Japanese ships, including two light cruisers, three cargo transports, and an oil tanker, were sunk, four other vessels damaged, and at least 72 Nipponese planes destroyed by United States carrier task forces which attacked the Marshall Islands Saturday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Rear Adm. C. A. Pownall.

The American forces, commanded by Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall, then beat off vigorous and prolonged attacks by enemy torpedo and bombing planes. One unidentified American ship sustained minor damage and there were "light" aircraft losses.

The damaged Jap ships were one troop transport and three cargo transports.

The bulletin broke a silence that for two days had followed the terse announcement that our forces, quickly following up the conquest of the Gilbert Islands, had carried the weight of the new central Pacific offensive to the Marshall chain.

Destroy Planes on Ground.

Besides the 72 enemy planes destroyed in combat, an undetermined number of bombers was demolished or damaged in the strafing of runways and airdromes. Various ground installations were destroyed or damaged.

The attack was directed at Kwajalein, Roi, and Wotje islets, which are air bases, and at Ebeye Island. Enemy ships were lying at anchor in the Kwajalein and Wotje lagoons, indicating the Japanese were caught off guard.

A fleet spokesman said there was no indication that Japanese surface forces had made any attempt to intercept the carrier force.

Many Carriers Engaged.

While the strength of the carrier force was a secret, the spokesman said more than one carrier division participated. There are four "flat tops" in a carrier division. The carriers were within easy range of the enemy's land based fighters and bombers.

Of the 72 planes destroyed, 64 were shot down in combat by our carrier planes. Anti-aircraft fire of our ships bagged two torpedo planes and two medium bombers.

The enemy planes attacked Saturday night.

[Yanks gain on Bougainville and Aussies in New Guinea. Details on page 10.]

In a minor attempt at retaliation, it was disclosed, Nipponese planes made nuisance raids on American held Makin and Tarawa in the Gilbert Islands Monday night. One plane dropped four bombs on Makin but all struck harmlessly in the lagoon.

'I SAW BATTLE OF U. S. CARRIERS AND JAP PLANES'

BY EUGENE BURNS.

ABOARD AN AIRCRAFT CARRIER OFF WOTJE IN THE MARSHALLS, Dec. 5 [Delayed]—(AP).—This large carrier force, whose planes sank two Japanese cruisers and four other vessels yesterday in a big raid on the enemy's mid-Pacific Marshalls, has just finished beating off an attack of seven and one-half hours by between 45 and 50 heavy torpedo carrying bombers.

We had knifed into the Marshalls and struck Kwajalein atoll where Roi airdrome is located. We hit Kwajalein hard, setting four Japanese cargo ships and two cruisers afire and leaving them sinking.

The dozen enemy planes which took to the air promptly were shot down.

Open New Air Patrol.

Before noon, we opened our deck and took aboard our returning torpedo and dive bomber planes with their Hellcat fighter escort, then launched a new air combat patrol.

We knew that we had stirred up a hornet's nest in the Marshalls and that the Japanese would throw everything available at us. However, none of us guessed at its intensity.

Two minutes past noon, low flying torpedo planes came within gun fire range and dropped their torpedoes. They were shot down by our anti-aircraft batteries. One. Two. Three. All exploded and burned.

Not Enough Clouds.

We looked at the east toward Pearl Harbor. There was a cloud formation but not enough for protection.

As the sun was sinking our "squawkbox" sounded, "Jap snooper is closing."

"That snooper will be only one of many covering our retirement from the area," said Donald White, our torpedo plane skipper.

One cruiser opened fire with two destroyers joining.

"It's a Mitsubishi," announced the fire control aft. This is a heavy bomber which Japan has had in production about a year. It has two engines and can carry two one-ton torpedoes. That morning our fighter skipper, Lt. Comdr. Phil Torrey, clocked one at over 300 miles per hour.

Japs Close In.

The squawkbox said at 9:50 p. m. "A group of planes is closing. They are dropping float lights. Another group is off our starboard bow, now closing."

In the darkness we strained to see the swift low-flying, death dealing planes which carried enough dynamite to blow our formation sky high.

Comdr. White voiced his admiration:

"Those Japs are cool customers," he said. "Just look at them taking more than two hours to get a fix on us, then circling us and keeping maneuvering. Now watch them close in for the kill."

And so they did.

Ships began firing first to our port beam, to our starboard, aft, and dead ahead. They fired almost simultaneously, and then the Japanese seemed to withdraw.

"Lights Up the Streets."

Time for the dropped torpedoes to make their runs passed. Nothing happened.

Soon the Japanese organizer who had been nicknamed "Tojo, the Lamplighter," dropped some flares as he circled us.

He was outlining our formation for the boys on high.

"Damned clever those Japanese," says an anti-aircraft gunner.

REPORT F. D. R. WANTS G. O. P. TO NAME WILLKIE

Hopkins Believed Agent for Wall Streeter.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—President Roosevelt has been widely credited with a potent hand in the strategy that won Wendell Willkie the Republican nomination for president in 1940 and, according to gossip current in Wall street, is again aiding and abetting the choice of Willkie as his opponent in 1944. Harry Hopkins is reputed to be the Roosevelt agent in this undertaking, tho he denies there is any truth in the report.

Willkie has long been the President's favorite Republican. They became close friends in 1939 when Willkie was negotiating the sale of his Tennessee Electric Power company to Mr. Roosevelt's Tennessee Valley authority. Willkie made numerous calls at the White House and got on famously with the President. Eventually, he drove a handsome bargain for his property, for which the government paid $79,600,000, this being 20 million less than he had asked originally but 30 millions more than TVA had offered. And at about this time Willkie registered for the first time as a Republican.

Explains Animadversions.

The 1940 election did not impair the good relations of the President and Willkie. Soon after his defeat Willkie embraced the President's interventionist policy and explained to a senate committee that his 1940 animadversions on the Roosevelt war program were merely "campaign oratory."

Mr. Roosevelt reciprocated, making it possible for Mr. Willkie to go to England for an inspection of the British war undertaking, his report on which to the American people was designed to promote American intervention. The President dispatched a letter to Prime Minister Winston Churchill by Willkie.

In the summer of 1942, Willkie was the recipient of another highly tangible token of the favor of the President and Hopkins. Willkie suddenly found the American scene extremely distasteful to him. He had just had a most unpleasant political experience.

Another Campaign Fizzles.

In the spring of 1942 Willkie entertained visions of being governor of New York. Tom Dewey appeared to be the favorite potential contender for the Republican nomination, but Willkie thought he could beat Dewey. He would rally all the Republican internationalists to support him against Dewey on the charge that Dewey was an isolationist at heart.

While Willkie maintained a coy attitude for publication, the New York Herald-Tribune and other internationalists launched a movement to draft him to run against Dewey. Somehow, however, the draft did not take fire. In the course of two or three weeks it fizzled out and Willkie said he never had wanted to be governor, anyway.

Willkie did not linger long on the scene of his humiliation. He had an inspiration. He would go overseas, make a tour of the allied countries and the battle fronts, and write a book about it all. Of course, this could be done only by government favor. He broached the subject to the President and Hopkins and they were delighted to oblige.

Hopkins Helps Him.

It was Hopkins who offered to place an army bomber at Willkie's disposal, with army personnel to fly it around the world and all the perquisities to go therewith, all at government expense. Roosevelt approved and moreover made Willkie his official emissary with rank and credentials of ambassador at large.

Willkie returned from his discovery of "One World" just in time to make one speech for Tom Dewey for governor and thereby keep his political record clear for 1944 when he would need the help of Dewey.

That there is a political understanding between the President and Willkie is the inference drawn from a letter Hopkins wrote Aug. 17, 1943, to Dr. Umphry Lee, president of Southern Methodist university, who is being groomed by the New Dealers to defeat Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] in 1946 for reëlection. The letter, quoted by C. Nelson Sparks in his recent pamphlet, "One Man: Wendell Willkie," also testified to Hopkins' confidence that Willkie again will be the President's republican opponent.

Roosevelt's 1940 Scheme.

"Willkie is going to be the man, in my opinion," wrote Hopkins, "and I can promise you good coöperation from that quarter if you think it would be helpful."

In 1940, the Willkie nomination was viewed by many Republicans as part and parcel of the entire Roosevelt scheme to annex their party to the third term candidacy. The President set out to get the Republican candidates of 1936—Alf Landon and Frank Knox—into his cabinet to make it appear that the Republican party had joined in a coalition government and favored the reëlection of Roosevelt. He failed to get Landon but he got Knox and Henry L. Stimson, whom the Republican national committee promptly read out of the party.

Activity by Lamont.

Tom Lamont, now head of the house of Morgan, was reputed to be the Presidential agent in 1940 in manipulating the convention for the nomination of Willkie. Lamont, so the story ran, raised an enormous fund to put Willkie over. According to Sparks, Lamont, at the instance of his kinsmen John and Gardner Cowles, Willkie enthusiasts, called Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota to New York and swung him away from Dewey to Willkie by promising him the temporary chairmanship of the convention. Sparks said Lamont had financed the Cowles' purchase of Minneapolis newspapers.

The Willkie nomination campaign was one of the most extraordinary in political annals. Two months before the convention Willkie was scarcely known to the country. Wall street engineered his buildup and the subsequent telegraphic blitz of the convention. Oren Root Jr., young Wall street lawyer, swung a chain letter campaign that garnered 2½ million signatures to a Willkie petition.

In the telegram blitz Wall street adopted the methods of Willkie's Commonwealth and Southern and the committee of public utility executives in fighting the death sentence legislation in 1935. Utilities, banks, and business concerns in the district of every convention delegate not already committed to Willkie were wired to bring pressure to bear on the delegate in behalf of Willkie.

As a result thousands of telegrams, most of them in the identical phraseology supplied by Wall street, were rained upon the delegates. They heard from their bankers, their clients, their mortgage-holders, and other persons to whom they were under obligation, often in terms suggesting that they would consult their own best interests by voting to nominate Willkie.

G. O. P. A CERTAIN WINNER IN 1944, LANDON CLAIMS

Sees Split in New Deal, Democratic Coalition.

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—The coalition between the New Deal and the Democratic party is going to pieces and the nation will elect a Republican president in 1944, former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas said today after conferring here for 40 minutes with former President Hoover. Landon was the Republican Presidential candidate in the 1936 election.

After the conference, Mr. Hoover issued a statement in which two views were expressed. They were:

1. That both men opposed commitment of the Republican party to advance pledges on peace settlements or foreign policies until the administration had made specific proposals to the American people.

Approves Moscow Pact.

2. That Mr. Hoover approves the Moscow pact as recently concluded in the soviet capital.

The statement said:

"Gov. Landon and I discussed the war and domestic situation generally. The governor did not take a position in opposition to the Moscow pact, either in his public statements or to me personally. I, naturally, approve it, inasmuch as it adopts the transition period and other principles which I have advocated for the past 18 months.

"The governor is deeply interested in securing a lasting peace but has rightly objected to advance pledges of Republicans to commitments on peace settlements until those proposals are made known. I should expect every sensible citizen, irrespective of party, to hold that attitude.

"Nor is the governor opposed to an identical foreign relations plank in the two party platforms. He would, when the time comes six months hence, favor full consideration to specific proposals from the administration in that direction. Generally, being from near Missouri, the governor first wants to know what is proposed in black and white."

He Discusses Politics.

Discussing politics during an interview, Landon said:

"President Roosevelt has not been primarily concerned with building up the Democratic party. He has been concerned with building up the coalition between the New Dealers and the Democrats, which is now going to pieces."

Landon predicted the Republican nominee for President next year would carry every state between the Allegheny and Rocky mountains except those in the so-called solid south. He said there was no doubt in his mind that the farm states would be against the reëlection of President Roosevelt.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, described yesterday by Landon as the "outstanding possibility" for the Republican nomination next year, left for Albany during the day without expressing an opinion on efforts being made to advance his candidacy.

Police Seeking Refugee, Missing After Movie

Sheffield police last night were seeking Adolph Stern, 58 years old, a German refugee, who disappeared from the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Stern, 722 Oakdale avenue, on Nov. 19. He left the house to attend a movie and failed to return. Mrs. Stern reported his disappearance to police Nov. 22. Stern, who arrived in the United States in 1940, was employed by the Massover Jewelry company.

NICK RESPONDS TO SALES TALK AND SURVIVES

Chain Snaps; Window Washer Rescued.

Nick Kublik went to work on his new job as a window washer in the 35 South Dearborn building yesterday.

Whistling, along about noon, he entered a vacant office on the fifth floor, adjusted his safety straps on a window facing an areaway, and started to wash the top pane.

There was a sudden jerk. Nick found himself dangling horizontally in the air, five stories above the ground, supported by only one of the two chains attached to the belt about his waist. The other chain had broken.

Employs Master Sales Talk.

Lee dashed down two flights of stairs and into the vacant office. Then he began the master sales talk of his career; and being in the fur business, he has made some honeys.

"Don't look down, look up," he told the dangling Kublik soothingly.

Kublik made no reply. He was too scared.

Another building tenant who ran into the office, took one look, and was less confident.

"I don't want to see him die," he said, holding his hands over his eyes. "Let me out of here." And, so saying, dashed out.

Then Stanley J. Keldsen, an advertising man who lives at 919 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, ran in from his office on the seventh floor. Keldsen grasped one of Kublik's arms, while Lee grabbed a leg, and together they dragged him back over the window sill into the office.

"White as a Sheet."

"He was white as a sheet," said Keldsen. "He couldn't talk at first. Then he thanked us and said, 'One of my support chains was on the bum.'

Lee went back to work on the pelt he is preparing to ask a customer should just feel the quality of.

Keldsen went back to his letters requesting top of column, next to reading matter.

Kublik went home. None of the other building employes knew where he lives.

CHICAGO BOARD SIGNS 10,000TH CADET FOR NAVAL AIR TRAINING

The Chicago naval aviation cadet selection board yesterday accepted Paul C. Clovis, 17 years old, 428 Cumnor road, Kenilworth, a New Trier High school student, as the 10,000th aviation cadet since the office was opened. Clovis will be graduated next June and become eligible for the naval aviation training program for high school seniors and graduates.

Paul C. Clovis.

Clovis was sworn into the navy by Lt. H. D. Penfield, senior member of the selection board. The board was set up in December, 1940, and since has become one of the country's leaders in procurement of aviators for the navy.

In addition to his school activities Clovis operates a radio repair shop in his home and has netted nearly $1,000 in the last two years. He plays in the high school orchestra and is an accomplished trap shooter.

AIR CARGO LINE OPERATING FROM OHIO TO INDIA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The longest air freight line in the world is operating on regular schedule between Patterson field, Ohio, and India, the army announced today.

C-87 planes, the cargo version of the Consolidated B-24 Liberator bomber, fly the route regularly delivering supplies to the air forces in the orient.

Capt. J. L. Okenfus, Bloomfield, N. J., piloted the first flight early in October, making the 28,000 mile round trip in 12 days, including loading and unloading time. Outbound, this first flight carried 8,300 pounds of such equipment as airplane fuel pumps, starters, and magnetos. On the return trip, it carried 8,500 pounds of damaged parts to be repaired.

WOMAN DIES IN STORE.

ASSERTS VOTES OF WOMEN WILL DECIDE IN 1944

The 1944 Presidential campaign probably will be decided by women.

This was the prediction of Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the board of election commissioners, yesterday before the Woman's National Republican Club of Chicago. The meeting in the Palmolive building, 919 North Michigan avenue, was the first session of the ABC School of Politics sponsored by the club to give women a knowledge of the practical workings of election laws and of party organization.

"The Presidential election of 1944 is likely to find about eight million more women than men available to vote," Mrs. Reinecke told the more than 100 women present.

Men Have Narrow Margin.

"The estimated figure for potential voters in 1944 totals 85,167,883, with the men outnumbering women by only 389,337. With some 10,000,000 men on war duty, overseas or in camp here, and the difficulty of collecting their votes, it is likely that women's votes will decide the election."

The potential vote for Illinois in the coming election is estimated at 2,728,643 cast by men and 2,708,642 cast by women, Mrs. Reinecke said.

The election commissioner also pointed out that 41 per cent of the nation's wealth was in the hands of women four years ago and that, even then, more than a hundred billion dollars in life insurance in force had women for beneficiaries.

Women to Get Huge Insurance.

She estimated that approximately 70 per cent of the insurance funds would fall into the hands of women within the next 10 years. Furthermore, she said, statistics show that 75 per cent of the savings in banks belong to women and that women spend at least 80 per cent of the income of the average family.

"All these facts serve to accentuate the tremendous responsibility that now rests and is to rest in the future on the women of this country," Mrs. Reinecke maintained. "Like it or not, women are responsible for the kind of public officials who will manage the home front."

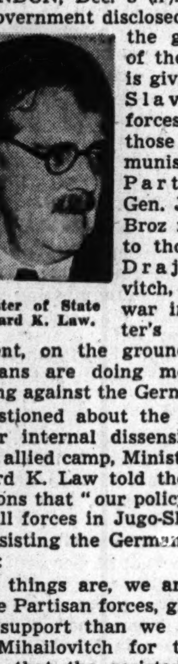
TITO PARTISANS GIVEN GREATER BRITISH SUPPORT

Do Most Fighting Against Nazis, London Says.



Minister of State Richard K. Law.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—The British government disclosed today that the greater part of the support it is giving to Jugo-Slav fighting forces is going to those of the Communist supported Partisan leader, Gen. Josip [Tito] Broz rather than to those of Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, minister of war in King Peter's exile government, on the ground that the Partisans are doing most of the fighting against the Germans.

Questioned about the most spectacular internal dissension in the entire allied camp, Minister of State Richard K. Law told the house of commons that "our policy is to support all forces in Jugo-Slavia which are resisting the Germans," and he added:

"As things are, we are supporting the Partisan forces, giving them more support than we are giving Gen. Mihailovitch for the simple reason that the resistance of the Partisan forces to the Germans is very much greater."

Bring Up Fresh Troops.

Tito announced today that Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel had launched a big offensive against the Partisans, bringing up reënforcements from Greece, Albania, and Austria, and had broken into the town of Prijepolje in northern Serbia in an attempt to smash across the Jugo-Slavs' Lim river line.

The new drive was reported to have been launched against the whole of liberated Jugo-Slav territory, with especially heavy fighting in the Bosnia, Serbia, and Herzegovina areas.

The latest evidence of the growing Jugo-Slav disunity was a Zurich dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter, written by a man who said he was a personal friend of Mihailovitch, stating the Chetnik leader had publicly declared his intention to throw his forces against the Tito Partisans.

"We never attacked the Partisans except in cases when my people attacked them for plundering," Mihailovitch was quoted as saying, "but when these Partisans officially stand against King Peter, we see in them our enemies."

Peter Recognized by Allies.

This was a reference to the Partisans having formed their own government in opposition to that serving under King Peter in Cairo. This exile government has been recognized by the allies, but there is some indication that Britain might now give recognition instead to the new Partisan regime.

Questioned on this point in commons, Minister Law said that he had no official information on the formation of a Tito supported government in Jugo-Slavia, or on the relations between the new government and the Cairo regime.

"Our policy," he declared, "has always been to allow territories when they are liberated to choose their own form of government."

Allies Advance Down Mountains

Captions tell of yesterday's action in Italy.

5TH ARMY WINS PEAKS; SLASHES ON DOWN SLOPES

3 Strongly Fortified Villages Captured.

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 8 (AP).—American and British troops of the 5th army in Italy slashed down the western slopes of Mount Maggiore and Mount Camino into the strategic valley of the upper Garigliano river today after wresting the summits of those peaks from the Germans and capturing the strongly fortified villages of Camino, Acquapendola, and Cocuruzza southwest of Mignano.

Tho the steady, savage thrusts of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's fighters, after a week's bitter fighting, had cleared the Nazis from the last important heights in this sector of their powerful winter line, including bloody Monastery ridge, the enemy still was resisting fiercely from many scattered strong points and pouring rain also slowed the advance.

Guns Command Part of Valley.

Latest reports placed British advance units in this sector within a mile and a half of the Garigliano after their seizure of Acquapendola.

From dominating positions on Mount Maggiore and Mount Camino Gen. Clark's guns now command the southern part of the all-important valley between Mignano and Cassino.

Gen. Montgomery's 8th army reported limited advances in the area of the Moro river, where the stream empties into the Adriatic. Fighting continued to rage around Orsogna, some 10 miles inland.

The German radio reported that Montgomery had launched a strong new assault against enemy positions on the eastern slopes of the towering Maiella mountains west of Casoli, approximately 15 miles from the Adriatic. The Maiella range rises to a height of nearly 8,500 feet only 10 miles from Casoli.

Bomb Port Near Rome.

In yesterday's only large scale aerial attack, American medium and fighter-bombers twice raided the port of Civitavecchia, 45 miles northwest of Rome, hitting one enemy ship, touching off an ammunition dump and wrecking the railway yards. Other fighter-bombers and fighters attacked Pescara.

The day's star air show came when six Spitfires of a veteran American unit mixed it over the battlefields with a dozen Messerschmitt and Focke-Wulf fighters and shot down six enemy planes without suffering a loss.

Lt. Sylvan F. Wiemer, St. Charles, Ill., flew top cover during the combat.

LT. R. W. M'CLELLAN KILLED IN BATTLE IN SOLOMON ISLANDS

Lt. R. W. McClellan.

The war department has notified Mr. and Mrs. George B. McClellan, 336 North Menard avenue, that their son, Lt. Robert W. McClellan, was killed in action Nov. 29 on Bougainville Island in the Solomons. Lt. McClellan, 28 years old, enlisted in the infantry Nov. 21, 1941. He received his commission after being sent overseas in May, 1942. Besides the parents, he is survived by three brothers.

Son in Italy Recognized in Tribune Photograph

FOURTH OF AREA OF BOMBED NAZI CITIES IN RUINS

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Allied bombs have devastated 25 per cent of the total area of the German cities which have been attacked, Air Vice Marshal R. H. M. S. Saundby, deputy chief of the R. A. F. bomber command, asserted today. He said the number of buildings destroyed ran into the millions and that modern civilized life no longer was possible in Hamburg, Duesseldorf, Cologne, and other great centers of production.

Of the 17 major cities of northwest Germany, nine are so badly smashed that they are liabilities rather than assets to the enemy war machine, he continued.

He said many recent attacks on Germany reached the rate of 120 tons per square mile per hour, or 80 times the intensity of the heaviest raid on London. Countering German reports that huge numbers of American and British bombers have been shot down over Germany, Saundby said "the number missing out of every 100 dispatched to targets in Germany steadily has decreased."

ELECT HALLECK TO LEAD G. O. P. GROUP IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.] was elected chairman of the Republican congressional committee today to succeed the late Rep. J. William Ditter [R., Pa.].

The choice was by acclamation. Joseph W. Martin, house minority leader, announced the term runs to the end of the current congress.

The committee will take a "vigorous and energetic" part in next year's congressional elections, Halleck said, adding that the committee feels that assumption of control of the house by the Republican party "now appears inevitable."

SOME DRAMATIC NOTES ON YANKS AT WAR IN ITALY

Including Lt. Music of Mozart St., Chicago.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Dec. 6 [Delayed].—This war scene against the backdrop of the blue Italian sky and the forbidding silhouette of the Appenines is packed with great drama and an aura of history in the making. Every one from the doughboys at the front lines on up has a story to tell. Its reports are a fairyland in that respect. Here are a few ordinary ones culled from the notebook at day's end:

One story concerns a couple of nurses who have just met in a forward hospital. One said she was Lt. Ramona Music of 6222 South Mozart street, Chicago, who had trained at Columbus hospital.

"That's funny," said the other, who is Lt. Marcella Edgren of Des Plaines, Ill., formerly of Augustana hospital, Chicago. "Your name's Music and you lived on Mozart street!"

"O, that's nothing," said Lt. Music, "I've made 'What's in a Name,' in the Wake of the News column of THE TRIBUNE."

"Well, I'll have to look in my Wake book, which I've carried with me since leaving home. Maybe you're in that."

Lt. Edgren proved the words by producing the familiar Wake book and began a search for the item. From last reports she had several requests from other nurses to borrow it as soon as she has finished her search.

It was early in the Italian campaign. The day was wet and cold, and Capt. Andrew Roe of Marine City, Mich., was tired. He had come many weary miles without a chance to eat. Suddenly rounding a bend he came upon a knight of the road—a hobo—traditionally garbed in raggedy pants and coat, carrying a traditional bundle under his arm.

Anything to break the monotony, thought the captain, pausing to summon his slender knowledge of Italian to his aid.

"Mangi," he said gruffly. "Mangi."

The grinning Italian set down his bundle, saying in clear English, "Sure, you wanna eat?"

He drew forth a loaf of bread and a slab of cheese, and handed them to the speechless Roe.

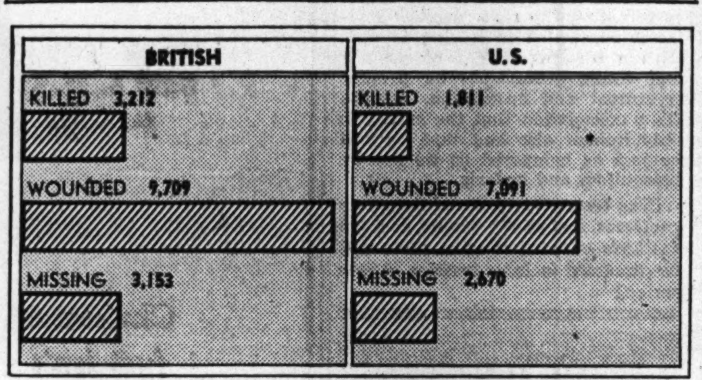
"Here, take these. I know you Americans. Always hungry. I used to live in Chicago myself."

Whereupon the ragged stranger saluted the American, picked up his bundle, and moved on.

Then there's the story of the thirsty German who tarried too long in his looting of an Italian town. A forward American unit was approaching the little town of Cerro in the Venafro region. From high ground several members turned their field glasses on the main street and saw the German soldier walking boldly in the middle of the thorofare. Several American guns spoke simultaneously and dropped the Nazi in his tracks.

Later the natives explained to Lt. K. Fordyce Gorham of Williamsport, Pa., that the Germans evacuated the town several hours before. But, before leaving, the enemy soldiers looted the stocks of food stores in the town and broke into wine and liquor supplies. The German had got drunk and fell asleep. He had just awakened.

Allied Casualties in Italy



Comparison of American and British casualties in Italy from invasion day, Sept. 3 to Nov. 23.

8,235 Killed

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—The British-American allies have lost 5,023 men killed and 16,800 wounded in the fighting in Italy, latest casualty figures showed tonight.

British casualties from the invasion on Sept. 3 to Nov. 23 were 3,212 killed, 9,709 wounded, and 3,153 missing, the war office announced.

Secretary Henry L. Stimson announced last week in Washington that American units of the 5th army had lost 1,811 killed, 7,091 wounded, and 2,670 missing.

AUTO STALLED ON TRACK; FOUR LEAP TO SAFETY

While scores of persons on the platform of the North Western station at Des Plaines watched, four women leaped from an automobile stalled on the tracks at the Lee street crossing last night a moment before the car was demolished by a loop-bound train.

The car was driven by Mrs. Catherine Pressl, 34 years old, 207 East Willow road, Mount Prospect. After the car stalled she stepped on the starter repeatedly, but was unable to start the motor. Then she heard a train coming. Soon the headlight appeared. The crossing gates dropped, penning the car in, and the signal lights began to flash.

Mrs. Pressl and her companions jumped out and ran. With her were Norma Hasz, 10 South Elm street; Irene Kramer, 100 West Milburn street, and Theresa Sears, 19 West Busse road, all of Mount Prospect.

FIND DYNAMITE AND FUSE CAPS NEAR WAR PLANT

County highway police and federal bureau of investigation agents last night were investigating a box containing 50 sticks of dynamite and seven fuse caps found early yesterday near the entrance of the plant of Bell & Gosset Co., 8200 North Austin avenue, Morton Grove. The company is engaged in war production.

The explosive was found by Carl Gunther, 5235 George street, an employé. He and Arthur Schaub, 7481 Lincoln avenue, Skokie, another employé, carried it into the plant and notified Morton Grove county highway police. John McGinnis, chief of the county highway police, notified the FBI.

HONOR 12 KILLED WHILE GETTING WAR FRONT NEWS

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Newspaper men and women who gave their lives while covering the war were honored today by the Overseas Press club and by the National Association of Manufacturers.

At the club's luncheon, 12 newsmen in whose honor Liberty ships will be launched and named next week were hailed as courageous men, devoted to their country and their profession, by representatives of the government and of the newspapers and news agencies they represented on the war fronts.

Correspondents honored by the Overseas Press club were Edward H. Crockett of the Associated Press, Ralph Barnes of the New York Herald Tribune, Frank J. Cuhel of Mutual Broadcasting system, Byron Darnton of the New York Times, Melville Jacoby of Time and Life, Ben H. Miller of the Baltimore Sun, Webb Miller of the United Press, Ben A. Robertson of the New York Herald Tribune, Jack Singer of International News service, Carl Thusgaard of Acme News Pictures, Keith Palmer of Newsweek, and H. Leslie Percy of United Press.

SENATE VOTES 44 MILLIONS FOR FSA ACTIVITIES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The embattled farm security administration got support for more money today without an argument.

The senate voted, without discussion, to give the FSA an additional $44,000,000, writing the amount into the $308,000,000 deficiency appropriations bill.

The house once before refused to grant this sum, and before that voted to cut off all FSA funds except enough to liquidate the FSA. The senate earlier this year reversed the house position and in conference the two branches hit on a compromise, still far short of the FSA demands.

CHICAGO YANKS ON MAKIN TELL OF CLOSE CALLS

Many Middle Western Men in Battle.

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUTARITARI, Makin Island, Nov. 24 [Delayed]. — Narrow escapes abounded in the first completed battle of the central Pacific, which ended yesterday with Maj. Gen. Ralph C. Smith's exuberant message, "Makin Taken."

Pvt. George L. Papiech, 25 years old, son of Paul Papiech, 2220 South 58th avenue, Cicero, a radio operator with the assault wave that bore the brunt of the early fighting, owes his life to Bert Decker, 23, of Gloversdale, N. Y.

"Right after we came ashore I ran smack into a Jap officer with a pistol," Papiech said. "As he was aiming at me, my rifle jammed and I thought I was a goner. Bert popped him with his rifle and some of the other boys finished him off."

Pvt. Herman C. Kutch, 21, of 333 Pierce street, Gary, was part of a small unit that became trapped behind a dugout as the first wave landed. Two Japs emerged from the entrance and Pvt. Kutch disposed of one. The other disappeared inside. He and his companion were pinned inside by Kutch's fire until an American tank happened along and wiped out the whole group of Japs in the emplacement.

Captures Four Polite Japs.

Sgt. Wally Bennett, 27 years old, whose wife, Violet, lives at 6837 Winchester avenue, was the first to land from his boat. He charged a pillbox on the beach and several Japs came out bowing.

"I tossed a hand grenade in the pillbox to make sure it was empty," Sgt. Bennet said. "Then I made prisoners of the four polite Japs."

Pvt. Joe Kluss, 25, of 707 1st avenue, Rochelle, Ill., whose son, Danny, was born to his wife, Lois, only a month ago, had just landed on Makin when a Jap bullet struck his bayonet in its sheath.

Pvt. Edward J. Van Hara, 22, 1305 Geneva street, Racine, told of waking in his foxhole near the lagoon shore to see a dim figure running toward the rear. He fired when the man was only three feet away, and that was his first Jap.

Pvt. Wallace Johnson, 24, of Hatton, N. D., said his closest call came while his landing craft swept in under a sheet of machine gun bullets, its weapons jammed and unable to return the withering fire.

Thirst Nearly Costs Life.

Pvt. Ray Aspan, 21, 5243 South Justine street, admitted his thirst nearly cost his life. He left his slit trench to seek a green cocoanut to drink, he said, when a hidden Jap machine gunner spattered the dirt on both sides of him with bullets.

Pvt. Kenneth Moore, 20, of Rockford, is credited with killing the little yellow companion of a Jap ground sniper.

A low opinion of Jap marksmanship is held by Pvt. Louis Preplica, 40, of 1846 Harvey avenue, Chicago. "As we waded ashore the snipers in the coconut trees had clear shooting at us," he said. "All that saved us was that they're lousy shots. It was worse at night, when Japs armed with knives filtered thru our lines toward the rear."

Other Chicago Fighters.

Other Chicago and middle western men who saw their first combat in the four-day fight for Makin atoll were:

Pvt. Robert Magnesen, 24, 1314 South 6th avenue, Maywood, Ill.

Sgt. Herman Maneck, 23, whose wife Angela, and two children, live at 2014 Dewes street, Glenview. One son, William, was 8 months old when his father left for war, but Herman has never seen the other, Peter Michael, born 19 months ago.

Corp. Martin McHugh Jr., 23, 5817 Ridge avenue.

POPE MARKS FEAST OF VIRGIN IN PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Pope Pius XII., in a prayer for peace today in celebration of the feast of the Immaculate Conception, asked for a "peace for our souls, . . . peace that we might lay down arms." The text of the prayer was broadcast by the Vatican radio.

"The many material and moral ruins move me," the pope said. "How much pain and anguish there is, how many houses have been ruined. We pray You to stop the flood of hate and neopaganism that is sweeping the world, and that love and peace might once more fill the hearts of men."

Confesses Looting Loop Desks and Rifling Purses

Thomas Moore, 20 years old, a laborer who lives at 3435 Prairie avenue, confessed last night, police said, that he had rifled 19 desks and women's purses in recent weeks. Eight women, whose purses had been taken from loop offices, identified him as being in their offices when their purses disappeared. Moore was arrested Dec. 6 when Patrolman Edward Kirby discovered him rifling a desk in a building at 32 West Randolph street.

TROOPS IN INDIA TRAINING TO BEAT JUNGLE AND JAPS

[Here is the first of a series of dispatches from a Tribune correspondent on the India-Burma front. They describe the intensive training and difficulties which American and allied troops face in waging war on the Japs.]

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE INDIAN FRONT, Nov. 28 [Delayed].—We don't want mistakes this time. Thus might be summed up the essentials of a long talk I had with a major general at this training center, somewhere in the jungle land of southern India.

What the general was talking about was the large scale, concerted effort to drive the Japanese out of their holdings in Burma, Malaya, and other parts of southeastern Asia, which was promised by the recent tripartite conference at Cairo, Egypt.

One of the chief mistakes made in previous land efforts against the Japanese has been to have too few jungle trained troops on our side. That is being remedied down here.

Training Based on Experience.

Lessons learned in three previous experiences—the first, the campaign which resulted in the British being pushed out of Malaya and Burma; second, the jungle warfare which has gone on in New Guinea and the other Pacific Islands, and third, last winter's operations along the Arakan and Assam fronts—all have been studied, the major general informed me, and applied in training the men who will make the decisive assault.

There is the matter of army health first of all. That is largely a problem of drainage, water supply, and mosquito extermination. Relatively, those are easy matters to attend to in fixed camps well behind the lines. But often they are far from easy of solution in temporary camps or outposts where the fighting will be going on. Trying to drain parts of the Assam or Burma jungle, for instance, is like trying to bail out the ocean. Even a 50 year plan wouldn't do it. Torrential and continued downpour of rain re-forms the swamps faster than any human agency can drain them off.

In any water soaked country, also the mosquito comes malaria, the scourge of all southeastern Asia. Some medical officers of one of the powers with less experience in this war assert they know how to get the better of the mosquito menace and that malaria will never be a problem to their well scrubbed crusaders. Needless to say, this claim is regarded by medical authorities of other nationalities as so much bluff.

Failing in efforts to kill off mosquitoes the best that can be done is to keep them away from the human skin as much as possible. In this training center, for instance, all ranks must keep their ankles and forearms well covered during the early hours of morning and from about sunset on, these being the favorite hunting times of mosquitoes.

Stages Mosquito Parades.

The colonel of one battalion actually holds a mosquito parade every evening when each man is inspected to see that his sleeves are rolled down and his ankles well covered, his face and hands smeared with grease. This last measure is of doubtful efficacy, tho I heard several officers contend it works if salt is mixed into the grease. Each man is provided with a mosquito netting for his bunk under which he must sleep.

With all these precautions, it has been proved that the malaria rate can be kept very low in base camps. It may be different where the men are far out in the front by themselves and when they prefer being stung by mosquitoes to stifling under a net in the steaming jungle nights. Whatever has been done, it seems certain that the army medical service is reconciled to having to deal with a certain amount of malaria and taking precautions for prompt treatment and evacuation. Maybe it's a consolation that the enemy is only human also and that he will be just as hampered as we are by mosquitoes and malaria.

[The transportation and firepower problems met in the jungle and the methods adopted to meet them will be discussed in later articles in this series.]

'I SAW BATTLE OF U.S. CARRIERS AND JAP PLANES'

Marshalls Raiders Beat Off 45 Enemy Aircraft.

ing up the street lights. Finally he dropped four parachute flares which lit up even the heavens for miles.

There was a low whistle behind me. "Pass the strychnine," said a pilot. "I've had enough."

Japs Delay Blow.

Every one was tense for the blow but it didn't come.

"I have to hand it to the admiral for some nice evasive tactics," said the torpedo skipper.

"Those Japs are good but he's giving them all he can to make it harder."

"God, I can't help remembering the Liscome Bay," said a gunner aloud.

[The Liscome Bay was an escort carrier sunk by a Japanese submarine during operations around the newly won Gilbert Islands.]

"I saw her explode the other morning before dawn. The flash must have gone up 10 miles."

Below decks the tension must have been even worse. The men couldn't see. They'd been down for more than 20 hours.

As midnight approached, our skipper decided that the men below might be wanting rest and ordered the squawkbox silenced. A man telling me about that decision next day said:

In River of Soapsuds.

The moon silvered the whitecaps but unfortunately for us it silhouetted us as we made a twisting wake, a river of soapsuds.

You caught the enormity of our task force as the firing commenced on both sides. Suddenly to the starboard a cruiser brought down a Mitsubishi in flames. It burned on the water, lighting the sky.

That made it a flaming beacon for marauding Japanese torpedo planes.

The admiral is tired but he stands by. He has seen more action in the last three months than perhaps any other admiral in the same length of time in the Pacific — Marcus, Wake, Tarawa. He had fought off attack after attack.

For a few minutes, the attack has ceased. Then it is on again. Our 11th warning tonight is sounded.

Admiral Changes Course.

Part of our force opens fire. Rear Adm. Alfred E. Montgomery changes the course, turning the stern of our formation so that the Japanese will not get a broadside target.

"I'm just too tired to give a damn," says one man.

He flops on the steel deck and is dead asleep in five seconds. Exhaustion has won over fear.

We open fire. Tracers fill the heaven with strings of red. Our five-inchers speak right up with authority.

The Japanese retire, but other planes come in and circle our formation, waiting for a chance to come in. Now they're getting ready to close in from all sides. We cannot keep track of them any longer.

One drops its fish. We maneuver, wait and again are safe.

Finally the moon dips below the horizon and it becomes darker.

"It's still four hours until sunrise before we can see those devils and knock the hell out of them," says a marine gunner.

Eventually, exhausted men fall into their sacks after nearly 24 hours of continuous duty.

[The Tokio radio used the name of Emperor Hirohito as authority for saying the bulk of the United States Pacific fleet was "destroyed" in the Gilbert Islands area. The rescript was quoted as follows: "The air forces of the combined fleet for many days past have fought gallantly against the enemy fleet in the Gilbert area, braving most inclement weather, and destroyed the bulk of that fleet. The services rendered merit our profound approval. It is to be remembered that the war situation in that area is continuing to grow more and more intense. We enjoin upon you to exert further efforts in order that we may live up to our expectations."]

TELLS HOW U. S. PAID 13 MILLION TO GET 1 PLANE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A special house military affairs subcommittee heard from its investigator today that more than 13 million dollars had been spent at the Fairchild aircraft plant, Burlington, N. C., but only one plane had been produced since the plant received its first contract Oct. 31, 1941.

Witnesses said the plant was a 4 million dollar enterprise built and equipped by the government and leased by the Defense Plant corporation to Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation of Hagerstown, Md., under a dollar a year contract.

Wendell R. Blackburn, the committee agent, testified at the opening of a hearing the plant had received three contracts totaling more than 63 million dollars, that 2,350 workers had been employed, and that 475 gunnery training planes were ordered.

2 MILLION MORE TO BE DRAFTED IN NEXT 6 MONTHS

Demand to Taper Off, Says Gen. Hershey.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey declared tonight at least six months more of draft must be expected before fighting service demands for man power taper off.

The selective service director estimated the total in service would reach 11 million 300 thousand men by June 30, 1944.

While thus forecasting the continued growth of the army for half a year more, Hershey made clear to more than 1,500 executives at the National Association of Manufacturers war congress, during a man power panel discussion, that deferments would be harder to obtain.

10 Million Serving Now.

Our army and navy today comprise about 10 million men, he said, leaving only about 13 million in the eligible 18 to 38 age group outside.

Hershey broke this group down into approximate totals of 3 million 400 thousand deferred for occupational reasons [1 million 600 thousand in industry and 1 million 800 thousand in agriculture], 3 million 600 thousand who have been rejected, 1 million in process, and 5 million 3-A pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

From these groups, he said, "I must furnish 1 million 900 thousand to 2 million 100 thousand to the armed forces."

While opinion varies as to the physical condition of some of the 3-A group, Hershey commented, he expected one million could be found to make up about half the requirements for contemplated expansion during the next six months. Another 400 thousand boys will become 18 and eligible, while possibly 100 thousand reaching the age of 17 will enlist in the navy or marines.

Age Will Be Factor.

This leaves, Hershey said, about 300 thousand who must come from 2-A or 2-B classifications, occupationally deferred. Farm deferred and 4-F ranks, he suggested, would have to provide 100 thousand to 200 thousand.

"Age is to be a factor," Hershey said. "You will have a greater chance to retain the older rather than the younger worker."

But after the midyear goal is reached, 100 thousand men a month probably would meet the maintenance requirements replacements.

Hershey said it was likely deferments of men under 38 would become more difficult, legislation affecting deferments was a possibility, physical standards might be lowered, and decentralization of deferment decisions will be continued.

Woman Killed by Train Near Hammond Crossing

Mrs. Sophie Czech, 21 years old, of 104 155th place, Calumet City, was struck and killed by an Erie freight train last night near the Highland street crossing in Hammond. Her body was discovered by L. A. King, switchman.

DELAY INQUEST TO PROBE INTO MYSTERY DEATH

Gresham police are investigating the circumstances of the death of John Adams, 44 years old, a maintenance engineer found on the sidewalk in front of a tavern at 1142 West 76th street Friday night. He died in St. George's hospital Tuesday night. Adams had been employed by the Combustion Engineering company in the Bankers building for 27 years.

Police said Adams refused medical care and would not disclose how he had been injured. A post mortem examination showed his skull had been fractured, apparently by a large object. Frequenters of the tavern denied they had seen him before he was found. An inquest was postponed at the request of the police.

His widow, Frances, 7644 Ada street, said Adams was due home at 6 p. m. Friday evening, but that he did not call her, as he customarily did when delayed.

BEST OF PARLEY NEWS NOT TOLD, SMUTS ASSERTS

Sees Victory by '44 Yule After 'Fierce Fighting.'

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 8 (AP).—The greatest news of the three historic allied conferences has yet to unfold, Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts said today, adding that what the world does not know about the meetings is more important than what it was told.

Jan C. Smuts.

Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, called the meetings "the most significant conferences for 100 years," and said they achieved "unanimity far exceeding our expectations."

He expressed a hope for victory by Christmas of next year, but warned that "very heavy work lies ahead of us with fierce fighting."

The new friendship accord of the allies with neutral Turkey was viewed in Cairo, meanwhile, as presaging stirring events in the middle east and Mediterranean war theaters.

Sees No Danger of Losing Peace.

Smuts, addressing some 70 war correspondents, said the allied meetings had averted the danger that the United States, Britain, and Russia might win the war without achieving the absolute coöperation necessary for winning the peace.

"Everything is in order, and is moving to the greatest conclusion for a century, or centuries," he said.

"The old world is dead and the significance of this war is that it is the first step to a new opportunity, in which the press must play an even greater part. The world must forge something more firm than the old order."

Don't Pry, Reporters Told.

He urged the newsmen not to pry into the secrets of the meetings.

"You are on a knife edge," Smuts said. "A word dropped on the wrong side might cause great harm. By your silence now you are helping to victory."

Smuts spoke at the end of more than two weeks of conferences which newsmen viewed from a distance with only brief official reports couched in general terms and second hand descriptions of physical facts on which to base their dispatches.

[A Reuters (British) dispatch from Cairo said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden met King George II. and Premier E. J. Tsouderos of Greece and King Peter of Jugo-Slavia. Prime Minister Churchill was reported to have seen Iraq's regent, Emir Abdul Ilah.]

Triumvirate in Army Training

Three Musketeers

Three McGovern brothers from Chicago are doing a good job of sticking together in the army air corps. They are Billy, 19 years old; John, 20, and Joseph, 23, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McGovern of 1147 West 87th street. Volunteering together last January, they went thru basic training at Miami Beach, Fla., college training at the University of Cincinnati, and primary air training at Parks Air college in East St. Louis. They are still assigned together at Strothers army air field, Kas., with one slight exception. Billy is billeted across the street from his brothers.

LIQUOR ALCOHOL PRODUCTION IN CANADA HINTED

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 8 [Special]. —Prospects that the manufacture of alcohol for human consumption may be resumed soon are believed to be brightening in Canada. Until recently inquiries were met with the statement that every available plant was needed for the manufacturer of industrial alcohol. Now officials answer that as soon as the equipment is not required for making industrial alcohol the manufacture of consumable alcohol will be recommenced. But they warn that everything so manufactured will be placed in bond and that the public need not anticipate any extension of the present severe rationing, which limits Canadians to 40 ounces a month—if they can get it.

PEDESTRIAN DIES OF INJURY.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 8 [Special].—Alva Burtis, 69 years old, died today of a fractured skull suffered when he was struck by an automobile while crossing a street.

JOYOUS THRONGS HAIL TURK CHIEF AFTER PARLEYS

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 8 (AP).—President Ismet Inonu of Turkey arrived back in Ankara today from his Cairo talks with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. He was greeted by diplomats, national assembly members, and swarms of wildly cheering citizens.

The conference was generally interpreted here as a prelude to war. A Turkish report, issued on the historic gathering, said Inonu's participation was a "striking manifestation of the alliance which united Great Britain and Turkey and the solid friendship between Turkey and the United States and Russia."

It was believed generally here that Roosevelt and Churchill had asked Inonu into a war council to discuss plans for this part of the world. A few, however, believed Inonu refused to move Turkey into the war on the ground that it was not fully prepared and would gain nothing.

Allied Solidarity Seen.

Commenting on the Teheran conference of Roosevelt, Churchill, and Premier Marshal Stalin which preceded the Cairo meetings in which Inonu took part, the official newspaper Ulus said: "Germany is faced with a political and military coalition that has not a single flaw or weak spot in its construction." Ulus left no doubt about the enthusiasm of Turkey for the results of the conference of the big three in Iran.

Even as Inonu returned home, new German forces were reported moving into the southern coastline of Greece.

Spring Attacks Seen.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Plans for spring attacks from the south by more than six regular allied and guerrilla armies in the promised three front assault against the Germans appeared well under way tonight.

However, Turkey's intentions, and whether and how far she may aid the allies following President Ismet Inonu's conference with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, remained an enigma.

British commentators made it clear that Turkey's change from a benevolent nonbelligerency to outright assistance to the allies—if it does come—is not expected for several months.

Whatever Turkey's decision is, closer and fuller coöperation with the allies confidently is expected.

Besides the plans for major offensives in western Europe and eventually in the Pacific worked out with Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek, the recent conferences are believed to have shaped channels thru which strong currents of allied might in the Mediterranean can be swept against Germany's southern flank.

The United States and Britain face the task of consolidating and coördinating the various forces in Africa, the middle east, and the Balkans—their own and the French, Poles, Jugo-Slavs, and Greeks.

JAP-SOVIET WAR CALLED MENACE TO ARMY PLANS

U.S. Film Cites Problems in Siberian Bases.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—The narrator in an official war department film soon to be shown war plant workers suggests that use of Siberian bases would involve Russia in war with Japan and thus "endanger the plans of our own army."

A sound track narrative accompanying the film, devoted mainly to showing how strong Germany and Japan still are, says:

"What about Siberian bases for attacking Japan? Vladivostok lies at the end of a long supply line which is particularly vulnerable from Khabarovsk.

500,000 Japs Deployed.

"The Japanese army has 500,000 troops deployed along this supply route. If we or the Russians use these bases to bomb Japan, the bases would immediately be made useless and Russia would be involved in a two front war.

"Russia is engaging the main Nazi strength and a two front war for Russia would diminish the pressure on the worried Nazis and endanger the plans of our own army."

The narrator also dismisses the idea that Germany can be defeated by air power alone.

"From England," he says, "our 8th air force is systematically bombing Germany's industry, but we can never have enough planes or bombs to wipe out so big an industrial nation."

The film is to be shown to 10 million war plant workers starting Dec. 15. A war department representative said Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. had indicated the film might also be used in a war loan drive during January.

It Lasts 43 Minutes.

The film, entitled "War Department Report," was produced by the department's office of strategic services. A spokesman for that office said it was designed to remove from the minds of war plant workers any ideas that the war was won—or even that the enemy was weakening.

Included in the 43 minute film are war front scenes taken by the army signal corps and propaganda shots captured from Germans and Japanese. Sandwiched between them are cartoons by which the war department gives information concerning enemy strength and allied military problems.

BULGARIA PLANS TO QUIT NAZIS, SWEDEN HEARS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 8 (AP).—Many persons in Sofia expect Bulgaria will follow Italy's example and break with the Germans, the newspaper Allehanda said today in a dispatch from Istanbul.

The dispatch said if there is an invasion of the Balkans Bulgarians generally want to be on the side of the allies.

It added great nervousness persists in Sofia, heightened by the fact that the Bulgarian ministers in Berlin, Moscow, and Ankara now are home for conferences, and a Russian military mission is visiting the Bulgarian capital.

ALGIERS FRENCH OUST TWO REAR ADMIRALS WHO RESISTED ALLIES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ALGIERS, Dec. 8.—The process by which the French committee of national liberation gradually is ridding official life in North Africa of all men associated in any way with anti-allied or pro-Vichy causes prior to expulsion of the axis continued today with retirement of two admirals.

The men do not lose their civil rights and will receive pension—but they are being removed from active naval commands and not because of age or other routine factors.

The men are Rear Adms. Francois Michelier and Robert Godefroy, and their "offenses" were: Michelier commanded the French naval forces which resisted the allies at Casablanca in November, 1943, while Godefroy commanded the immobilized French fleet at Alexandria, Egypt, which for three years refused to join the allies.

BEGIN PALESTINE TRIAL OF 7 FOR OWNING BOMBS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Dec. 8.—A trial concerning illegal possession of munitions began before a British military court yesterday when seven settlers in the Jewish village of Kibbutz Hulda were charged with possession of 78 mortar bombs of local make and 85 cartridges, found Oct. 3 during a search by army and British police units for Polish army deserters. Two of the accused pleaded guilty.

Brig. A. A. J. Allen, military area commander who was in charge of the combined police and military forces which conducted the search, testified it was made to discover Polish army deserters.

Allen said no deserters were found but the munitions were discovered when a British constable, leaning against some packing cases, removed the sack covering them.

RUSSIANS FLANK DNIEPER RAIL HUB AND CUT 3D LINE

LONDON, Dec. 9 [Thursday]—(AP).—Russian columns closing around Znamenka outflanked this Dnieper bend rail hub from the south yesterday by cutting the railway to Nikolaev, but the Red army fell back for the second straight day in the Kiev bulge before a German counter-attack.

The Znamenka-Nikolaev line was cut at a town 15 miles south of Znamenka, capture of which marked a 13 mile advance in 24 hours. Other Russian forces were only two miles from the big rail junction, Moscow reports said, as the third of the four railroads leading from it were cut.

But the Russians were fighting a desperate battle to the north in the Kiev bulge, where they indicated Chernyakhov was either lost or outflanked. Identifying the hottest battle arena as "northeast of Chernyakhov," the Moscow war report, recorded by the soviet radio monitor, said "our troops evacuated a number of populated places," but claimed 84 German tanks were wrecked.

2,000 Germans Slain.

The war bulletin said the Germans were attacking continuously in this area, throwing into the battle large forces of infantry and perhaps 1,700 tanks, pressing the Russians back at a cost of up to 2,000 dead.

The Berlin radio said the Russians lost 8,000 dead and many prisoners to the Nazi counter-offensive.

Henry Cassidy, Associated Press reporter in Moscow, said the Russians were biding their time in this area, waiting for the Germans to use up their reserves.

Reds Gain in Dnieper Bend.

Southeast of the Znamenka battle zone, Russian forces scored other gains in the Dnieper bend, capturing several German strong points southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and killing more than 600 Germans.

The Berlin radio said German forces had made counter-thrusts in this region at Krivoi Rog, with "local successes," but admitted that in the Znamenka area they had "shortened part of their front line."

The Germans claimed a Rumanian division had wiped out one of two Russian bridgeheads near the town of Kerch in the eastern Crimea, and taken about 2,000 prisoners.

GERMANS KILL 5 TRYING TO FLEE FRENCH PRISON

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP).—Five French civilians, including a woman, were machine-gunned to death by the Nazis when they tried to escape thru a breach blown open by a bomb in a hotel in Annemasse, a dispatch to the Geneva newspaper La Suisse said today.

The dispatch said the Germans posted signs saying a number of persons being held as hostages in the buildings, whose cellars were used as a prison, attempted to escape and were shot.

Another dispatch said Italian Partisans captured in a clash with Nazis and Fascists near Domodossola, in northern Italy, were compelled to dig their own graves and then were shot.

AUSSIES GAIN IN GUINEA; YANKS ON BOUGAINVILLE

Extend Beachhead on Augusta Bay.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC HDQ., Dec. 9 [Thursday]—(AP).—A 195 ton bombing raid on Cape Gloucester, raising to approximately 1,300 tons the explosive weight to hit western New Britain in two weeks, was reported by headquarters today along with ground successes on New Guinea and in the Solomons.

While Cape Gloucester's anti-aircraft positions were being destroyed and supply dumps exploded by fighter escorted Liberators and Mitchells, Australian soldiers, 80 miles to the southeast, extended by more than two miles the coastal holdings along the Huon peninsula of New Guinea.

On Bougainville, where American forces hold a beachhead 260 miles southeast of the New Britain stronghold of Rabaul, invading troops have extended their perimeter on the northeast, occupying several bridges and high ground positions.

Allied casualties in fighting on Bougainville during November totaled 254 killed, 962 wounded, and 73 missing, a spokesman for Adm. William F. Halsey said today. Japanese killed by infantry and artillery fire alone, the spokesman estimated at 2,500. In addition, many casualties were inflicted by air and sea bombardments.

Meet No Ack-Ack.

The new raid on Cape Gloucester, the heaviest of the series there, was made Tuesday. Returning pilots said the continuous poundings had been so effective that no anti-aircraft fire was encountered over that enemy air base and there was only machine gun fire around adjacent Borgen bay.

Southeastward across the island, Mitchells raided the coast near Arawe, dropping 16 tons of bombs on points where the enemy hides barges. Fighters dive bombed supply dumps and strafed plantation installations at Gasmata.

The New Aussie coastal gain on New Guinea brought them within a mile of Kaligia and two and a half miles north of Bonga. Other Aussies bidding for the trial junction of Wareo on Tuesday captured Peak hill, just south of the village.

Battle 22 Jap Fighters.

Thunderbolts proved once more they are the match for several times their number by tangling over Wewak, New Guinea, with 22 Japanese fighters. They downed one, probably got another and sped away without loss.

The Solomons air force pounded the Bonis airdrome on the northern tip of Bougainville. The same day, nearly 100 Dauntless divebombers, Avenger torpedo bombers, and fighters dropped 55 tons of explosives around the harbor at Kieta, directly across the island from Empress Augusta bay. Fifteen buildings were destroyed.

The Kahili airdrome, main enemy base on Bougainville's south coast, also was bombed and strafed.

$18,800 CACHED IN ONEGLIA BOX BEFORE KILLING

Investigators into the slaying Monday of Thomas Oneglia, 48 years old, yesterday found $18,800 in cash, war bonds, and jewelry in a safe deposit box of the Aetna Safe Deposit company, Fullerton and Lincoln avenues.

The box, key to which was found on Oneglia's body when he was shot to death by three men while being shaved in a barber shop at 1608 Sedgwick street, was opened by Coroner A. L. Brodie, James X. Galbaugh, chief investigator for the state treasurer, and Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator.

Also present were the slain man's widow, Vittina, 6118 North Campbell avenue; his son, Ross, 28, a navy lieutenant; Henry Vazzano, Oneglia's son-in-law, and two attorneys, Fred Romano and George Lavin. The box contained $5,500 in cash in $100 and $1,000 bills and $3,300 in war bonds. Jewelry was valued at $10,000, including a $2,500 diamond bracelet.

Previously Lt. Oneglia filed a petition in Probate court for letters of administration in his father's estate, which the petition valued at $2,500. The petition asked that Mrs. Oneglia be appointed administratrix.

80,000 LANDING CRAFT IN NAVY BUILDING PLANS

Indicate Many Will Be Used in Pacific.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The navy disclosed today its construction program calls for 80,000 landing craft of all types, of which about 25,000 have been completed.

Rear Adm. Edward L. Cochrane, chief of the bureau of ships, told of the program, estimated to cost between 5 and 6 billion dollars, at a press conference at which he indicated the craft still to be built are intended for an offensive against Japan.

War production board sources made known earlier this week that landing craft have been given top place in the war production program.

Both Water and Land.

Cochrane said the navy undoubtedly would increase production of Alligator landing craft, an amphibious vessel first used at Guadalcanal and recently used in the Tarawa attack.

The Alligator is able to traverse both water and land. At Tarawa it negotiated without difficulty coral reefs on which more conventional landing boats hung, an easy prey for Japanese marksmen ashore.

"There already have been produced 20,000 landing craft ranging from the 450 foot dock ship to the amphibian tractors," Cochrane said. "These represent a total value of 1½ billion dollars exclusive of ordnance.

Further Authorization.

"There also are on order today 25,000 additional craft totaling 2 billion dollars and there is pending before congress a further authorization for approximately 20,000 more craft, involving an estimated cost of 1 billion, 600 million dollars. Thus the total program will exceed 65,000 vessels in addition to which there are about 15,000 miscellaneous small craft, rubber boats, rafts, etc., which are needed to supplement and round out the total forces."

He explained that about 5,000 of the smaller craft have been completed, raising the total of completed landing craft of all types of 25,000.

7,000 CIVILIANS IN WAR BUREAU RECEIVE RIBBONS

More than 7,000 civilian employes of the war department in Chicago yesterday received blue and silver service ribbons for six or more months of devotion to duty. The ribbons also were awarded thousands of civilians elsewhere in the 6th service command—Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

Decoration ceremonies were conducted in the Civic theater for the 550 civilians employed in headquarters, 6th service command; in Studio A, Civic opera building, for 175 office workers of the air forces mid-central procurement district; at 111 Jackson boulevard for 253 other procurement employes; in the quartermaster depot on Pershing road for 2,200, and in the Commonwealth Edison auditorium and at 45 West 24th street for 2,682 ordnance employes.

The ribbons given to employes of the various service branches are identical, except for the designation of army service forces, army air forces, and army ground forces.

Andaman Islands Raided by American Bombers

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 8 (AP).—United States heavy bombers have made another raid on the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal, it was announced today.

Bombers pounded Japanese installations on Chatham in the Andaman group on Monday, a bulletin from the southeast Asia headquarters of Adm. Louis Mountbatten said, and shot down one enemy fighter.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 9 [Thursday] — (AP). — Chinese troops have recaptured the town of Tehshan, a few miles south of fallen Changteh, gateway to Changsha and China's "rice bowl," the Chinese high command reported today.

The town is a strategically important point on the highway linking Changteh, captured Dec. 3 by the Japanese, and Changsha.

The bulletin said Tehshan had been taken by plane supported Japanese forces Dec. 6, but the Chinese, receiving reënforcements, immediately counter-attacked and recaptured the city Wednesday afternoon "after furious fighting."

NAVY SEIZES BIG COAST SHIPYARD BY F. D. R. ORDER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—President Roosevelt has directed the secretary of the navy to take over and operate the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation, the White House announced today.

The executive order said the action was based on failure of the corporation to "perform satisfactorily the work called for by its contracts with the navy department."

The navy said it took over the shipyard "in view of the unsatisfactory progress the company has made on contracts awarded to it for the construction of naval auxiliary vessels and the excessive costs resulting from such construction."

Alfred F. Smith, president of the shipyard, said in Los Angeles that management had been in the hands of men "placed in their positions by the navy" during the initial excessive cost period.

STORY OF QUIRK KILLING IS TOLD BY TIPOFF MAN

stand guard at a vantage point from which he might see Quirk, got drunk, Egan said.

"You're supposed to be watching for a chance to kill Quirk, but you get drunk and go off the job, and that fellow might come around and kill me," he quoted Williams as saying.

Finally, the witness' day-by-day story reached Sept. 18. Quirk had been away. He was known to be back in the city. All of the gang went to the Hawthorne race track to run him down. They found him there and started to follow his automobile as it drove away.

They lost Quirk once in traffic, Egan said, then caught sight of him again. They knew he was headed for home. So they hurried to get there ahead of him. Each knew his part of the job. Egan went to a place from which he could see Quirk come out of his garage.

Removal of Hat Signal.

"When I took my hat off that was the signal," Egan said as tho talking of something else. "I heard the shots. I kept walking south."

Later in the evening, Egan said, the plotters assembled in the apartment of Bonnie Cunningham, dice girl employed by Williams. Bonnie lived at 6240 South Kedzie avenue. They sent her away and spent the night drinking in the apartment. The only one who slept was De Lordo, whose bullet, said Egan, had hit Quirk in the back.

Several weeks later, Egan related, Williams told him police of the state's attorney's office were looking for Egan and De Lordo for questioning about the Quirk murder. He said Williams told them to surrender and he would have a writ of habeas corpus waiting for them. They did so and Williams kept his word, Egan informed the jury.

The state's attorney's office let them go home that night, Egan said, and they went out drinking. They had promised to return next day for lie detector tests, and they kept their promise. It was after they had taken the tests that he decided to confess, Egan said, altho he did not announce the result of the tests, which were said to have indicated guilt on his part.

Reveals Community Offer.

Almost at the finish of his story of gambling and murder Egan said:

"Crowley told me if I'd tell the truth I could prevent 10 or 12 more murders on the south side, and if my motives were proper and I would testify against the others I would not be prosecuted."

That was one of the points Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and Emmet Moynihan had been seeking to make all day—that Egan was testifying as a result of a promise of immunity. They are confident such testimony never will survive an appeal to the state Supreme court.

Egan's last words on direct examination by Napoli were about himself—his prison record. In 1930, at the age of 18, he went to the Pontiac reformatory for assault with intent to commit robbery. He said he was transferred to Stateville prison in 1934, paroled in 1936, sent back for violation of parole, and re-paroled in 1939. Since then he has been put on probation for one year for assaulting a bartender, and was arrested four or five times in Williams' gambling houses, he said.

"You may cross-examine," said Prosecutor Napoli to Defense Atty. Burke shortly before 4:30 o'clock. Burke then asked Judge Ward to delay the cross-examination until this morning. It was so ordered.

While Egan was on the stand, State's Atty. Courtney came into the courtroom and conversed with Assistant State's Attorneys Napoli and Francis McCurrie about the progress of the prosecution.

Seen at Trial

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Among spectators at the Quirk murder trial yesterday were Josephine Enright (left), sister of John Enright, and Mrs. John Williams. Enright and Williams are on trial in the slaying.

EARLIER TESTIMONY

Prior to Egan's testimony, several witnesses had been called to establish Quirk's death and to prove that Williams, Enright, De Lordo, and Egan, too, were associated in a gambling house at 3327 West 63d street.

It was because of the existence of this gambling house, made known after the Quirk murder, that Capt. Francis J. Malone of the Chicago Lawn station was indicted for malfeasance and suspended from duty. Facts about this gambling house caused the October grand jury to question Mayor Kelly, Police Commissioner Allman, and County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, who is the Democratic boss of the ward in which Williams operated.

Defense Atty. Burke fought to keep out evidence about the gambling house, saying it was prejudicial. Burke fought, too, to keep the jury from hearing the name of Danny Stanton, public enemy said to have been killed by Public Enemy Quirk.

Kin of Stanton Accused.

Egan's story involved Robert Bock, a brother-in-law of Stanton. Bock is under indictment for the Quirk slaying, along with several others who have not yet been arrested, chief of whom is James Fawcett.

Mrs. Margaret Rosenstiehl, 824 West 21st street, a sister of Quirk, told of his life and death—with no mention that he was in the gambling business.

Mrs. Dorothy Whitaker and Mrs. Alberta Helen Coffey, both of 6620 Stony Island avenue, told of hearing seven shots and seeing a dark form running away after the Quirk shooting. E. A. Marton, janitor at the same address, told of seeing Quirk shot and of putting him in the laundry truck of Raymond Cox, 8327 Kerfoot avenue, which took him to the Jackson Park hospital, where he died two days later.

John F. McCarthy, 6720 Oglesby avenue, a real estate broker, told of leasing Williams store space at 6250 South Kedzie avenue where prior to 1940 Williams conducted a floral business. Later, the witness said, when Williams installed a cigar store front, he was asked to move, and did.

Former Employes Heard.

But Williams was permitted to rent a four room apartment at 6252 South Kedzie avenue which he used as a sneak spot—described by Egan as a place where Williams operated his handbook when police wouldn't let him operate at 6227 West 63d street. Thomas Maher, 6111 South Albany avenue, testified that he worked for Williams in both places.

George B. Scott, 2317 Marquette road, white haired, now unemployed but formerly a bartender at Williams' Oak Lounge bar, 3219 West 63d street, said he couldn't tell whether there was betting at the other end of his bar.

Williams, who is 6 feet tall, 190 pounds in weight, black haired, handsome and neatly garbed in a brown suit, was nearest the jurors. Next to him sat Enright, who is nearly bald, is 45, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighs about 170 pounds.

Guards All Over Courtroom.

De Lordo, an ex-convict, who is 32, smaller, lighter, and darker than his companions, sat on the outside. He confessed the same night as Egan, but later refused a reported offer of a 14 year sentence to plead guilty.

Between the defendants and the jurors were the lawyers. Behind them were three deputy sheriffs. All around the room were deputy sheriffs and policemen. Capt. Dan Gilbert, chief investigator for State's Atty. Courtney, hovered in the room.

TRUCK KILLS BOY IN DRIVE; CHUM LEAPS TO SAFETY

Thomas J. Nemanich, 6 years old, 2004 Coulter street, was crushed fatally yesterday under the wheels of a heavy truck as it backed into the driveway of the McCoy Truck Lines, 2368 Blue Island avenue. With him was Felix Jersic, also 6, of 2206 South Damen avenue, who saw the truck in time to leap aside. The driver was Edward G. Gothann, 2210 Clifton avenue.

Arendt Olson, 73, of 4157 North Richmond street, a printer, died in County hospital of injuries incurred Nov. 10 when struck by an automobile at Richmond street and Irving Park road. The driver was Glen Gollet, 4227 North Kedzie avenue.

Police are searching for a hit and run driver who struck a pedestrian, stopped, stepped out his car and looked at the injured man, then drove away. The victim is Louis Miller, 64, of 3936 West 16th street. He was hit at Keeler avenue and 16th street and is in a critical condition in County hospital.

6 INMATES FLEE STATE SCHOOL; ALL CHICAGOANS

Six inmates escaped last night from the Illinois state training school for boys near St. Charles. H. E. Johnson, assistant superintendent, said three of them, Richard L. Keepers, 13 years old, 2144 North Clark street; Richard M. Sullivan, 14, of 229 South Central Park avenue, and Albert J. Bartosik, 13, of 1110 North Springfield avenue, walked away from the school building during a recreation club meeting.

The other three, all Negroes, escaped from a cottage at the school later in the evening.

They are James T. Prather, 16, of 4000 Vincennes avenue; Thomas B. Locke, 17, of 1070 West 114th street, and Louis Brumfield, 17, of 542 East 45th street.

Post-war educational opportunities are assured returning veterans, the teachers' college board of Illinois, representing the five teacher colleges, announced yesterday at a meeting in the La Salle hotel. Scholarships for veterans, provided by the state legislature, will be available.

NEW EVIDENCE IS REPORTED IN GAMING INQUIRY

Information obtained by the December grand jury in its investigation of gambling activities in the Town Hall district is expected to generate considerable "heat" for at least two policemen, it was reported yesterday. It is said Police Commissioner Allman will be given the names of policemen who are under fire for neglect of duty in connection with gaming on the near north side.

State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney went before the grand jury yesterday in company with an assistant, Joseph Burke. The grand jury is reported to have concentrated on the activities of a large gaming room on the second floor of the building at 927 Irving Park road, which is reputed to flourish under the direction of one Barney Shadmill.

Many Complaints Made.

Reports indicated the grand jury became agitated over evidence from witnesses that, altho the Town Hall station received 70 complaints about various bookie joints in March, and 12 more in April, the police apparently were unable to find any one to arrest.

Witnesses included Policemen Walter Lutz and Oscar Hansen, who are said to have changed from plain clothes to uniforms when the October grand jury got warmed up; persons arrested in some of the gambling places in the district, and a few gamblers.

Burke said he plans to summon Capt. Michael Naughton, chief of Commissioner Allman's detail on gambling, directing him to bring in a complete record of the gambling complaints and resultant arrests made by Town Hall police. Acting Capt. William Drury of the Town Hall station was suspended more than a month ago by Commissioner Allman on charges of laxity in suppressing gambling activities as uncovered by the October grand jury.

County Chief Heads Raid.

John McGinnis, new chief of the county highway police, last night led several squads from the Willow Springs county highway station in a raid on an alleged handbook at 6544 South Cicero avenue. The place, which they found untenanted, is a large barn-like structure near the Dodge plant. The police broke several axes in chopping up the card and poker tables and the floor.

3 NAVY GUNNERS IMPROVE; DRIFT AT SEA 20 DAYS

A CARIBBEAN PORT, Dec. 8 (AP).—Three young United States navy gunners who, with a Colombian messboy, were the sole survivors of a 27 man crew of a Panama steamer torpedoed in the Caribbean last month, are now recuperating in a hospital near here, apparently none the worse for spending 20 days adrift on a raft.

INQUEST CLEARS POLICEMAN IN TAVERN KILLING

Patrolman Clarence Johnson of West North avenue station was exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury in the fatal shooting of Thomas Kissane in a tavern-liquor store at 4137 Elston avenue. The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Kissane, 29 years old, 3617 North Troy street, was business agent and organizer for local No. 3, Liquor Workers' union [AFL].

Johnson, who is 40 years old, testified at the inquest that he was in the tavern with his father-in-law, Frank Bartlett, 60, of 4142 North Avers avenue, when Kissane and James Dever, president of the union local, entered and told Bartlett he no longer could work there as a part-time bartender. Johnson interceded and identified himself as a policeman, he said, and later, after Kissane knocked him to the floor and kicked him, he fired two shots.

Last night Dever said his organization and other labor unions are protesting the verdict. He said the labor groups will ask State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney to make an investigation and will request Police Commissioner James P. Allman to continue Johnson's suspension pending this inquiry.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

WIFE IN AN IRON LUNG, YANK SENT HOME FROM INDIA

Portland, Ore., Dec. 8 (AP).—Corp. Marvin Wilson, in India, knew only that his wife was ill and wanted him to come home. The army said no.

Then the 21 year old air force repairman learned she was an infantile paralysis victim, kept in an iron lung while awaiting their second child.

"The Red Cross really got busy and our field chaplain put in some strong argument," Wilson recalled gratefully. "On Thanksgiving day did I have a lot to be thankful for when our plane set down in Miami!"

Physicians who had despaired of Mrs. Wilson's life now report "an amazing turn for the better" since her husband's arrival.

VETERANS WARN BONUS DEMANDS WILL BE MADE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Spokesmen for veterans today indorsed the principle of mustering-out pay advocated by President Roosevelt but served notice on congress that it will not by itself be a guarantee against a drive for another soldier bonus.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans' administration, implemented the views of the spokesmen with the statement that "passage of this bill will not stop the demand for a bonus" after the war.

Hearings Are Opened.

These views were given to the house military committee which opened hearings on legislation to provide up to $300 to men and women who have served in the fighting forces since the attack on Pearl Harbor. Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] said the committee hoped to send the bill to the house floor for a vote Friday.

Millard W. Rice, national service director of the disabled veterans' organizations, said the mustering-out pay, five times the amount paid to men discharged after the last war, should not be considered as "discharging all obligations."

Rice explained that there might be demands for adjusted compensation, old age insurance, unemployment insurance, and furlough pay.

Holds $300 Not Enough.

Omar B. Ketchum, legislative agent for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told the committee the $300 discharge pay "isn't enough" if it is to be "the only thing you're going to do for these men."

Gen. Hines estimated that the legislation would cost the government approximately $3,600,000,000, disclosing that discharges since Pearl Harbor have approximated 1,000,000, most of whom would be eligible for the payment.

FURLOUGHS ARE OUT, GEN. PATTON WRITES TO CASUALTY'S WIFE

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Lee Lifschitz recently wrote Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. asking that her husband, Pvt. Harry Lifschitz, who has been serving with the 7th army in Sicily, be given a furlough to come home.

Today, Mrs. Lifschitz, who hasn't seen her 33 year old husband for more than a year, made public a reply from Patton stating that a leave was impossible because of shipping conditions.

Several hours later she received a telegram from the war dapartment—her husband had been killed in action in Italy.

BELOW ZERO is tame for this Anti-Freeze that beats HEAT

Please pass the dunce cap to Noah Webster, author of the big fat dictionary. He writes that an anti-freeze is merely "a substance having a low freezing point." He flunks out on Super Pyro anti-freeze; it's way ahead of him. The right amount of economical Super Pyro in your car will certainly keep it from freezing in the coldest cold—but a good many Winter days hit the melting point—and normal engine heat is even five times hotter than that!

Super Pyro is anti-freeze that can take it. And only an anti-freeze that won't suffer badly from heat, can retain a safe low freezing point for the return visits of COLD.

You simply have your correct fill of Super Pyro put in, and then the occasional check-up that's only fair to the car you can't replace, will help to keep your cooling system safe all Winter. Every time the radiator cap is lifted you won't be adding a lot of this highly heat-safe, cold-safe Super Pyro.

It's a rust fighter, too, helping to maintain free circulation by keeping rust from forming. Yet Super Pyro is far from luxury-priced. You won't have to go hunting popular Super Pyro—not yet! Get yours today.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 8 (AP).—Reports reaching here today said the Germans had ordered the evacuation of a 1¼ mile strip of the Baltic coast from Memel, East Prussia, to Tallinn, Estonia, roughly 500 miles, apparently as an anti-invasion precaution similar to that taken in western Europe. (Picture on back page.)

The two story, five room cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Highland at 219 Water street, Naperville, was blown to pieces at noon yesterday by an explosion which jarred most of the community.

Only part of a partition wall was left standing. Authorities said they were investigating the possibility that the blast was caused by gas.

No one was hurt, but Lester Highland Jr., 6 years old, escaped possible injury or death by seconds. His mother was shopping, and the boy, returning home from school recess, was less than a quarter of a block away when the explosion occurred. Highland Sr. is a war plant employe.

U. S. SYNTHETICS SEEN AS CURB ON RUBBER PRICES

Will Compete for World Markets, Says Dewey.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—America's post-war synthetic rubber industry was envisioned by Bradley Dewey, rubber director, as "a heaven sent brake" on future cost of tires and other rubber products in the United States.

He suggested this war born industry will protect the American public in peace time against being gouged by the British-Dutch cartel which controled world rubber prices before Japanese capture of the South Pacific plantations.

William M. Jeffers, who resigned as rubber director several months ago to resume his duties as president of the Union Pacific railroad, urged effective measures to assure the permanence of the synthetic rubber industry. Dewey and Jeffers spoke at a banquet sponsored by Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering, a trade journal. Two thousand of the chemical engineering profession attended.

Think About America.

"It's time Americans start thinking about what's going to happen to America," said Jeffers, who is credited with having rescued the rubber program from burocratic bungling. "We owe it to the American people, who have 750 million dollars of their tax-money invested in plants, to keep this rubber business going."

Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell, army ordnance chief, thanked the chemical industry for its performance but warned "The rapidly diminishing stockpile of natural rubber makes it imperative we continue our efforts to convert all of our rubber products to synthetics." Natural rubber still is required for large truck tires.

Predicts 16 Cent Synthetics.

Dewey predicted a post-war price for synthetics at 16 cents a pound. This price, he said, would restrain inflation of natural rubber prices, which fluctuated between 10½ and 27 cents. f. o. b. New York, in the decade before the war. Future costs of natural rubber production, according to Dewey, are speculative because "The days of imported indenture plantation labor may be over." Both the Japanese and the allies have been promising the natives a freedom from want.

The price competition, according to Dewey, will eliminate the less efficient plantations and synthetic processes. However, he foresaw an increasing world demand for the best and cheapest of both products. He predicted developments in techniques will permit synthetics to compete with natural rubber in quality as well as in price.

PROBE NEW DEAL PLANNED SUGAR SHORTAGE!—DAY

BY PHILIP WARDEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Rep. Stephen A. Day [R., Ill.] today called for a congressional investigation of the government's war time sugar administration, charging sugar production has been deliberately held down to enable New Deal administrators to justify continued sugar rationing.

Rep. S. A. Day.

He declared in a statement "there could have been plenty of sugar without rationing since June or July of 1943" and that there would be no reason for rationing now if the sugar administrators had not been working under a policy of planned scarcity.

He said department of agriculture reports show New Dealers wilfully reduced sugar production in Cuba and the United States this year by one million tons to "justify their rigid control and rationing programs."

Calls War Excuse False.

"Every household in the United States has felt the pinch in sugar supplies," said Rep. Day. "Our people were told the shortage was a result of the war. But official figures now reveal that only crop controls and curtailment agreements with Cuba deprived us of adequate sugar supplies."

Day said the Cuban sugar purchase contract called for a crop of 3,225,000 tons, altho Cuba had produced 3,804,000 tons in 1942. He declared that "without the crop restrictions imposed by the United States, Cuba might have produced 5 million tons of sugar this year."

He said United States beet sugar production has been under government control since 1935 with the result that "our American sugar production this year is barely half our record total of pre-New Deal years."

Contrive Short Supplies.

"The New Dealers must contrive to have inadequate supplies to justify their rigid control and rationing problems," he said. "They dare not allow plenty to be produced, for then there would be no reason for all their costly and burdensome policies or burocratic regimentation.

"Sugar rationing must be ended. There has never been the slightest economic justification for such a program. Lift the New Deal controls, which make artificial scarcity, and within six months there will be ample sugar for every use."

OPA ASSISTS SANTA, THEN IT BOOSTS PRICES

The office of price administration, caught up by the spirit of Christmas, decided yesterday that it will be all right if you want to give your friends hams, shoes, and other rationed goods at Christmas time. The ruling is effective immediately and, officials in Washington said, it legalizes a practice winked at in the past.

"Housewives may give rationed foods bought with their own ration stamps to other consumers or to charitable organizations," the OPA said. "Charitable organizations receiving these rationed foods from individuals may distribute them to needy families without collecting ration stamps." The OPA emphasized, however, that dealers may not make gifts of rationed commodities without collecting the necessary points.

Then the OPA raised prices as follows: Sweet potatoes, up 2 cents for a No. 2 can; mushrooms, up 16 cents for a 4 ounce can; maraschino cherries, up 4 cents for an 8 ounce jar.

DRIVER IS FINED, LOSES LICENSE IN STORK CRASH

Frank Lindall, 32 years old, of 4703 North Damen avenue, driver of an automobile which on Dec. 2 collided with another car in which an expectant mother was being taken to a hospital, was fined $25 and costs and lost his driver's license for 90 days at a hearing yesterday in Safety court. Lindall told Judge William V. Daly that his own wife had given birth to a baby recently and that he became panicky after the accident and left. Soon after the accident, Mrs. Faye Libman, 30, of 4906 North Springfield avenue, passenger in the other car, gave birth to a nine pound girl in the American hospital. Both are doing well.

WAR can't wait. The load on a freight car might win a battle, and save the lives of thousands of our fighting men.

MOTHER ADMITS GETTING PART OF STOLL RANSOM

Blackens Dead Husband to Aid Kidnaper Son.

BY CARL WIEGMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 8.—Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson Sr., a frail woman of 68, admitted to a jury in federal court today that she got $4,000 of the $50,000 ransom paid for the release of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville in 1934.

Mrs. Robinson was a witness for her son, Thomas H. Robinson Jr., 36, who is on trial for the kidnaping of Mrs. Stoll, claiming he was insane when he pleaded guilty and was sent to Alcatraz in 1936. He testified yesterday that he gave his mother $4,000 of the ransom cash in 1935, while he was on a 19 month pending spree that led him several times across the continent.

United States Attorney Eli H. Brown explained at a recess of the trial that the kidnaper's mother and others of his beneficiaries were not prosecuted because the government did not learn of the gifts until 1940, by which time the statute of limitations had run on such prosecution.

Changed After Forced Wedding.

Most of Mrs. Robinson's testimony was designed to support her son's claim that he was insane when the crime was committed. She said he had a normal boyhood in Nashville, Tenn., belonged to the Boy Scouts, attended Sunday school at the Presbyterian church, and had many friends, but his personality began to change when he was 20 years old, soon after he was "forced" to marry a girl who later became a mother.

After that Robinson lost interest in his studies at Vanderbilt university and quit in his last year, his mother said.

"He had tantrums, brainstorms," she continued. "He cursed me and once he struck me. Once he said he would kill his father and I slipped between them."

The defendant, who has stared coolly at all other witnesses, lowered his eyes and swallowed hard as he heard this testimony.

Testimony Hits Dead Father.

Mrs. Robinson then gave testimony concerning her husband, Thomas H. Robinson Sr., a Nashville construction engineer, who died four years ago. He was acquitted in 1935 on a charge of helping his son with the kidnaping.

"Mr. Robinson was a heavy drinker," said his widow. "He'd go away and stay weeks at a time. Sometimes Tom would go and try to bring him home. And it was not only drinking, but other things."

"You mean he'd go carousing around?" asked Defense Atty. Robert E. Hogan.

"Yes," she replied.

Visited Him in Hiding.

Asked about receiving part of the ransom money, Mrs. Robinson said her son's woman friend, Jean Breese, who traveled with him when he was a fugitive, made arrangements for her to go to the Jefferson hotel in St. Louis. There she met Jean, who took her to an apartment where Robinson was living.

"I went to beg my boy to give himself up," Mrs. Robinson said. "I feared he would be killed. But he wouldn't listen to me."

Asked by Prosecutor Brown why she didn't notify the authorities of the St. Louis visit, Mrs. Robinson said, "I didn't think it was necessary."

CITY ASKS STATE TO RULE NOW ON POST-WAR BUSES

William H. Sexton, city transit attorney, demanded yesterday that the Illinois commerce commission resume hearings and give the city an opportunty to present evidence in several cases the city has instituted for the installation of motor bus operations by the surface lines. The demand was made at a hearing before Ben I. Morris, examiner for the commission. Operation plans have been held in abeyance by the war and office of defense transportation restrictions.

Atty. Sexton asserted that a commission requisition order for the buses, effective after the war, would present an opportunity for the immediate inauguration of extensions when bus manufacture is resumed.

The commission announced on Nov. 17 that it would be necessary to dismiss the cases without prejudice because of the war. Atty. Sexton opposed the move and pointed to the time and expense which the city had gone to in presenting evidence. Morris then set Jan. 13 as the date for a new hearing.

THE QUESTION.

What do you think about as you float toward the earth? [Asked of paratroopers.]

WHERE ASKED.

Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street.

THE ANSWERS.

Earl F. Koch, private 1st class, Antigo, Wis.—My mind is right on the job most of the time. The parachute has opened on every jump I've made yet, but I can't help thinking, each time it does open, "So far, so good." From then on I keep my mind right on my path to the earth.

W. J. Green, staff sergeant, Los Angeles, Cal.—When I'm coming down I don't spend much time daydreaming about how a bird in space must feel. I think, almost automatically, about what I should be doing on my way down. There's wind drift, oscillation, and direction to contend with. I like to make the most of every second in the air, to insure a better landing.

Sidney Laborvitch, Detroit, Mich. —On the rare occasions that I have gone to church in my adult life, I've experienced a new sensation as I step out of the church and onto the street. Parachute jumping is like that. When I leap from the plane into the heavens, I always find myself thinking of Sunday morning after church.

Harold McQuiston, Tonkawa, Okla. —Sometimes, in a smooth, gradual descent, when I have a moment to think of other things. I try to imagine how I'd feel if I were landing in enemy territory. I try to imagine what foreign landing spots would look like. A descent to the ground doesn't take very long, so there's not much time to think.

Richard C. Wirick, 1452 Argyle street.—For the first few seconds of the jump there are so many necessary things to think about that I keep my mind strictly on the business of making a good jump. Then my attention is focused on what spot I'm most likely to land on, and not on how it feels to sail thru the air.

Pvt. Ernest Gonzalos, Los Angeles, Cal.—Even tho I've made many jumps, it still is a pretty tense moment when we leave the plane. The very second after I pull the cord I start looking for a place to land. The landing is one of the most important parts of the jump—whether it's in a tree, in the water, or on the ground.

ADOPTIONS SHOW INCREASE; LAID TO HIGH INCOMES

A total of 1,929 children were adopted thru the County court of Judge Edmund K. Jarecki during the 12 month period ended Nov. 31, compared with 1,741 during 1942, an annual report disclosed yesterday.

Judge Jarecki said the increase occurred because people have more money and are better able to satisfy their longing for children.

There was a drop in insanity cases, 6,181 being filed during the year, compared with 6,720 in 1942. A total of 3,184 other cases were filed and 2,710 disposed of during the year, as against 2,760 filed and 2,200 disposed of last year.

U. S.-PAID BOND AD PLAN KILLED BY HOUSE GROUP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The house ways and means committee, apparently siding with the treasury's views, turned thumbs down today on the idea of government paid newspaper advertising to stimulate war bond sales.

By a vote of 11 to 10, the committee tabled legislation which called for outlays of up to $30,000,000 for such advertising.

The senate had voted to provide $15,000,000 for the purpose despite the treasury's assertion that the present coöperative plan was working well and that the space newspapers now accord voluntarily would cost a minimum of $100,000,000 a year.

Feared a Subsidy.

The treasury also had protested that the legislation amounted to "a subsidy to certain small newspapers" and would "prove an almost insurmountable hurdle to the continued promotion of war bonds."

The procedure followed by the committee in tabling two house bills and the senate measure precluded their further consideration by that body, altho Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] explained that the subject could be reopened if a new bill were introduced. In view of today's action, however, it was not considered likely the committee would reverse itself on a new measure.

"I'd say we killed all three bills," Doughton told reporters.

Chairman Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] of the house appropriations committee, author of the two house measures, was out of town but his associates said the legislation probably would be dropped.

Planned Fair Distribution.

Cannon's bills would have provided $30,000,000 for advertising "equitably distributed" among newspapers having second class mailing privileges.

The senate bill called for a top expenditure of $15,000,000 on advertisments in weeklies, semi-weeklies, tri-weeklies, and dailies in cities having not more than 10,000 population and for nondailies in larger cities.

Organizations of smaller newspapers had advocated the legislation as necessary to carry the bond sales appeal to areas not reached by the present program of coöperative voluntary advertisments generally sponsored by merchants at no cost to the treasury. They denied government payments would have any effect on editorial policies or would constitute a subsidy.

PAINT GUNGIRL IN 2 ROLES AT MURDER TRIAL

A jury of five men and seven women before Judge Rudolph Desort of Criminal court yesterday heard Miss Rosalie Walsh, 21 years old, described both as an embittered sweetheart who callously shot a love rival and as an enamored sweetheart who meant to harm no one.

Miss Walsh is charged with the murder of Miss Alberta Morrow, 28, of 1315 West 90th street. She shot Miss Morrow the morning of Sept. 7 outside the home of Anthony Van Arkel, 27, of 8810 Wallace street.

Edmund Grant, assistant state's attorney, charged in his opening statement to the jury that Miss Walsh shot Miss Morrow in anger when she found the latter in Van Arkel's company, but George Crane, defense attorney, asserted the shooting was accidental. It occurred, Crane said, when Van Arkel tried to take a gun from Miss Walsh's hand.

He said she had gone to Van Arkel's home fearing that some accident had befallen him. She had found the gun in the house.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Ralph O. Berg, 53 years old, accountant for the Pressed Steel Car company, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 8038 Prairie avenue.

NORTH CHICAGO SOLDIER SLAIN, HIS WIFE SHOT

Military and civil authorities are investigating the death Saturday of Corp. Le Roy J. Warner Jr., and the wounding of his wife, Anna, 28, at their home in Port Angeles, Wash., according to word received yesterday in North Chicago, where Warner's parents live at 815 Broadway.

Warner, who was stationed at Fort Worden, near Seattle, was married last January. His wife's home, it is understood, was in Kansas City, Mo.

Max Church, county prosecutor at Port Angeles, said that when police responded to a telephone call from Mrs. Warner they found the soldier dead on the floor of their home from a gunshot wound and Mrs. Warner suffering from a shoulder wound. A shotgun was on the floor. Church said only the two were in the house when the shooting occurred. Warner's body is being brought to North Chicago.

A SECRETARY'S LETTER WINS WAR AID PRIZE

Office Girl Also Helps on Assembly Line.

War plant managements say it is unusual to find a young woman secretary who can step out of the office and work on the assembly line if needed. But such a prodigy is Miss Mildred Kolber, winner of the fifth Tribune $50 award for constructive suggestions on speeding up production for the fighting armies and navies of the United States and allied nations.

Mildred Kolber.

Miss Kolber, who is somewhere in her 20s—she says her age is a secret—lives with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kolber at 1318 Granville avenue. Her father is a women's dress cutter. She has a brother, Harry, who is married and doing war work as an electrician, and Stanley Gantz, the husband of her sister, Dorothy, is in the United States coast guard at Groton, Conn., where he has just finished his boot training.

Joins Union to Help.

Miss Kolber has been with the Oak Manufacturing company, on the north side, for several years. The company makes radio equipment for the army and navy and it is engaged 100 per cent in war work. Mildred is secretary to one of the officials, but because she can turn a deft hand on the assembly line she recently joined an AFL union. That, the management explains, keeps union members from objecting when she works beside them in the plant.

Miss Kolber says she likes to help out on the assembly line where the real war work is done. She knows, of course, that it is necessary to have people in the office to back up the workmen in the plant, to keep the records, do the accounting, and the general office and administrative work without which the efforts of the men and women on the production lines would be chaotic.

Fills in When Needed.

"Yet I like to get out there and turn a hand," she said. "It makes you feel you're really part of the big job of winning the war. I'm glad I'm able to do it, even if it's only when some one else is sick or compelled to stay away or when they get overly busy."

Miss Kolber says she believes the great majority of war workers are doing their best. That, at least, is the situation in the plant with which she's connected. They all seem to be pulling together—and that, she asserts, is the only way to achieve victory as quickly as possible.

Before going into the war plant, Miss Kolber for two years attended Northwestern university, where she majored in journalism. For a time after she joined the staff of the Oak Manufacturing company, she helped edit a house organ called Oak Leaf.

Winning War Work Letter No. 5

(Story in adjoining column.)

Nov. 25, 1943.

It isn't the work of any individual that meets the production schedule or brings the books up to date in a war plant. Rather, it is the combined effort of the entire office and shop personnel that helps keep ships sailing, tanks rolling, and planes flying.

All war workers must coöperate, because the one bit of welding that Susie does means as much in the finished product as do all the other assembly operations combined. Without Susie's bit of welding, or Dorothy's inspection, the finished unit might leave the assembly line as a defective unit, one that is ordinarily rejected.

Every one working in a war plant knows that his own contribution is worthless without the aid of his co-workers. It isn't only the work of the officers and board of directors that counts in getting out production. The work of every one on an assembly line—right down to the packing and shipping departments—is needed to get the finished product on its way to our men in service.

Our fighting men depend on us on the production front, and we mustn't let them down. Sundays and holidays are the same as any other days in our armed forces. Therefore, if it is necessary that we work on these days, let us do so willingly and cheerfully, knowing that our doing so will help bring victory for "our" side quicker than it can be won by absentee or careless workers.

Increased safety of workers is constantly being watched for in defense plants. The fewer accidents there are, the less time must be lost from work.

Every man hour put in on production work brings us one man hour closer to victory—one man hour closer to the time when Americans' husbands, sons, brothers, and sweethearts will return from the battlefields. The worker's field is a battlefield, too. He is fighting to get enough work out to be able to keep our armed forces supplied with essential materials. He is fighting to give his fellowman a chance to return to his home and family—to the position in life and at work that it is every free man's privilege to enjoy.

Doing our work thoroly and efficiently means doing it once perfectly, eliminating final test rejects.

It's a privilege to be allowed to work in a war plant, where we can do our share in bringing about a speedy victory, which in turn will mean cutting down on casualties.

It's a privilege, indeed, for the war worker to be allowed to have deductions made from his pay checks for war bonds.

CUT DOWN ON ACCIDENTS. HELP TO SPEED UP AND INCREASE PRODUCTION. CO-OPERATE WITH YOUR FELLOW WORKERS. BUY MORE WAR BONDS. HELP TO BRING ABOUT A LASTING VICTORY FOR US AND OUR ALLIES. REMEMBER, BUY MORE BONDS. THEY'RE THE BEST "BUY." THEY'LL SPELL BYE-BYE AXIS AND HIROHITO.

Public Ownership Move Beaten in Parliament

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Ten Socialists voted today for an amendment to the king's speech introduced by Richard Acland, leader of the Commonwealth party, calling for public ownership of all land and all undertakings except the small worker-owner businesses by 1960. Many Laborites expressing sympathy for Acland's amendment said they would have supported it if it were not for the necessity of maintaining the coalition. Acland himself described his amendment as one of censure against the government. It was defeated, 246 to 10.

ACHESON'S FIRM AIDS 3 ORDERED OFF U.S. PAY ROLL

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Rep. Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.] disclosed today that the law firm of which Dean G. Acheson, assistant secretary of state, formerly was a member is representing three federal employes in their attempts to remain on the federal pay roll in defiance of a congressional order.

The three employes, who have been charged with subversive views by several congressional committees, are Robert Morss Lovett of the interior department and William E. Dodd Jr. and Goodwin B. Watson of the federal communications commission.

Pay Ordered Stopped.

Congress, over objections of President Roosevelt, ordered their pay stopped as of Nov. 15, but they continued in their jobs and last week filed a suit for back pay in a move to test the validity of the congressional ouster.

Rep. Church said their counsel in the suit is the firm of Covington, Burling, Rublee, Acheson, and Shorb, in which Dean Acheson was a partner until he joined the state department in January, 1941.

Church asserted Acheson is a disciple of the "burocratic theory of government espoused by Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter," who, he said, holds that burocratic agencies should be permitted to make their own regulations without having their legality reviewed in the courts.

Asks Special Counsel.

The congressman said an advisory committee to the attorney general of which Acheson was chairman drafted a pending house bill which seeks to place judicial powers in virtually all federal agencies and thus effectively block court review of their actions. This bill, Church said, is an "example of the Frankfurter theory."

Church urged congress yesterday to employ special counsel to defend its action in the courts in the Watson-Dodd-Lovett dispute. He argued that the attorney general is not the proper party to defend congress because he also represents the executive branch which has challenged the ouster of the three employes.

RAZOR BLADES STOLEN.

Burglars took druggists' supplies and four cases of razor blades, all valued at more than $2,000, from the Division Sales company, 2014 Division street, the owner, Morton Marks, reported to police yesterday.

BUY WAR BONDS TODAY!—3rd War Loan

It's his 軍円 against your Dollars!

Perhaps another sneak attack like Pearl Harbor. Another massacre like Wake Island. Ruthless pillage such as at Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore.

We can't afford to take these lying down. We'll dig down in our pockets now to buy more . . . and more . . . and more, until our bonds drive every Japanese and Nazi back into a corner with his hands up.

We'll pass up the unnecessary luxuries, pool our car riding, build so many ships, planes and tanks that every Jap will think he's fighting four Americans instead of one.

That's what will turn Joe Jap's war bonds into wastepaper . . . make him yell for peace as our enemies did in the last war.

THIS is published by The Texas Company to acknowledge the importance of YOU — the American citizen — in winning this war. Even before the war it was YOU who built the strongest military asset America had — our productive capacity. Today it serves us well.

HOLIDAY HOMECOMING

BILL sure got a warm welcome! Bud knew it was "kinda' sissy" to hug his big brother, but that's the way he really felt down inside.

Bill is only typical of boys in the armed forces. There will be Christmas and New Year furloughs—millions of them! And we'll bet every boy is counting the days until that train starts rolling toward home. All too soon that precious furlough will be just a memory, and it may have to do for a long, long time.

Disappoint a soldier? Not for the world! Nor would you. That's why the Rock Island is counting on your cooperation—why we're asking that you be guided by these travel suggestions:

1—If it is essential that you travel during the holiday period, leave on a less congested day.

2—If your plans change, cancel reservations promptly. Someone else needs your space.

3—Try carrying one piece of luggage. If you have another bag, check it through, identifying it with your name and address.

4—Help prevent dining car congestion. On short trips eat before you leave or after you arrive . . . or take a lunch with you. Some trains serve box lunches or sandwiches.

5—Avoid standing in line at the depot ticket windows by using City Ticket Offices wherever possible. You'll get tickets, information and reservations there more easily.

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

FCC HAVEN FOR DRAFT DODGERS, HOUSE QUIZ TOLD

Even Tries to Defer 4-F Employes, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 [Special].—The federal communications commission was portrayed as a haven for draft dodgers in a letter from a former employe read today before a house committee investigating the FCC.

The letter, written by John T. Duty of Auburn, Me., informed the committee it was established FCC policy to seek occupational deferment from the draft for all FCC workers and that despite his own 4-F classification "it took all the persuasive power I had to convince them it was useless to go thru the red tape of requesting deferment."

Gathers "News" for OWI.

The committee, which is under the chairmanship of Rep. Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.], as successor to Rep. E. E. Cox [D., Ga.], who resigned in September, also heard testimony that FCC's foreign broadcast intelligence service acts as a news gathering service for the office of war information.

The FCC was under attack also before the senate interstate commerce committee, which is conducting hearings on the Wheeler-White bill proposing changes in the communications act limiting FCC power over radio broadcasting. President Niles Trammell of the National Broadcasting company assailed burocratic control of radio as a threat to press freedom.

Duty's letter to the Lea committee asserted the FCC duplicated other services in relaying S. O. S. calls so it could build up a record to bolster appropriation demands. He said that when the FCC's radio intelligence division picked up distress calls from ships at sea it telephoned them long distance to the coast guard even when the coast guard already was in radio communication with the ships in trouble.

"It was pointed out to me," Duty wrote, "that the commission desired these reports to submit to the appropriations committee to justify requests for a larger budget. They said the larger appropriation the FCC got the more likely we would have a good job and not go in the army."

Sees Control of News.

Duty said he was informed that orders to apply for deferment for all men when they joined the FCC came from Washington and added, "I later read the order myself."

Harold N. Graves, who left the FCC intelligence service in July to become a navy ensign, testified the FCC listened to foreign broadcasts, analyzed them, and turned the analyses over to the OWI, which in turn released them to the press as information on overseas events.

NBC's Trammell told the senate interstate commerce committee that self-control rather than "burocratic edict" should be applied to the broadcasting industry. He envisioned a day when radio will be transmitting printed news dispatches, news reels, and motion pictures and asserted it would be impossible to maintain free speech and a free press if the government controled radio.

Trammell said the more successful broadcasting becomes the more it attracts the attention of burocrats and the more opportunities it presents for exploitation by those in government who see in broadcasting "a powerful instrument to be used in remaking America."

He recommended an amendment to the communications act "halting further government encroachment on the rights of the broadcaster and listener," with comprehensive revision after the war.

CLERK ROBBED OF $60.

Mrs. Elsie Berggien, clerk in a food shop at 1444 West 79th street, surrendered $60 to a man who held his hand in a pocket as if armed and demanded money, she reported last night to police.

WELCOMES DIVORCE; FINDS PRISON MORE PEACEFUL THAN HOME

Mrs. Elsie Helvey.

Carl Helvey, 24 years old, who is serving a 30 year sentence in Stateville prison for murder, has found such peace in prison that he has no desire to return to his wife, Atty. Arthur A. Wolf told Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday in asking a divorce for Elsie Helvey, 23, a press operator who lives at 1409 North Paulina street.

Judge Sabath granted the decree and awarded Mrs. Helvey custody of her daughter, Carlene, 3. Wolf explained that he visited Helvey in prison to discuss the divorce, and that the prisoner told him he was content there because he "found no peace at home." Helvey and Peter Ziemba pleaded guilty to slaying Bruno Biedrzycki, a watchman, and were sentenced July 28, 1941.

FROM THE SOUTH PACIFIC FLEET:

"...On board ship we have a lot of work that was made by the General Electric Company, and the beating that these ships take, the work must really hold up..."

IN AN ARMORED DIVISION:

"...We are told that without communication the Army couldn't fight, so please don't let any bad equipment slip through..."

AN ENSIGN GETS HIS SHIP:

"...She means more to me than most of the men because I can look back to my sojourn at the works when we tested equipment for MY ship. I never gave much thought about it then but here I am now about to run the same propulsion equipment.

"I have seen the equipment installed and have watched the dock trials. I am very pleased with the performance of the G-E work as is everybody else. If the rest of the equipment on board is as good, the Axis forces will rue December 7, 1941. She's a swell ship—one that will make history..."

FROM AN AIRCRAFT GUN TURRET:

"...It sure is good to sit in a turret and glance around and see the work put out by G-E. Quite a few units in our turrets bear the G-E Monogram. You feel safe when you turn on your power switch and know that all your electric units will work in good order..."

FROM NORTH AFRICA:

"...I have had the opportunity to work with General Electric equipment and it has stood up to the test under extreme conditions.

"Over here in this North African theatre of war we members of the amphibious force are having a very busy time of it. During this time we have yet to find equipment fail us when we really need it. We have been in two of the major invasions over here and have been subjected to relentless attacks from the air. Bombardment generally is very hard on equipment, but as yet none has failed us to the extent we have not been able to use it. I wish to say that all the fellows over here really appreciate that..."

IN THE SIGNAL CORPS:

"...I've run across quite a lot of G-E equipment, especially in radio . . . As long as the people on the home front keep pouring out such fine workmanship, we have no fear of coming out on the short end..."

NORTH AFRICA:

"...It sure shows the boys here that the G-E is behind the boys 100% and also by seeing all the equipment with the G-E label on it also shows us that the G-E is accomplishing the greatest achievements of all times, not only through quantity but also quality, which all sums up to our slogan of quantity plus quality equals victory, which has been proved here in North Africa. The boys all tell me I could be proud of working for such a great company. I told them that I already knew that..."

IN THE AIR:

"...Since I have been in the Army I have run into many G-E products, and when it has the G-E trademark on it, we Air Corps men know it's the best..."

AT SEA:

"I have seen G-E equipment everywhere I have been, and it gives me a great sense of security because I know the quality that goes into every product produced by the Company for the armed forces..."

One of the Promises Men Live By

AT THE TOP of the page is one of today's anti-Swastika symbols. There are thousands of others. Each trade-mark of an American company producing for war is such a symbol.

What makes these symbols important is what has been put into them by the men and women producing this war equipment, and the way this equipment will be used—by American boys against the Axis. But the way the men in the armed services feel about these symbols is important too.

The letters quoted in part at the left tell how some of these men—General Electric men now in the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps—feel about one of these symbols, the G-E Monogram, the trade-mark of General Electric.

Some write that the sight of the Monogram on their equipment makes them "feel safe," gives them extra confidence in their equipment that may in a moment of danger spell the margin of safety. If the Monogram can do this, then what three generations of G-E men and women have put into the Monogram—in terms of themselves, and in terms of research and engineering and workmanship—has been more than worthwhile.

We, 192,000 G-E men and women, working through holidays and vacations, are producing material today for almost every battlefront in the world. We are going to keep on producing this material to the limit of our productive capacity, to the highest of our quality standards, as long as it is needed by American boys anywhere on earth. This is no more than simple duty. But the Monogram we send along on every piece of equipment is something more. It is a message, and a promise, from us to the boy who is going to use that piece of equipment. We are glad that he understands this message. It is, God willing, a promise that he can live by. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

192,000 employees of the General Electric Company are on their jobs producing war goods and buying over a million dollars of War Bonds every week to hasten victory.

Announcing an important series of Awards for Post-War Employment Plans

AMONG AMERICANS today, there is a single aim and a single, overwhelming purpose: Victory, final and complete.

The end of the war is not yet in sight. No one knows how long its costly course will run. But its outcome, at last, is certain and inevitable . . . Victory will surely be ours.

And yet even Victory, itself, will bring a new crisis and a new challenge to America . . . a challenge which we must be ready to meet . . . Post-War Employment.

Providing jobs for the millions of men and women now serving in the Army, Navy, Marines, and the Coast Guard . . . providing new kinds of work for all the others now employed in war industries.

In recognition of the critical importance of the Post-War Employment problem; to stimulate intelligent planning for the lives and the futures of Americans everywhere; to foster and encourage constructive thinking for the fullest measure of employment after Victory . . .

Pabst Post-War Employment Awards have been established.

THEIR PURPOSE is to provoke mature and responsible discussion and to develop and assemble practical and workable plans and ideas for meeting one of the greatest single problems of the peace to come . . . and to make these plans available for the benefit of all Americans.

The Awards

will be made by the following Board of Judges:

CLARENCE DYKSTRA
President, University of Wisconsin

WESLEY C. MITCHELL
Professor of Economics, Columbia University

BEARDSLEY RUML
Chairman, Federal Reserve Bank of New York

A. F. WHITNEY
President, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen

Members of the faculty of the Economics Department of Columbia University will serve as consultants to the judges, and will also assist the judges in supervising preliminary judging to select those entries which merit consideration by the Board of Judges.

SEVENTEEN AWARDS TOTALING $50,000 WILL BE MADE AS FOLLOWS

A First Award of $25,000
(Purchase Price) in United States War Bonds

A Second Award of $10,000
(Purchase Price) in United States War Bonds

Fifteen Additional Awards of $1,000
(Purchase Price) each in United States War Bonds

Winners will have the privilege of naming the particular series of United States War Bonds they prefer.

Pabst Post-War Employment Awards will be paid by Pabst Brewing Company of Milwaukee, Wis., and Peoria, Ill., in observance of the 100th Anniversary* of the founding of its business, in the hope and belief that the offering of these Awards will encourage the American people to give serious thought to a problem which is vital to the future of our Country.

The judging of entries and all related matters will be completely independent of Pabst Brewing Company. The administrative details will be handled by the Pabst Post-War Employment Awards Committee, under the supervision of George V. Denny, Jr., Moderator, America's Town Meeting of the Air.

Submissions

must be mailed not later than February 7, 1944.

Manuscripts submitted should present a workable and practical basis for the solution of the broad problems of Post-War Employment in America.

The Awards are to be made solely on the basis of the value of the plans presented . . . not on literary merit.

After the winners have been announced, copies of the winning plans will be turned over to responsible officials of the Government. In addition, copies will be made available for study by any other agency—public or private—which concerns itself with the problems of Post-War Employment.

 Since 1844, the Pabst Breweries have grown and prospered under the American democratic system. We are grateful for our success and would like to do our share in searching out solutions to the problems which will face our nation; so that all of us may continue to live in a prosperous, peaceful, active and advancing country.*

The Rules

of the competition are as follows:

1. Every citizen of the United States of America, including members of the Armed Forces at home and abroad, is eligible to compete for the Awards, except officers or employees of Pabst Brewing Company or its subsidiaries, or its advertising agency, instructors, administrators or students in the Economics Department of Columbia University. Likewise, no member of the immediate family of any of these groups is eligible.
2. Each entrant shall submit his own plan for stimulating Post-War Employment in the United States. Each plan shall be stated in not to exceed 2,000 words. The plan may be supported by such additional material as the entrant may decide to furnish.
3. All manuscripts must be written in English on one side of the paper, preferably by typewriter. Illegible entries will be given no consideration. Each manuscript must bear the entrant's signature, his home address, and normal occupation. However, during the final judging, entries will be identified by numbers only.
   If an entry is submitted jointly by more than one person, the signature, home address and normal occupation of each of the persons must be given, and if such manuscript wins a prize the amount of the prize will be divided equally among those persons.
4. By submitting an entry in this competition, the entrant agrees to be bound by all of the provisions of these rules.
   All manuscripts and plans submitted shall become the property of Pabst Brewing Company, which shall have the right to publish the manuscript and author's name, but not to the exclusion of the author. No manuscripts will be returned.
5. Entries will be judged on the basis of the practical contribution they offer to Post-War Employment in the United States and not on literary merit.
6. Prizes, as listed elsewhere in this announcement, will be awarded as determined by the Board of Judges. The decisions of a majority of the judges shall constitute and be the decisions of the Board of Judges and shall be final, conclusive and binding upon all persons entering upon the competition.
   If the Board of Judges shall determine that two entries are tied for a particular award, each of the two entries will receive the full amount of that award. In the event of the death, resignation, inability or refusal to act of any one or more of the judges, the remaining judges may but shall not be required to select a successor or successors to fill any such vacancy.
7. Entries, to be eligible for consideration, must be mailed and postmarked not later than midnight, February 7, 1944, and, regardless of postmark, must be received not later than March 27, 1944. Neither Pabst Brewing Company nor anyone connected with the competition will be responsible for entries delayed, damaged, undelivered or lost. Address and mail entries to:

THE BRITISH FLAG IN THE GILBERTS.

The Gilbert Islands were under British mandate when the Japanese, making their cleanup in the Pacific, moved in and fortified. The islands are not related to any key positions of the British empire. Their value appends rather to the radial lines out of Hawaii. They and the Marshalls are south of Wake and if spheres of interest are to be considered they are clearly within the American. New Zealand has mandates to the south and east in Samoa and adjacent waters, an adventure which apparently satisfied some miniature imperialism, along with an inherent desire to rule over the affairs of men of a different color.

After the other war, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and Great Britain divided up the Pacific islands according to prearrangement and in spite of Mr. Wilson's protest that it was bad policy and contrary to Great Britain's prearmistice pledge. The Gilberts were lying around loose and the British picked them up. An atoll here and an atoll there are the natural increase of empire. It will be remembered that when we undertook to put some commercial installations on Canton and Enderbury Islands the British also moved in and a condominium was created—a lot of government for a small place.

A number of Americans have observed a recent incident in the Pacific war with more curiosity than understanding. The retaking of the Gilberts from the Japanese was a costly business. There were 3,772 casualties. On Tawara the marines lost 1,026 dead in seventy-six hours' fighting. Nearly 6,000 Japs were exterminated. Within a small area and within a short time one of history's most sanguinary and desperate battles was fought. The enemy thought he was too well fortified and armed to be taken. The British flag went up with the American when the islands were captured. The British resident commissioner apparently was with the American forces ready to step ashore and take over. The United States must have consented to the arrangement when the expedition was planned.

The British are not engaged in this part of the war. Australians and New Zealanders are fighting under Gen. MacArthur to eject the Japanese from the near-by Australian mandates or possessions. That's their own home fight. In the Gilberts no British commissioner was needed. The surviving natives could get along with their own chiefs under American military occupation. The incident was significant and it leads to queries.

This country is not interested in territorial gains as gains and increments. We are not in the empire business, but we do intend that there shall be new arrangements where our interests are strongly engaged. Apparently there is an assumption that we are merely restoring things as they were before the Japs ran amok.

The incident on Makin was indecent in its haste to capitalize an unearned gain, even before the American dead on the island battlefields were buried. It was tactless and needless. It seemed to sketch a pattern of things which will not find the American people acquiescent or tolerant. It high-pointed a side of the war that will have its way, we know, but the American people will dislike to have it paraded so ostentatiously before their eyes so early in the struggle. If there is an explanation which puts a fair view on the matter it would be well to have it made public officially as soon as possible. If none is volunteered there should be an investigation.

WHERE THE SOLDIERS WANT TO FIGHT.

The Inquiring Camera Girl asked half a dozen soldiers what souvenir they would like best to bring back from the war. The men interviewed were chosen at random at the service men's center. One of the soldiers was from Connecticut, another from Kansas, and the rest from intermediate states.

Five out of the six wanted to take their souvenirs away from some Jap. The thinking of the army is no different from that of the civilian population. Both recognize the Japanese as our first and most dangerous enemy. The only dissenters are the Communists and other New Dealers, who, for political reasons inimical to the welfare of America, desire to neglect the Pacific war.

LYONS FOR SENATOR.

The regular Republican organization, at a meeting of 30 northern Illinois county chairmen, indorsed the candidacy of Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville for the United States senate.

Mr. Lyons is a man whose Americanism never has wavered, even when the propaganda of Wall street and of the Communists was at its height. He faced the taunts and the scorn of the internationalists and of the fellow travelers at a time when those smear artists had not been as thoroly exposed as they have been now. He was strong in his Republicanism thru the dark period of New Deal ascendancy.

The voters who carried Republican candidates into office in Kentucky, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania by great majorities only last month have shown that they are thru with New Deal internationalism and that Americanism is the only program they will support.

The voters of Illinois have felt that way for a long time—much longer than their recently converted brothers in the eastern and southern states. That is why Richard J. Lyons will be their man.

Mr. Lyons has shown a courageous and forthright understanding of America's duty in international relations which, coupled with a long record of service to the people of Illinois, makes him an excellent choice to represent his state in the senate.

He has said that whatever decisions on international questions he may be called upon to make as a United States senator will be "solely on the basis of what is best for America." The people can begin to feel a little more secure about the fate of this country when they send men like Richard J. Lyons to Washington.

INSURANCE AGAINST CHAOS.

Every time a newspaper man asks an executive of a big corporation what his company's plans for post-war products are he is reasonably sure to get the answer, "We are only interested in winning the war."

That is a lot of baloney. Every industrial executive who is worth his salt to his stockholders and his country is doing a lot of thinking about post-war products. He is planning on paper, at least, and he is doing some physical research, altho not nearly as much as he should be doing to solve the nation's No. 1 post-war problem of reconverting industry to peace time use and thereby preventing unemployment.

Except in isolated instances, where they may be suffering from exceptionally stupid counsel on public relations, this stand is not voluntary on the part of industrial leaders. It has been forced on them by the administration. Philip Hampson of THE TRIBUNE, in a recent trip to Detroit to find out what the automobile industry has in mind for after the war, was told that the administration discourages any talk of post-war plans on the ground that it would "lower civilian morale." How it will slacken a war plant worker's ardor to know that after the war he is going to be able to buy a better automobile, and have a job making it, isn't explained, but the motor industry has often been the New Deal's whipping boy in the past, and this time it's taking no chances.

Post-war jobs and a better standard of living are not going to pop out of any huddle of Bounding Bovingdons in Washington. They are going to come from the painstaking and valiant efforts of American industry, and in particular from the laboratories in which industry strives constantly to find things that are better and can be sold to more people at a lower price. To put a stop to industrial research because we are at war is even more insane than to starve the army and navy when we are at peace.

The New Dealers loaded additional tens of billions of war debts on us because they chose to waste the national substance on leaf raking and vote buying instead of keeping up our insurance against war. Now they are trying to keep the country from taking out insurance against the equally pressing problems of peace, apparently because they hope that post-war chaos will force the country to turn to them for a solution. The country knows they haven't any solution. They can destroy and disrupt, but they cannot build or organize.

Industrial research is the best insurance the nation can have against a post-war collapse. Industry, instead of denying its interest in the subject, should be attacking it vigorously and reporting its progress proudly. If the New Dealers attempt to interfere the American people will take care of them. The country, after ten years, knows their incompetent antics for what they are.

CENSORSHIP.

[Beverly [Mass.] Evening Times.]

The Patton incident has cracked newspaper censorship in the United States. Newspaper editors are determined that henceforth their journals shall carry no lies issued by army or New Deal high commands. They are determined to print the truth, and print it they will.

For a long time only a few newspapers, notably THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, have dared to challenge the Washington dictum that the press in the United States should be a jackal press—"for the duration," as the pay roll boys naively put it. For its temerity THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE suffered abuse and worse. A Marshall Field was sent to Chicago to start a rival journal on the presses of Secretary of the Navy Knox's News. When this alleged newspaper was unable to qualify for a membership in the Associated Press, the department of justice started proceedings to wreck the Associated Press.

But the Patton incident has brought a general revulsion of feeling in the United States. Americans have had it brought home to them in striking manner what the New Deal political Nazis were attempting to do to the free press of America. And the press, too, seems to feel that it was guilty of a betrayal of the public trust when it ignored the warnings of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Anyway, the Roosevelt - Churchill - and - who - else meeting, which was to have been cloaked in the deepest, darkest secrecy until the great men were ready to permit ordinary Americans to know about it, became the joke of the country before it was "officially" announced. This was the reaction of the people and the press to the abuses of censorship in the Patton incident.

Days before the big boys released the "surprise," the Harrisburg [Pa.] Telegraph printed a three column picture of "the Mena house in Cairo, Egypt. The bulk of the great pyramid of Gizeh looms up at the left." Boake Carter—remember Boake?—said, in the Indianapolis News, that news relayed via a grapevine from Germany thru neutral European nations was to the effect that the Russian dictator and Churchill and Roosevelt would meet at the Mena house in Cairo momentarily.

Drew Pearson also spilled the news—and nobody called him a liar.

If this doesn't make a joke of continued attempts to suppress news of Roosevelt's activities, newspaper accounts of his official acts between now and the next election will do so. Newspaper editors have decided that what the occupant of the White House does from this day on is news, and that free born Americans have a right to read about it in a free press.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 26.

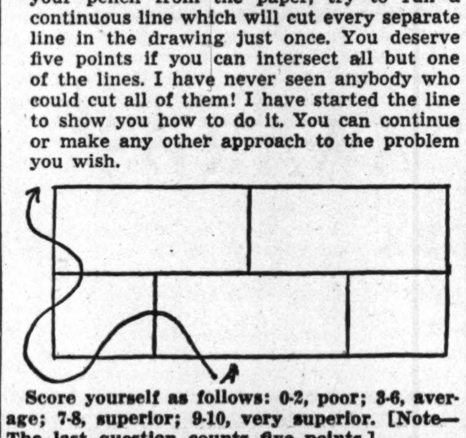
   Maple sirup Canoes Shoes Furniture
2. Which one of these temperatures is the hottest?
   —5° C. —2° F. 10° F. 18° F.
3. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Progeny Prodigy Offspring Children
4. Which one of these terms means the wiping out of a debt?
   Dissolving Watering Resolving Liquidating
5. Farina is a trade name for which one of these products?
   Food Clothing Musical instruments Paint
6. Start at point "A" below and, without lifting your pencil from the paper, try to run a continuous line which will cut every separate line in the drawing just once. You deserve five points if you can intersect all but one of the lines. I have never seen anybody who could cut all of them! I have started the line to show you how to do it. You can continue or make any other approach to the problem you wish.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

O, BRAVE NEW WORLD.

The brave new post-war world, as it is taking form on millions of blueprints, strikes us as a paradise of gadget-makers. All that this column asks, however, is good will toward men and a total absence of broken glass on the streets, pavements, and parkways. We could also do with an absence of wind-blown old newspapers, cigaret butts, and used chewing gum.

The ingenious engineers who are inventing new schemes of heating installations give us pause. We regard the old fashioned steam-coil radiator as a quick and easy method of warming up which has the advantage of quick and easy cooling down. Their tops are convertible into window seats and magazine shelves. But in the brave new world to come we must learn how to dodge the hot metal plate in the floor, with a temperature of 95 degrees, when heading toward the bathroom in bare feet.

Two learned wags from Purdue university have been holding forth on a method for human comfort that will keep the indoor temperature equal to the outdoor temperature, whether it is 100 degrees above zero or 25 degrees below. This will be called, no doubt, the Purdoodle Bug system, and we hope that it will not be perfected until the inventors have performed a lifetime of experiments upon themselves.

Then there is the one-street metropolis of the future, invented by Frank Lloyd Wright. It will be a stretch of little houses by the road all the way from the former site of Chicago to Reno, Nev. We are assigning Mr. Wright a choice 50-foot frontage in the middle of Great Salt desert.

Ah, yes, there is also television, already perfected and r'aring to go. When it reaches the domestic radio box it will consist of a few square feet of screen showing a human mug in gruesome grimaces, horribly masticating the song you don't want to hear anyway.

* * *

O, brave new post-war world! It begins to sound like the old post-war Dadaism of Germany, when poets recited crazy-cat rhymes while standing on their heads.

SNAPSHOT OF SOLDIER.

So many months of waiting and today
Your photo came, a dream in black and white,
The trim tan garrison set jauntily

There is much more of you than when you left,
Your shoulders flaunt tense muscle and your chin
Protrudes; the shining bars that hug your throat
Pronounce your rating and enhance your grin.

So many months of waiting and today
Your photo came, a dream in black and white;
Your uniform fits well, yet I just see
A little boy . . . who loved to fly a kite.

A Voice from Lake Superior.

Linemaster: You have traduced the good name of one of the finest comestibles known to man [Nov. 30]. Cristivomer Namaycush, freshly caught and properly prepared, is a delicacy fit to set before a king. Indeed, it is more than that. It is a dish fit to grace the table of Mr. American Citizen.

Ah, well, I can understand and forgive your vilification of this noble viand. You are more sinned against than sinning. I, too, have been victimized, yea, insulted, by having a mushy substance of uncertain age and flavor set before me when a local menu specified "lake trout." I believe that your theory of ancient origin is the correct explanation.

But do not, I beg of you, pronounce your final judgment on Cristivomer Namaycush until you have eaten him just a few hours after he was disporting himself in the waters of Lake Superior, or you will be denying yourself one of the finest gustatory delights this side of paradise.

SACRAMENT IN SEASON.

Under the dun sky's sad lament
Taste, now, a new, sharp sacrament;
This is a cup of wine and tears
Distilled from rich and long past years;
Pressed to the lips it is a draft
Slowly and prayerfully to be quaffed.
Wine for beauty and love at whose hest
Life has been pulsing with eager zest;
Tears for the word I no longer may speak
A wrong to right, forgiveness to seek.
He Who offers this cup has heard
Contrition's humble, whispered word,
Yea, He Who wept, but not as I,
Knows the heart's deep, unspoken cry.
This is a ritual, sharp and sweet

How to Interpret Dreams.

In the queer pattern that distinguishes gamblers from sane people are many idiosyncrasies, such as belief in charms, lucky signs, omens, dreams, and numbers. Of these, horse players have an overabundance. I know. I'm a horse player.

My sole bid for fame and fortune came one night when I dreamed of a huge seven. The next morning I saw a speeding car sidewipe a truck, run over the curbing, and tear seven pickets from a fence.

When I reached the office and opened my newspaper, my eye seemed to go automatically to the selections for the seventh race. There in seventh post position was Flibbertigibbet, an oat-burner [pardon, horse] I'd been following for years.

At last my turn had come. Fifty bucks went down on Flib at 20 to 1. It worked! My system of related incidents was consistent. Flibbertigibbet ran seventh! Rich.

Here's Webster's version of "axis":

"Things are no longer on a competitive basis," say the experts, who evidently have never tried to make the Line. Guy Finamore.

World War I. had a song or rhyme that should be short-waved to the axis leaders: "The bells of hell go ting-a-ling-a-ling—for you but not for me."

ATTACK DANDRUFF VIGOROUSLY.

DANDRUFF is a well nigh universal ailment. Unless it can be eradicated, loss of hair may follow—as many of us realize to our sorrow. We find the silvery scurf collecting on the coat collar and, when the tresses are parted, a fine comb may be able to loosen the outer layers of the cuticle.

In many instances, the difficulty begins in childhood. As a rule, however, the disorder is observed more often during puberty—when the scalp will be covered with powdery, greyish-white, dry scales. Sometimes symptoms come on so insidiously that they are not recognized, altho itching may be complained of. Among specialists, one of the starting maladies is known as "pityriasis."

At first the lesions are small, round, and widely separated. Later, as they extend, they may coalesce. After a time the flakes may change in shade, becoming yellow to brown.

Another type, seborrhea, is represented by circular areas, wherein the particles are larger and the entire head is affected. The plaques are pierced by hairs and, when they are lifted off with a comb or during a shampoo, tresses may depart simultaneously. But mere removal is not the answer as other lesions will take their place within a few days.

Careful study will show numerous invading microbes, which can be grown on culture media. The invaders will yield to proper management plus cleanliness. But the condition is so likely to remain untreated that it may settle down into a chronic state which the individual must make up his mind to live with rather than conquer.

Stubborn cases, however, may respond to a salve containing sulfur, mercury, and oil of cade. In many, the incrustations will appear oily and greasy. This means that the oil glands have become irritated and are working overtime. Tiny, bead-like organisms may be responsible. The sticky masses are always yellowish and adhere to the hair as well as the scalp. There is also a true irritation, which is revealed when the blemishes are dislodged. A red surface remains which may feel gummy to the touch.

General treatment consists in detaching the scales and allaying inflammation. This can be accomplished by the application of a sulfur ointment, followed by a shampoo or vigorous cleansing. An old remedy which is still used consists in dissolving sulfur in carbon disulfide. This has the disadvantage that it is extremely inflammable and smelly. Nevertheless, the mixture may be applied at night. The next morning, the hair is washed and dried, whereupon a sedative ointment is employed.

While soap and water are excellent disinfectants, sulfonated castor oil and isopropyl alcohol will prove advantageous. The main object is to keep the scalp immaculate and not spread the infection. Use your own hair brush and comb. When shampooing, do it with a brush or the tips of the fingers, care being taken not to injure the skin.

To put the whole matter in a nutshell, we must reduce the oil secretion with frequent baths. We must eliminate infection with a proper preparation, such as sulfur, and we may well stimulate the circulation to the parts with gentle massage or ultraviolet.

GREASING THE CHEST.

W. N. O. writes: Does the application of goose grease or lard on the chest relieve bronchial colds?

REPLY.

Probably not directly. It is a great comfort, however, and if you "heat it in" with well protected hot water bottles, the added warmth will be helpful. In like fashion, camphorated oil is a useful aid.

COLD HAND.

H. M. S. writes: My left hand is always icy. Is this due to poor circulation?

REPLY.

SHARE OF BRAINS.

D. J. writes: Does everybody have the same amount of brains?

REPLY.

The nervous tissue within the skull of the adult male weighs approximately 49 ounces; that of the female, 44 ounces. It isn't the quantity that counts. The important thing is training.

HEEL TROUBLE.

T. K. writes: A mother was told that her little son had Koehler's disease. What is this?

REPLY.

A bone in front of the heel becomes diseased or malformed. The cause may be injury or overstrain. The patient limps and complains of tenderness.

This Changing World.

[The cars of the Chicago surface lines now carry large placards, "Be a Trolley Pilot." The comment of street car crews seems to be:]

The motorman beamed
As he stood at his post.
He was not what he seemed
To the car riding host.

The controler before him
He now called his "stick"
And the run that once bored him
Now seemed a neat trick.

The street car he ran
On the Madison line
To him was transformed
To a B-29.

The conductor who once
Just helped him to run her—
He thought of him now as a
Stalwart tail gunner.

How can one reconcile it?
Why, the company now calls him

Bad Penny Comes Back.

An old play first used the expression "Too much Johnson." C. Ray Johnson, a Harvey attorney, now believes this to be only too true. Not long ago Mr. Johnson, an ardent but confused amateur cameraman, hurried over to a film store to pick up negatives of some pictures he had taken to be used on Christmas cards. The first negative, a shot of a sign bearing the words, "Holiday greetings from the C. Ray Johnsons," was terrible, and as Mr. Johnson walked unhappily from the store, he tossed it into the street.

A Mr. Vernon R. Andrews of Mundelein found the negative, was confident it was of value to its owner, and sent it to C. Ray Johnson of 3609 Belle Plaine avenue, Chicago. This Johnson sent it on to C. R. Johnson of 8016 South Evans, Chicago. It was not his, so this Johnson sent it to C. R. Johnson at 4053 North St. Louis, Chicago. Its route thereafter is uncertain, but it later went to a C. R. Johnson at 538 South Wells street. This gentleman checked the suburban directory and sent it on to its embarrassed owner, C. Ray Johnson of Harvey.

He said a man came into his optical store the other day, laid down $40, and said he wanted a Zenith radionic device. He didn't want it demonstrated, didn't even want it wrapped. He said he was going to send it to his son in the army. Ten days later he came raging back into the store and demanded his money back. He had sent his son the device. His son had tuned it for two hours, using all the controls on it, and could not even tune in on one local broadcasting station.

KENNY GETS HIS COOKIE.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—It seems as tho my son Kenny had been bothering some of the neighbors for cookies, so his mother scolded him and told him he shouldn't go begging. You see, he is only 3, so when a neighbor two doors south of us missed him she stopped him and questioned him and here is the note she sent home with him:

"Mrs. Banet,

"If we try this, maybe we can keep an eye on this young adventurer and yet not spoil his fun too much.

"I told him he would have to have your permission, so please say yes! If we make a rule of one cookie at four o'clock it won't be bad will it?

"The years when a man enjoys exploring the neighborhood cookie jars are so few and short, let me help Kenny enjoy them.

RETURNS IN DOLLARS, TOO.

Chrisney, Ind., Nov. 29.—The best investment made by the American people in the last 12 years was the money used to hold the November elections of 1943, especially in Kentucky. Already 13 billion dollars have been turned back by the army and 8 billions have been trimmed off the tax bill—21 billions in one month! Lend-lease is being revised, doles to South America and other allies are being trimmed.

It seems now we are about to save about 50 billion dollars, as a result of these elections. This much and more would have been spent had the elections gone otherwise. If the people had thought to vote this way in 1936 and 1940, they could have saved themselves at least 200 billion dollars.

Camp Grant, Ill., Nov. 27.—I was born in Canada and lived in its beautiful capital city for many years. Naturally I follow the war work of that country very closely and have taken more than ordinary interest in the accomplishments of the royal Canadian air force, the royal Canadian navy, and the valiant assistance of the Canadian army in the victories in North Africa, Sicily, and Italy.

I quite agree that the French-speaking people of Quebec could coöperate more wholeheartedly in the war, but I do not believe that is any reason why Hal Foust, in his article in THE TRIBUNE of Nov. 27, should give such a narrow and one-sided view of Canada in its fifth year of war.

Aside from a half-hearted compliment to the R. C. A. F. and the R. C. N., absolutely nothing was said of the fact that a good percentage of the bombing of German cities is being done by the R. C. A. F. and that almost half of the convoy work in the Atlantic between North America and Great Britain is being done by the rapidly growing royal Canadian navy. The production of war munitions and supplies, which for a country of Canada's population is truly magnificent, was not even mentioned.

Fort Thomas, Ky., Dec. 3.—That statement by Sen. Wheeler that Roosevelt will not seek a fourth term now in the light of Republican successes recently is, of course, gratifying to the Republican rank and file. However, it must be taken also as a warning.

The sterling American from Montana was not quite accurate when he added that no Democrat could win in 1944. Should the Republican party be coerced into nominating any internationalist as its Presidential candidate next year—Willkie, Dewey, or Stassen, for example—and the Democrats regain control of their party to nominate Wheeler, or Bennett Champ Clark, or Byrd, this old hill-billy will keep his foldin' money in his pocket and not bet on the outcome.

2 POLICE FIRED BY MERIT BOARD IN DARNELL CASE

No Defense Offered for Shooting Sailor.

Two policemen, found guilty by a jury in Criminal court of shooting and seriously wounding a sailor during a drunken spree in a north side tavern, were fired from the police force yesterday by the civil service commission.

The trial board found the two, Joseph Murray and William Hogan, both of Sheffield avenue station, guilty of charges of intoxication, conduct unbecoming a policeman, and willful maltreatment of a person. Murray, who fired the shot that struck Howard Darnell, 22 years old, of Detroit, near the heart, also was found guilty of violation of criminal law and unlawful use of a weapon. Neither defendant appeared to offer a defense.

Jury Fines Each $800.

The policemen were found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon in the court of Judge Harold G. Ward last Nov. 30. The jury, which fined the defendants $800 apiece for the crime, has been widely criticized for letting the two off with a light sentence.

The testimony before the hearing board was much the same as that given at the trial. Capt. John I. Howe of Sheffield avenue station testified both policemen were drunk when he talked to them more than five hours after the shooting occurred in a tavern at 2430 North Clark street. He said he had traced the men's visits to six saloons after they quit work.

Witness Describes Shooting.

Darnell, who spent more than a month in a hospital, told how he was accosted by Hogan and Murray as he was sitting alone at the bar about 2:30 a. m. on the morning of Aug. 31. He said that Hogan asserted he was from the federal bureau of investigation, and demanded to see Darnell's draft card. When Darnell, wearing civilian clothes at the time, countered with a demand for Hogan's credentials, the policeman struck him.

The shooting occurred, several witnesses said, when Darnell turned to leave the tavern and Murray ordered him to halt. Darnell turned and put his hands in the air. Murray then fired once and Darnell fell to the floor.

Mrs. Emily McDonald, 2258 Lincoln avenue, a 26 girl in the tavern, said she attempted to help Darnell to a chair, but Murray detained her.

CAN'T REMEMBER SLAYING GIRL, 3, SAYS SERGEANT

Denver, Colo., Dec. 8 (AP).—A 33 year old army cook insisted today he was drunk and remembered nothing about a 3 year old girl whose body was found under the kitchen sink of his suburban Englewood apartment.

The soldier, Staff Sgt. Frank Martz of Fort Logan, is charged with murdering Kathleen Ann Geist after luring her from a tavern Monday night with soft drinks and the promise of a toy rabbit.

District Atty. Richard Simon, in a statement to reporters, related:

While Kathleen's mother, Mrs. Ann Geist, 27, played a mechanical game with friends in a tavern, Martz enticed the girl to his apartment.

There "Martz struck Kathleen on her head with a blunt instrument. Some time thereafter he took a stout cord, wrapped it around the little girl's neck, choking her. He thereafter raped the little girl, evidenced by many scratches and other wounds on the body."

Officials said Martz had been a carnival and circus cook, and recently visited his wife in Aberdeen, S. D., on furlough.

100 APPLICANTS SEEKING 99 JOBS OFFERED BY OPA

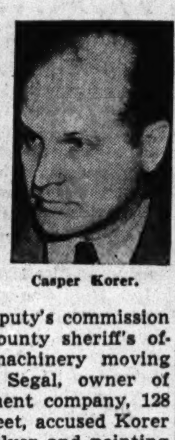
One hundred residents of the seven states comprising the regional jurisdiction of the office of price administration have applied for the 99 investigators' and analysists' jobs that will be filled within the next seven weeks, Joseph A. Connor, regional civil service director, said yesterday.

The 96 investigators' jobs will pay $3,150 to $5,209 a year, and the three analysts' jobs will pay $5,209.

Several years' experience in investigating and analytical work is required of applicants, Connor said. Each applicant will be rated, and the list turned over to OPA. Connor said each of the new employes must be approved by his office, or promoted from within the agency with his approval.

REBUKES DEPUTY FOR USE OF GUN IN BUSINESS ROW

A special deputy sheriff was warned yesterday by Judge Edward P. Luczak in Des Plaines street court not to use his gun in a private business dispute. A charge of assault with a deadly weapon and one of disorderly conduct against Casper Korer, 4321 Roosevelt road, were dismissed.



Casper Korer.

Korer, who holds a special deputy's commission from the Cook county sheriff's office, is in the machinery moving business. Myron Segal, owner of the Acme Equipment company, 128 South Clinton street, accused Korer of drawing a revolver and pointing it at him on Oct. 27 in Segal's place of business.

Each Sticks to Story.

"He pointed the gun at me and cocked it," Segal testified.

"I didn't take it out of its holster," Korer insisted.

"If you are entitled to carry a gun, don't use it to settle business disputes," Judge Luczak said as he dismissed the charges. "Don't handle a gun so freely. If you get into a business controversy settle it in the right way."

Segal testified that he purchased an automatic screw machine, which Korer delivered. He said Korer owed him $140 from previous business transactions, and Segal insisted on deducting that amount, offering an employe of Korer's a check for the balance. Segal said the offer was refused, that Korer telephoned, and shortly afterward came to his place and declared he was going to take the machine.

Leaves Ahead of Police.

"I told him he couldn't do that, and then he pulled the gun, cocked it, and pointed it at me," Segal testified. "I called police, but he left before they arrived."

Korer testified he did not owe Segal anything, and that Segal's brother, Jack, picked up an iron bar. The latter corroborated Myron Segal's story.

Panama and Canal Zone Report Big Gas Saving

20,000 REJECTED BY ARMY FACING 2D EXAMINATION

Twenty thousand Illinois draft registrants who have been rejected for military service because of inguinal hernia are to be reëxamined, Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, said yesterday. He predicted that about 13,000 would be found available for service because of changes in physical standards.

Draft registrants who have inguinal hernia and who are without means can obtain surgical and hospital treatment free under Gov. Dwight H. Green's rehabilitation program. Information may be obtained from local draft boards or the Cook county office of consultation, room 730, 105 West Monroe street.

Registrants who undergo treatment will be given three months to recover fully before they are called for military service. Armstrong urged registrants to obtain the free treatment for the sake of their health after completion of military service.

Sally Offers a Way to Spread Holiday Cheer

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Because our attention is concentrated on the war and the men who are fighting it—our surplus money donated to services for them and their families—there has been a natural curtailment of the intensive Christmas activities of other years. The old fashioned Christmas basket donation is not possible because of food rationing, and because of increased employment the need for it has lessened.

The fact remains, however, that there still are needy families, persons whose lives have not been altered by the new-found prosperity. On the contrary, those dependent on relief allowances, pensions, or state aid are finding that the increased cost of living has made such limited incomes even less likely to cover basic needs. Into this category fall the children of the thousands in our public institutions—the sanitariums, the asylums, the prisons, and youngsters deserted or orphaned—those whose homes are broken by illness or death.

For years many of our readers have wished to share their Christmas giving with such of these and have come to this department for suggestions. Some readers feel that Christmas is essentially a children's day, others are especially interested in elderly folks. Especially busy men and women frequently supply funds, and ask that the shopping and planning be handled thru this office.

To all readers interested in Christmas giving of any kind we can offer helpful suggestions, and names and addresses. Thru the cooperation of the Council of Social Agencies and its member agencies we are equipped to channel requests to the proper source, depending on the wishes of the donor, but we ask that plans be made immediately.

Let Children Express Love Thru Giving

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If your children are quite young, you've probably been interested in the subject we've been talking about in this column for the last few days: Children and their wavering belief in Santa Claus, or its actual disappearance.

At first, I was going to say that today's subject would be of concern chiefly to parents of little boys and girls. On second thought, it may interest mothers whose children are much older, since they are apt to be going thru the normal phase of being absorbed in their own affairs, and it will be wholesome for them to emerge for this holiday—and give themselves over to thoughts of others.

When the belief in Santa Claus vanishes, we must admit that some of the "magic" of Christmas vanishes, too, but none of the real beauty of Christmas is lost. For this season is one of loving and giving, and no child is too young or too old to express that Christmas spirit. Incidentally, this is one of the reasons why I have always thought that children should know from whom their gifts come, for then they see love expressing itself in one more way.

But by the same token, I believe they should be led, or allowed, to express their love for others, too, in tangible ways. It is not only good for them spiritually, but it gives them a special kind of pleasure to buy or make gifts or Christmas cards for their nearest and dearest, and even save from their allowances with that in mind.

Women in War Work

Assigned to the public relations office of the coast guard in Chicago, Ensign Barbara E. Granite has the extra job of handling the bond allotments made by men and women of the coast guard in the 9th naval district.

Ensign Granite, who joined the service in August, the same month her brother, Richard, joined the navy, "inherits" her enlistment in the women's reserve from her mother, Mrs. Rose Granite, who was a navy "yeomanette" in the last war.

Mrs. Granite, who resides in Los Angeles, is working in an aircraft factory while her children serve in navy blue.

Ensign Granite is a Los Angeles woman. Before enlisting she taught school in Gonzales, Cal. She was graduated from San Jose State college, where she majored in art and education.

The Red Cross production unit of the Continental Casualty company, 910 South Michigan avenue, today is turning over to the Chicago chapter production corps 1,200 toys and scores of other articles.

The gift items, which were made evenings by the 200 members of the unit, with the help of masculine personnel of the company, will go to needy children of service men who have been designated by the Red Cross home service corps.

Miss Peg Hinkamp, whom her co-workers have dubbed "Major," is chairman of the Continental unit, whose Christmas workers have included virtually everybody in the company, from the president down to the last office boy. Miss Hinkamp's vice chairman is Miss Eloise Huneryager.

Included in the collection of toys are 24 cradles made by one of the men members of the firm. All the wooden toys, which include trains, tanks, and ships, were made by men, while calico toys, dolls, doll clothes, and children's garments were created from scrap fabrics brought from home by the women of the unit.

The officers of the Chicago Woman's club are formulating plans to keep the club's lounge on the fifth floor of the Fine Arts building open evenings from 5 until 9 o'clock, with younger members taking turns acting as hostesses for service men. The club also is taking an active part in the city-wide program of providing gifts for soldiers and sailors, and a large receptacle to hold donations has been placed in the club rooms.

The Jewish welfare board of the Highland Park U. S. O. club will sponsor a party for service men tomorrow at the clubhouse, 21 North Green Bay road in the suburb. Country dancing will be a feature of the evening.

Marriage Told of Sally White, W. A. Robinson

Beverly, Mass., Dec. 8 [Special].—Just a few weeks after his divorce from Florence Crane Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Robert P. Crane Jr. of Chicago and Ipswich, William Albert Robinson, author, explorer, and now builder of submarine chasers for the government at his Ipswich shipyards, took a new bride, twice wedded Sally Lancashire White McClellan. The former Mrs. Robinson only a few weeks ago married a Russian prince, Sergei Belosselsky, in New York City after having been given a divorce in Reno and the custody of her 4 year old son, Christopher Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Laurence White, parents of the new Mrs. Robinson, said tonight there had been no announcement of the marriage made and none had been planned. Mr. White said that the couple was married in New York on Nov. 23, but he did not know where the ceremoney took place.

The new Mrs. Robinson has been living in New York for the past two years and having an apartment there. Her principal interest of late has been working as a nurses' aid in a New York hospital.

Chester H. Dalrymple of Hinsdale has announced the marriage of his daughter, Elizabeth, to Arthur James Hewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hewitt of Harper avenue. The wedding took place at noon on Dec. 4 in the Country Church of the City.

Mrs. John Collins of Glenview announces the marriage on Nov. 6 in St. Gertrude's church of her daughter, Lucille Mary, to Edward J. Murray Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray of Rosemont avenue. Mr. Murray and his bride are at home in Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Ardath H. Robinson of New York to Capt. Donald C. Haldeman of Nassau, Bahamas, is of interest here because the bride is the former Mrs. Samuel Dickey Gold of Chicago and Miami Beach, Fla. The ceremony took place on Nov. 30 in Nassau, where Capt. Haldeman and his bride will live for the duration. Before the war he made his home in Paris.

McDowell, Despite Some Faults, Proves to Be a Good Pianist

When you attend a debut recital by a young singer, you are taking a chance. If, however, it is a young pianist who has induced you to buy a ticket, the odds are in your favor. Seemingly there are no more bad pianists. Robert McDowell, despite some faults of youth, is better than average and may no doubt be considered the cream of the local crop since his appearance at Kimball hall last night was the result of a screening process in the shape of a Society of American Musicians' contest. Providing, of course, that one has faith in contests.

Mr. McDowell is a clean fingered youngster whose musical ideas invariably fall into the neatest of patterns. That is at once his greatest advantage and his greatest drawback. An immaculate technic and a clear-thinking, unflurried brain are incalculable assets to any musician. They do not by themselves, however, guarantee an audience's interest. Too often one felt that Mr. McDowell's interpretations, unassailable as they were in intention, were more like pencil sketches that awaited the heavier brush strokes of color. Greater warmth and depth of tone, which he will surely acquire, will make him a pianist to be taken far more than casually.

Even in his present state of development there was much that was enjoyable in his recital. A. G.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Quite a Gal.

"She's quite a gal!" That's the way her friends describe her.

She's tall and slender . . . wears suits most of the time with lapel pins—that tailored concession to femininity.

She's brown eyed, friendly, and smart.

An early Sunday morning golfer, she then cooks delicious waffles and bacon—after 18 [or 36] holes on the course.

Hers is a splendid job in charge of radio advertising for a drug chain where they shorten her name, Laurebell Schutt, to Lauri.

Lauri came up the white collar way. She went to the University of Illinois and majored in drama. After that she decided to see what the radio field offered. It didn't offer so very much at that moment—in fact, Lauri's first job in radio was something on the order of general handy woman at a salary of $2.50 a week! However, after leaving that station she became assistant program director at another station with several programs of her own. And then she came to Chicago for a job as program director, from which she went to an advertising agency job.

But this is the interesting thing about Lauri—she can cram more into 24 hours than any woman alive! Still interested in drama, she is writing a couple of plays. But that's not enough for her boundless energy, so before her husband went into the navy she established her own Little Theater for service men at 879 North State street. She calls it the Chicago Victory Players. Her idea was to give the service men in Chicago a chance to take part in theater work on their off duty hours.

At present Lauri is bouncing along and the service men are having a lot of fun with "drama." She directs the productions and currently is hard at work on a dramatization of "Kitty Foyle," the story of the white collar girl who had a slight tilt with main line Philadelphia.

Let Me At 'Em.

O, seldom do I scream or shout
And seldom do I hiss,
But only do I ask of Fate
A little boon, just this:
That somehow, some day I may meet
The loathsome, lowly churls
Who dream a 48 hour week
For us white collar girls!

SUE.

High Time.

"With more and more women coming into executive positions, requiring them to sign letters for business firms, isn't it high time that something be done to facilitate the use of proper designations? How quickly the situation could be remedied if all business establishments would rule that their female letter writers should use the customary designation—Mrs. or Miss—typed below their actual signature or placed in the lower left hand position where the dictator's initials frequently appear."—From Life Office Management association bulletin.

New Lutheran Group Hears Talk Tonight by Dr. N. M. Ylvisaker

Dr. N. M. The association of Lutheran laymen in all Lutheran groups of the metropolitan area was organized to promote the interests of the Lutheran service center, 65 East Randolph street.

RECIPE

KNOX SPREAD

Make ½ lb. Spread with ¼ lb. of Butter

1 teaspoonful Knox Gelatine
1 tablespoonful cold water
¼ pound butter
¼ teaspoonful salt
½ cup fresh milk or evaporated milk

1. Soften gelatine in cold water. (If fresh milk is used, soften gelatine in 1 tablespoonful milk, instead of cold water.) Dissolve thoroughly over hot water.

2. Cut butter into small pieces and heat over hot water until soft enough to beat, but do not melt the butter.

3. Add dissolved gelatine and salt to the milk (having milk at room temperature). Gradually whip milk into butter with a Dover (or rotary) egg beater or electric mixer, until milk does not separate. Add coloring, if desired.

4. Pack into dish or container and place in refrigerator until hard. Keep in refrigerator when not in use.

Note: To make 1 lb. spread with ½ lb. butter, follow same directions, but double ingredients called for in ¼ lb. recipe.

Note: The above recipe may also be used with Oleomargarine, as well as with ½ butter and ½ Oleomargarine combined.

Edward Morrises Give a Tea Celebrating Helen Swift Book

BY JUDITH CASS.

A QUIET but none the less delightful tea yesterday afternoon in the Lake Shore drive apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris celebrated the publication of the most recent work of Mr. Morris' mother, Mrs. Francis Neilson, "Zack Jones, Fisherman, Philosopher." It is the story of a Wisconsin guide whom Mrs. Neilson first met as a young girl while on a house party at Lake Geneva, Wis. Later she and her children spent many happy and profitable hours with Zack, which is a fictitious name. Tho he could neither read nor write, his outlook on life was treasured by the author, and will bring pleasure and comfort to countless others, now that it is on record.

Mrs. Neilson's only "child" present at yesterday's gathering was the host. His brother, Maj. Nelson Morris, and his French born wife recently have moved to Washington, D. C. Their sisters, Dr. Ruth Morris Bakwin, who is on the pediatric staff of the New York infirmary and on the staff of the Bellevue hospital, and Dr. Muriel Morris Gardiner, live in New York and Pennington, N. J., respectively. Mrs. Neilson writes under her maiden name of Helen Swift, to prevent confusion in the family, as Mr. Neilson also is an author.

"My Father and My Mother," which was published in 1939 and tells the story of Mrs. Neilson's parents, the first Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, and parts of the new book will be reviewed by Florence Bourke Ellis next Wednesday morning at the Blackstone in the regular Wednesday book review series there. Other members of the family present yesterday to congratulate Mrs. Neilson and to view the only copy of "Zack" until then available in Chicago were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles H. Swift; Mrs. Alden B. Swift, whose husband was a nephew of the author, and the Morrises' youngest son, Nelson. Another son, Bill, is in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Morris are hoping that the eldest boy, Edward Jr., a sergeant in the army, will be at home from Camp Chaffee for Christmas.

When asked if she had more books planned, Mrs. Neilson confessed that she "had a few wild ideas." "I have the material for a cookbook," she said, "and also for a series of nature studies for children." Among the amusing anecdotes the author contributed yesterday was one concerning the time her husband, a serious writer, made a bet that he could write a murder

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

This small, smart hat for the midwinter wardrobe features delectable pink feathers attached to a skull fitting topper. The veil is a vivid mesh of cerise. The double mesh pattern is probably the most flattering offered in a mesh design. It is available in a Chicago store.

Women Invest $847,915 in 'Buy a Bomber' Drive

Almost three times the amount set by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs for its recent "buy a bomber" campaign was raised during the war bond drive, the board of managers was told yesterday by Mrs. Charles W. Stigman, war service chairman. With $300,000 for their goal, the club women of the state purchased $847,915.25 worth of bonds and stamps from Oct. 1 to Nov. 15, Mrs. Stigman reported. The federation leaders are assembled here for their mid-winter business meeting. Mrs. Walter M. Rennie is presiding at the conference, which opened yesterday and will continue thru today.

Hat Trick with Veils Affords Eye-Line Chic

BY REA SEEGER.

The way of a maid with her hat and veil proclaims individuality, imagination, and the sense of the eternal fitness of things. The color, shape, and size of a hat plus the fabric govern the selection of the "just right" veil. With a hat of fur, veiling should be the discreet stuff that flatters and softens the brow and face without obliterating the fur. Small hats can be dramatized with a veil of spectacular beauty, such as fine mesh veils with popcorn size dots of chenille, either the same shade as the veil or of subtle contrast.

Another good trick is with color. A chartreuse veil or a bronze colored veil are two grand accents for a mink hat or coat. A vivid pink veil works magic with a blue hat or a hat of bronze green. A sleek, black satin hat needs the allure of taupe mesh either fine or coarse. A white satin hat needs but a mist of black, brown, or gray veiling to best dramatize the sheen and shine of the satin; altho with winter white satin hats, all vivid colors and neutrals and pastels are delightful wisps with which to play the game of eye-line flattery.

Fine patterned veilings are nostalgic reminders of lovely French veilings of past history. The telling double meshes, like the hat and veil illustrated, are dateless and do much for soft little hats. Veils glimmering like fireflies in daylight and shining even more under artificial lights are abundant now. Three, or even more lengths of fine veiling wrapped festively make one of the most appreciated gifts for any woman no matter how many the birthdays.

Service Men's Display of Art to Open Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

It is a far cry from the fields of war to the quiet little gallery at the Art institute where an arts and skills exhibition by convalescent service men opens today. The art in war gallery is filled with water colors and oils, with cases of beautifully woven bags, and cases filled with "macaroni belts," which are simply attractive wool belts woven over raw macaroni. In another case is an exquisite pair of baby shoes and intriguing moccasins, the work of Thomas Pavey of Battle Creek, Mich., who served in the navy as a 2d class seaman.

Large and amusing murals by Arnold A. Hoye, another seaman 2d class, decorate the walls. These will be installed in the game room of the recreation building at Great Lakes. The water colors and drawings are by various men and are as diversified in subject as in technique. They are chiefly of interest as having provided a few hours of pleasure for the men who painted them. This first harvest of handicrafts by wounded men carries more than the suggestion of a tear.

The arts and skills program is an activity of the Red Cross. All teaching and supervision are handled by volunteer professional artists and craftsmen of the Chicago area, as the men whose work this is are patients from Gardiner General Army hospital and the Naval hospital at Great Lakes. Mrs. Walter S. Brewster is chairman of the exhibition committee and her assistants are Mrs. Marjorie Thorsch and Miss Katherine Grace.

Two other exhibitions open today at the Art Institute. In the room of Chicago art four painters are represented. A''ce Mason shows several decorative flower pictures; Fritzi Brod shows romantic folk portraits with interesting backgrounds and landscapes, one with a church front being particularly impressive. Joshua Kaganove has several dark and discouraged canvases setting themselves up as the perfect foil for the rather pale pink and liquid conceptions of Dan Palumbo.

An exhibition of old Polish folk woodcuts opens this afternoon in the print galleries of the Art institute. The woodcuts are amusing and quaint. A group of paper cut-outs are colorful and decorative and a case of molds for Christmas cookies is delightful.

WOW Post 25 Gives $2,200 for Repair of Naval Armory's Pool

One hundred fifty members of the WOWs [Women Ordnance Workers] went down to the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street Tuesday night to provide a program of vaudeville acts. But they didn't let the matter go with mere entertainment. They topped off the evening by presenting a check for $2,200 to Lt. Comdr. John Gordon Maxwell to be used for retiling the armory swimming pool. The girls are from WOW post 25, Stewart-Warner employes. They raised the fund at dances and parties given since last June.

Thru the Looking Glass

We're not supposed to fight colds nowadays. We must prevent them if we possibly can, but once the devilish germs have moved in, we're supposed to give in—to isolate ourselves and crawl immediately into bed. To do anything else is to endanger the health of many others.

You'll notice when you get a bad cold that your hair and skin immediately reflect your sickness; hair seems to lose its luster over night, and skin takes on a gray color, and a dryness that not only adds to your misery but is, unless you take precautions, a lingering sign of it.

When you are treating yourself for a cold, doing all the things the doctor tells you to do and getting plenty of rest, give yourself some special beauty care, too. While you lie miserably in your bed, coat your skin with the richest cream you have on your shelves. You'll find your skin will lap it up, because your cold has sapped it of so much of the natural oil that normally keeps it smooth and soft.

This creaming will mean a fast recovery for your skin when your cold is over and done with; the redness and roughness won't linger. Occasionally, during your convalescence, use eye packs, too—you'll find them restful and soothing both to your spirits and the inflamed area.

'Courage Stout' . . . . . By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1943: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS: At the funeral of Stuart Lane, Austin Reynolds, cattleman, is accused by the rustlers of ambushing Lane. Jess Blackburn tries to incite the men to violence, but Neal MacGowan, who plays a lone hand, averts trouble. Reynolds accuses Neal of being the leader of the cattle thieves and outlaws. From Janet, Neal learns her father had no personal enemies, but in returning from Squaw creek he was unusually absorbed. Tracing the tracks of Lane's wagon, Neal finds tracks of four horses heading for Rustlers' gap. The Sheridan stage had been held up and the messenger killed the day before Lane was murdered. Neal follows the tracks to the gap, talks to Allan Dunn and Jess Blackburn and discovers Nelson Gurley has been hurt. In his anxiety to incriminate Reynolds, Blackburn casts suspicion upon himself. Neal visits Reynolds and questions him. Eleanor, Reynolds' sister, is attracted. They agree to befriend Janet Lane, but Janet rejects their friendship. As they leave, Janet is shot. Austin dresses her wounds and they take her to their home. Neal gets a United States marshal's badge and goes to the gap to bring back Blackburn. He tells Cad Clemson he suspects Jess Blackburn of the murder of Lane and the shooting of Janet. Cad tells him where he will find Blackburn. Caught in lies, Blackburn's friends desert him, and as he is about to be taken prisoner, Neal is forced to shoot Blackburn in self-defense. Riding out of the gap a great boulder crashes in front of Neal. This he believes to be the work of Cad. Janet recovers. Eleanor is anxious to know what Neal's real feeling for Janet is. A romantic duel between Eleanor and Neal ends in a kiss that stirs them both. Riding in the gulch, Neal meets some cattlemen, one of whom implies he is a crook. Neal forces Cross to retract the inference. A raid, a challenge to the cattlemen from the rustlers, is staged. Two rustlers, pursued by cattlemen, appeal to Janet and Neal for aid. They hide young Russ Miller, wounded, in a haystack, and lend Dagwell a horse.

INSTALMENT XXII.
SHERIFF'S POSSE.

Dagwell's eyes narrowed in concentration as he looked across the sage flats to the Antelope hills.

He rode back to the house, picked up the rein of the pinto, and splashed thru the creek.

Neal joined Janet again, the pup capering beside him as he went.

"Is the boy all right?" Janet asked. "You don't think his wound is dangerous, do you?"

"Not too bad." He looked at the stained rags. "You'd better burn these in the stove."

She put kindling beneath the cloth and got rid of the evidence. "They are fugitives from the sheriff?" she asked.

"Not from the sheriff, from the cattlemen," he corrected.

"What have they done?"

He told her of the raid and of the man they had left wounded.

She did not ask him to elaborate.

"I hope they don't find them," she said in a low voice.

It was what Neal hoped himself, but he gave her his friendly derisive grin. "Now, look here, girl, you're not going over to the side of the rustlers, are you? Austin Reynolds wouldn't approve of that. They are miscreants, you know, and in this fight between honest men and thieves you have to come clean for the right."

Janet knew he was teasing her to take her mind from thinking of the possible impending tragedy.

"Back home you don't have to worry about what is right and what is wrong. You can tell. But out here they get so mixed."

"They are probably mixed back there, too, but in Ohio you don't accept personal responsibility for the punishment of crime. You turn it over to the police and wash yore hands of it. Sometimes we can't do that out here."

"I suppose that's true," the girl agreed. "But I don't like it. I wish it wasn't that way. You don't think that poor boy they shot deserves to—to have his life taken, do you?"

"Put yoreself in the place of the cattlemen. They can't send him to prison. A rustler's jury won't convict him, or even a jury that has some decent homesteaders on it. The ranchmen must either turn him loose to steal more of their stock—or they must rub him out."

"Isn't there any other way to punish him?"

Neal had to admit that he didn't know of any.

Five men rode up to the fence at the Lane place. One dismounted to open the poor man's gate. Neal recognized the leader as Sheriff Cullen. He was past 40, face plump and soft and pink, bones well cushioned with fat.

He bowed to Janet, who was waiting on the porch, fear fluttering thru her. Neal was standing beside her.

"Howdy, Miss Lane! Howdy, MacGowan! I'm lookin' for some fellows who raided the Bar A B range and druv off a bunch of cows. I don't reckon you've got 'em hid in yore vest pocket, MacGowan, have you?"

Neal laughed at the pleasantry. He was willing just now to be amused at even a feeble joke. "I saw you in the valley as I came along the ridge. Know yet who the fellows are you're hunting?"

"No more than a rabbit. I reckon they made a clean getaway. You're lookin' pert as a new painted wagon, Miss Lane. Glad you recovered so nice from yore accident."

"Thank you, Mr. Cullen. Won't you sit down in the shade? I expect you are thirsty. I'll get a bucket and a dipper, if one of your young men will go to the creek and bring back some cool water."

The sheriff lowered himself carefully into the chair, choosing a position not too painful. "Much obliged, Miss Lane. Bill, you are young and spry. I reckon you wouldn't mind bringing Miss Lane a bucket of water."

Bill Brock picked up the bucket and walked down to the creek. He was a thick set man with a harsh, sullen face, a stock detective in the employ of the association. Most men avoided being too familiar with him, for he was suspected of being the man who had shot from ambush the rustlers Thorne and Norwood.

While they drank Neal made talk cheerfully. "It's certainly hot for this time of year. We could do with a good soaking rain."

"You've said it," the sheriff agreed. He added irritably: "No sense in me combing the sage hills for these birds now. They've done gone into their hole and pulled it after them."

"Sounds reasonable," Neal assented.

The misnamed Eleanor was doing a good deal of yelping, most of the time at a young fellow in the posse who kept teasing him. Occasionally he varied his performance by racing over to the haystack and barking there.

"He was chasing a rabbit a while ago," Neal observed. "It ran over that way. He thinks it went into the haystack."

"A dog has a mighty fine life," the sheriff ruminated aloud, shifting in his chair to ease the saddle sores.

The sound of a rifle shot whipped across the sage flats. An instant later, like a fainter echo of it, came a second explosion.

"What's that?" Cullen asked, sitting up in the rocker.

The young man who had brought the water from the creek answered grimly, "It ain't thunder."

"Don't you reckon we better drift over and see what's doing?" one of the posse asked.

Cullen was comfortable where he was, for the first time in hours. "Might of been a hunter," he suggested.

"Shootin' first with a Winchester an' then with a pistol," Brock replied with obvious sarcasm.

"Whatever it was, it has died down," the sheriff answered. "No use going over there now. Still and all, if some of you boys want to run over——"

Brock interrupted bluntly. "We're huntin' a bunch of rustlers who shot down poor Sol Basset. I don't care whether you go, but I aim to find out what the trouble is over there. How about you boys?"

The others agreed the shooting ought to be investigated.

Cullen eased himself out of the chair reluctantly. All his movements were made with exasperating deliberation.

"Maybe we'll get going again some time today," Brock said curtly.

The sheriff hoisted himself to the seat, his motions as graceful as those of a hippopotamus.

Story of Ted Lewis, as Told on Screen, Has Audience Appeal

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?"

A Columbia picture; directed by Charles Barton; featuring Ted Lewis, Michael Duane, Nan Wynn, and Larry Parks; presented at the Oriental.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

An ordinary, pleasing little "B" picture with the war influence.

It's like this:

Ted Lewis [himself], while playing an engagement at the Bal Tabarin in San Francisco, is invited to an army camp. . . . Here he meets the son of an old vaudeville entertainer who loves a lass but refuses to marry her for fear he may return invalided from the war. . . . Ted tells a story. It is his own. But not until its finale does he reveal the fact. . . .

And so—fadeout to 1915—and thru the years back to the present. It's an interesting little yarn, starred with well remembered songs and, in its customs and costumes memories of other days. . . .

Michael Duane as the young Ted Lewis does a nice job, Nan Wynn makes a lovable heroine, and other roles are capably handled. The director made considerable of his material. The piece is just long enough.

See you soon.

According to Culbertson

Some of the problems posed at the bridge table are so baffling that failure to solve them reflects no discredit. When they are solved, however, it is a very pretty exhibition of super bridge. For example:

South, dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West made his normal opening of the club six. Dummy ducked; East put up the king and returned the nine. West covered South's jack and was permitted to hold the trick.

Now, at this point almost every player in the West position would eagerly continue the clubs, on the theory that East might have the diamond ace. West could then regain the lead with a spade and rattle off enough clubs to make the opponents sick of the whole thing.

What actually would have happened, however, if West had knocked out the club ace, would have been far less pleasant for the defenders. Indeed, declarer was fervently hoping for just that play, so that he could discard his horrible ace of diamonds! That blocking card out of the way, everything would be absurdly simple.

This particular West, however, did not lead a third club. He thought matters over carefully and concluded that the chance of East's holding the diamond ace was virtually nil. After all, South had gone to three no trump without the semblance of a club stopper, and without great strength in spades. Was it conceivable that he had done all that bidding without the diamond ace? West decided that it was not conceivable, hence he defiantly shifted to a diamond—and that was declarer's finish!

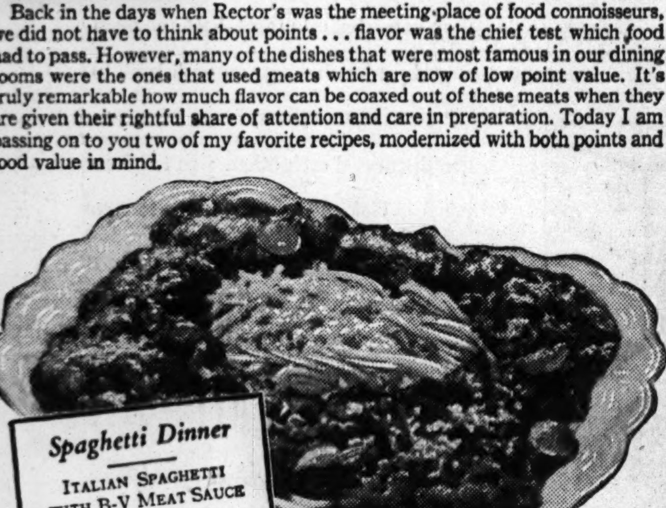
WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

LOW-POINT MEATS HIGH IN FLAVOR

Back in the days when Rector's was the meeting-place of food connoisseurs, we did not have to think about points . . . flavor was the chief test which food had to pass. However, many of the dishes that were most famous in our dining rooms were the ones that used meats which are now of low point value. It's truly remarkable how much flavor can be coaxed out of these meats when they are given their rightful share of attention and care in preparation. Today I am passing on to you two of my favorite recipes, modernized with both points and food value in mind.



Spaghetti Dinner

Italian Spaghetti with B-V Meat Sauce
Pear Salad
Hard Rolls Olives
Baked Custard
Peanut Butter Cookies
Milk Coffee

In making spaghetti today the trick is to stay within your meat points and at the same time serve it forth with Italian sauce that even a Caruso would approve. In the old days gourmets usually used large amounts of meat in the sauce. Let's see what a half pound will do and incidentally, I predict that this sauce will take a permanent place in all spaghetti schemes henceforth.

Italian Spaghetti

1 clove garlic, sliced
4 cups tomatoes
1 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp mace
4 whole cloves
½ bay leaf
2 tsp. Wilson's B-V
½ lb. hamburger
1 onion, chopped
3 tbsp. bacon drippings
1½ tbsp. flour
½ cup sliced mushrooms
2 stalks celery, sliced
1 pkg. spaghetti (8 oz.)
½ cup grated cheese

Simmer garlic, tomatoes, and next four ingredients, covered, for ½ hr. Strain. Dissolve Wilson's B-V in 2 tbsp. hot liquid and add to first mixture. Brown meat and onion in fat, stir in flour, add celery, mushrooms and tomato mixture and simmer 15 min. Meanwhile boil whole spaghetti in salted water 10 to 15 min. until just barely tender. Drain, rinse with hot water drain again. Serve hot sauce over spaghetti. Sprinkle grated cheese over top. Serves 6.

Tasty Vitamins

Here's a dish that's really delicious. And is it plenty nutritious, what with both pork liver and sausage in it! The meat supplies large amounts of protein, iron, Vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. One serving insures almost a day's needs of iron and Vitamin A.

Liver and Sausage Loaf

1 tsp. Wilson's B-V
½ cup boiling water
1 tsp. grated onion
½ lb. Wilson's Certified Pork Sausage
½ lb. pork liver, ground
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 tbsp. ketchup
1 tbsp. horseradish
1 egg, beaten

Dissolve B-V in the hot water and mix well with remaining ingredients. Bake in an oiled loaf pan 1¼ hours, 325° F. Serves 6.

Besides being nutritious, Wilson's B-V spreads an indescribably good, richly delicious flavor throughout any main dish. Use it, too, to add delicious meat flavor to gravy, soup, and casserole dishes.

Yours for flavorful nutrition,
GEORGE RECTOR

Serve Roast Goose or Duck on Christmas

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you had turkey for Thanksgiving, you probably would just as soon have duck or goose for Christmas dinner. Duck and goose meat is much richer than turkey, but it doesn't go as far, and these birds aren't quite as easily carved into neat servings as the plump breasted turkey.

A four or five pound duck [market weight, head and feet on, picked but undrawn] will serve four persons. Allow 1½ pounds per person, market dressed weight, if you plan to serve goose. A 12 pound goose should serve eight.

To make your duck or goose look pretty when it comes to table, ask the dealer to make openings as small as possible. Cut the neck skin down the back, loosen the skin, then cut off neck, close to body. Neck skin can be tucked under the bird during roasting. Wing tips may be cut off at the first joint. These parts may be cooked with the giblets for gravy.

The dressing which is suitable for chicken or turkey often is quite unsuitable for duck or goose. No fat of any kind should be used in duck or goose stuffing. Dripping fat from the bird will be sufficient. Many persons prefer to fill the body cavity with quartered apples, apples and prunes, sliced orange, or apple and orange. Sometimes a stalk of celery is also placed in the fowl. If bread dressing is used, it often is moistened with citrus fruit juice.

Fill duck or goose loosely with stuffing, and fill neck, too, turning neck skin under the bird, where it may be skewered. Sew or skewer the body opening. Loop a cord around the legs, tighten so that legs are about three inches apart, and tie.

Now comes a step which is different from any used in roasting chicken or turkey. With a fork, skewer or needle, prick the skin well, especially around wings, legs and tail. This will allow much of the fat to escape during roasting.

Be sure to save all this fat, which is excellent for cooking purposes. Drain off the drippings at intervals during the roasting, especially if it's a goose you're cooking.

The oven temperature should be 325 degrees. Do the roasting at a constant temperature, with no cover on the pan. If you like, duck or goose may be basted with orange or cranberry juice during last hour of roasting. Fat should be drained from the pan before the basting is begun. Either of these juices will add interest to the gravy.

Roast a duck from 30 to 35 minutes to the pound, a goose 25 to 30 minutes.

For tips on carving the Christmas bird, see "Easy Lessons in Carving," an illustrated booklet which shows how to carve various meats and poultry. The booklet will be mailed for 7 cents in stamps. Address orders to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Suitable gifts for service men and women will be brought to the party by club members.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8—"Yale at War" will be Johnny Considine's next at Metro. It's the transition of the happy-go-lucky Yale life before war to the present serious naval training for officers' commissions. Considine, a Yale grad of 1921, goes back to confer with the big boys after the holidays. There's something about a Yale man—O, come now, Hopper—no more about your pets! . . . You'd think Betty Hutton was a whirling dervish. Who says she's not? Sam Coslow's first at Paramount will be a musical for her in color—"Out of This World." When Hutton finishes "Life of Texas Guinan," she does one with Mark Sandrich, Alan Ladd, and Sonny Tufts. Why, even Paulette Goddard can't get that deal. She only got Tufts. Betty plays a WAVE. Then squeezed in between all of these, she'll do "Stork Club." . . . Didn't do Steve Cochran any harm to come to the coast with Connie Bennett in "Without Love." Sam Goldwyn grabbed him on a termer. . . . Nice teaming, Louis Calhern and Annabella for the Theater Guild play "Jacobowsky and the Colonel." . . . Sid Skolsky says Greta Garbo may be in Warners' "Hollywood Canteen." Why Garbo won't even come down off her hilltop to visit the real canteen and say hello to the fellows. . . . Sorry to hear that Irvin S. Cobb is seriously ill in New York.

Annabella.

Betty Hutton.

In There Pitching.

Pat O'Brien gave an impression of Knute Rockne on the Halls of Montezuma show which marines have been doing for 72 weeks, and a good job, too. Four men only give it all their time, the rest of the fellows give up their liberty to work on it. Glenn Ford is a regular member, and Bill Lundigan's working on it. Pat's speech was so good Col. George T. Hall has arranged for recruits in boot camp to listen to a transcription of it. . . . Now Eric Blore threatens to walk out of the Follies and away from Milton Berle. Arthur Treacher escaped six months ago. . . . Martha Raye knows she's not the pin-up type, so she's sending pictures of her legs and leaving out her face to overseas men.

There's a Reason.

Eddie Hall, actor and stunt man, after turning over a car for "Since You Went Away," sat on the edge of the set and started knitting. Well, it was so funny I had to ask, "How come?" Seems years ago when he was a youngster, he turned over a car for Claudette Colbert in "Manslaughter," injured his hands. Doctors advised him to take up knitting to get back use of them. He's been doing it ever since. . . . Alan Curtis has fallen heir to the parts Bob Cummings would have gotten if he hadn't quarreled with Universal. . . . Helen Broderick's son Brod arrives Dec. 11 for 30 days leave. He's been bedded at Fort Devon, Mass., ever since he started teaching jujitsu and became a casualty.

Why Wait?

Dinah Shore and George Montgomery didn't intend to marry till war ended, but he returned from Alaska, where he went to make a picture, and his boat was caught on a reef, battling waves 20 feet high. The day after he arrived here he got orders to ship out, so they decided this was the time to plunge. . . . Hope you didn't miss scenes from "Winged Victory" on the new Hall of Fame program. Now they're going to do part of "Carmen Jones," the new all-Negro Broadway hit. Show's in the bag. . . . Jack Teagarden has signed for "Anybody Here Seen Kelly?"

On the Aisle

By Claudia Cassidy

Jesús Maria Sanromá is an added starter on the Chicago Symphony orchestra's lavish list of soloists, stepping in at Orchestra hall tonight, tomorrow afternoon, and next Tuesday because of the illness of Vladimir Horowitz. This will be Mr. Sanromá's Chicago début, altho he is well known to record collectors as a Victor standby. He makes his bow in Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto, playing it under the direction of Hans Lange just a year after the performance by his one time teacher, Artur Schnabel.

Jesús Maria Sanromá.

Mr. Sanromá is a Puerto Rican of Catalonian parentage, and some of his friends circumvent his name by calling him Chuchu. Sent to this country in 1917 by the Puerto Rican government to continue his study of music, he later worked with Schnabel in Berlin and Cortot in Paris. He appeared in recital in cities from Berlin to London and Paris to Barcelona, and returned to become the staff pianist of the Boston orchestra. There he appeared in the first American performances of Toch's Concerto, Stravinsky's Capriccio, Ravel's Concerto and Honegger's Concertino. His record albums have a wide range, from Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" to Liszt's "Dance of Death," and include two sets of the Hindemith Concerto for Viola and Piano, one with the composer as violist, the other featuring William Primrose.

"Out of This World," now playing week-end performances at Forester theater, closes Dec. 19 and the house will be dark until Jan. 19 when it reopens with a revival of Sidney Howard's "They Knew What They Wanted," once so memorably acted by Richard Bennett, Pauline Lord, and Glen Anders. The Actors' company will hold casting auditions next Tuesday evening, starting at 7:30.

"Out of This World," meanwhile, holds its own as a favorite title. It is the new name of a piece by George Seaton, formerly called "Sunset Touch," which Richard Whorf will direct for Hollywood's Harry Joe Brown. Mr. Brown is a brave man. The play has been held and relinquished by Guthrie McClintic, John Tuerk, George Sommes, and Milton Shubert.

Greatly admired in yesterday's mails was a musical calendar, "From Bach to Gershwin," sent out by Elsa and Otto K. Eitel, who are doing their bit to make music critics reasonably infallible. . . . Vronsky and Babin will appear in Winnetka recital Monday night, but this is positively their last farewell before Mr. Babin goes to camp. . . . Carla Bradley is considering inviting Charles Weidman to add a modern work to the Ballet Repertory company's budding list . . . the group has cost her about $15,000 so far.

Mrs. Rob F., Chicago—This year we are going to save all paper from gift packages Christmas eve, instead of burning it. Already we are planning to trim our laundry basket with a gay ribbon bow and park it beside the Christmas tree so we can heap it full of paper as we unwrap gifts. There are 10 of us in the family.

Mrs. Harry R., Milwaukee, Wis.—If you are reclaiming an old can of paint or varnish and find it has formed a rubbery skin thru months of storage, you can cut the skin with a knife. Start at edge of can and lift off slowly. Then I thin contents of can slightly and strain thru muslin. After this, a little thinner added will give contents the proper consistency.

Mrs. Ed W., Chicago—Woudn't it be a good idea if the campaign ribbons of service men were made of plastic which could be kept clean by an occasional wiping with a damp cloth?

On the Calendar.

"There will always be a Chrismas party" read invitations from the Tavern to its annual entertainment for children and parents on Dec. 18. There will be holiday music and refreshments, and as a capacity crowd is expected, members are urged to make reservations now for their families.

Husbands of Chicago Drama league members have been invited to share in tonight's program at the Casino club, where Mrs. Osa Johnson will present a special motion picture production, "Tulagi and the Solomon Islands." Among those with reservations for dinner at 6:45 p. m. are Mr. and Mrs. Laban J. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Meigs, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Hartig, Mr. and Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peacock, the Walter Peacocks, Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Humphrey, and the James Bremners. The lecture will begin at 8:15 p. m.

1 large onion, sliced
2 cups chopped celery
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon brown sugar
3 tablespoons soy sauce

Wash rice and cover with hot water. Let stand while browning pork and beef in the fat. When meat is partially browned, add onion, celery, and mushrooms. Stir in brown sugar and soy sauce and add to rice and water. Turn into greased baking dish. Cover and bake 1 hour or until rice is tender in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Add more water if the mixture becomes dry.

Girls' School Board Picks Gifts for Students Today

The board of directors of the Park Ridge School for Girls will meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow to consider selection of Christmas gifts for the girls of the school. Under the guidance of Miss Ethel Barger, school superintendent, each girl has written a letter voicing her particular wants and, insofar as possible, the board members will attempt to place the desired gift in the hands of each girl. Mrs. Griswold A. Price, who heads the board, has invited outsiders wishing to assist the school at Christmas time to contact Miss Barger. Students for the most part are from broken homes—some wholly dependent.

'Oklahoma!' Actors Are Guests at Party of Friends of Drama

The Friends of Drama turned out to greet a few of the singer-actors and dancers of "Oklahoma!" yesterday at the club's matinee breakfast, which prefaced a theater party to the musical show. Reservations to the show had been limited to 150, but the club president, Mrs. J. E. Lukey, said more members than had show tickets were at the breakfast, in the Louis XVI. room of Hotel Sherman.

The breakfast was an informal party, for the round faced David Burns temporarily took over the duties of toastmaster from Mrs. Lukey. Lou Polan and the tiny Polish dancer, Sonia Wojcikowska, were among those he presented.

Paul McGrath, who plays the lead in "Tomorrow the World," was a special guest since his show is to be attended by the club members when they have their next theater party on Jan. 5. Other special guests included Walter Donahue, Will Parker of "Oklahoma!" and Dr. Vincent Paul Gatti, Brazilian vice consul.

OTHER COUNTIES CITE TURMOIL IN CLARK TAX PLAN

Hunt Way Out of Delays Due to Change.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8.—Potential delays and turmoil in the taxing machinery of downstate counties, caused by the announcement that John S. Clark, Cook county assessor, intends to assess at 100 per cent valuation this year were discussed here today at a meeting of downstate tax officials.

Most of the state's 102 counties were represented at the conference, which was called by Philip W. Collins, director of the state department of revenue, and held in the auditorium of the state's centennial building.

The one great problem of the downstate counties, it developed, was their inability to obtain now from the revenue department its assessments of railroad properties. Normally this assessment is in the hands of county officials by Nov. 1. Without it, county clerks downstate cannot make up their tax rolls. Clark's plan, it is charged, forces the state revenue department to fix new railroad and capital stock assessments and these cannot be prepared quickly.

May Be Ready Feb. 1.

Collins gave the county officials a pessimistic estimate that at best the rail assessments would be turned over to them on Feb. 1. Several clerks said that their tax collections would be delayed from one to three months this year, and that some counties would be broke in the period of delay.

Under the law the state department of revenue must assess railroads and certain items of corporation stocks at a value which is theoretically the state-wide average at which other property is assessed in all counties. This average last year was fixed at 31 per cent of full value. Collins has estimated that 100 per cent in Cook county would lift this assessment to something like 55 or 60 per cent.

The downstate officials were not, according to several of their number who spoke from the floor, interested much in the debasement factor. They did want the figures so they could go ahead with their tax bills and collections. Kenton Christopher, an official from St. Clair county, asked why the factor could not be estimated by the state.

Urges an Estimate.

"You estimated last year when the factor in Cook county was 37 per cent and were still ready to estimate this year if the percentage in Cook had been kept there," he said.

Collins said that no litigation seemed likely under the old setup, but was certain to come under the new Cook county rule and he must be ready with accurate figures to take into court.

There was little argument over the right of Clark to use 100 per cent of valuation. John Costello of St. Clair county said that his "hat was off to Clark." Collins said there could be no objection to 100 per cent legally, and that an allover program to that end was desirable. But he insisted such a plan could not succeed without special legislation and should be promoted while the general assembly is in session.

Resents "Dictation."

Leonard Sours, county clerk of Peoria, said he didn't want any dictation by Cook county, but that he would like to see a full valuation everywhere. Mrs. Elsie Lischka of the county clerk's office in Madison county said she was ready now to extend taxes and wasn't interested in what factor was used.

Clerk John Hillen of Warren county asked why a special session of the legislature couldn't be called to straighten things out, but got no support. Later a caucus of county clerks was held and it was decided to wait for 30 days to see if any help would be given the harassed clerks, who must certify all tax bills.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with queries.]

E. N. K. asks: "Will the questionnaires and other data collected by selective service be returned to the registrants or their families when the war is over?"

ANSWER: The data will not be returned to the registrant or his family. At the close of the last war, all selective service records, including those of the local boards, were deposited in the office of the adjutant general in Washington. We are informed that since that time, however, all records of local boards have been destroyed except classification records and minute books [now in the National Archives]; registration cards [now in custody of the census bureau], and the cover sheets [with contents] of inducted men, deserters, and delinquents which are still in custody of the adjutant general's office.

W. F. W. asks: "I am a native of China and I will be inducted Dec. 10. I have a wife and three children still living in China. Will they receive the dependency benefits? How? Does the soldiers and sailors civil relief act extend to me too?"

ANSWER: The office of dependency benefits will pay your wife the family allotments thru the Bank of China. The soldiers and sailors civil relief act applies to any one serving in our army or navy as well as to our nationals serving under foreign colors.

C. U. I. writes: "I received an induction notice yesterday which means that I cannot complete the last half of my junior year at the academy [I took enough work in the summer to complete the first half]. My draft board insists I report for induction, causing me to lose all the work I've taken this fall. Is their word final?"

ANSWER: Some boards incorrectly interpret section 5 [f] of the regulations as amended by public law 126 to mean a student must be in the last half of his senior year, whereas the student may request [in writing] the postponement of his induction "if he is in last half of HIS academic year" regardless of the date during the "calendar" year on which his academic year ends. The registrant must be a full-time student. This policy does not extend to college students.

D. S. E. writes: "Col. Armstrong stated married men would be called by order number. I have number 1767 in my board and have been called and other married men with order numbers in the nine hundreds haven't been called. Why?"

ANSWER: They may be on replacement tables and "not available" until later.

NOTE: Men interested in navy commissions may have the navy's new edition of "How to get a commission in the navy," by sending us a self-addressed, stamped envelope. It lists navy billets available to men with certain types of civilian experience.

SLASH $100,000 FROM OFFICE OF CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Bowler Blocks Move to Withhold All Funds.

The city council finance committee yesterday approved a reduction in the annual appropriation for the office of civilian defense, cutting the amount given that agency from $500,000 to $400,000, but declined to eliminate the allowance. When such a suggestion was made, Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the committee, intervened.

"While no emergencies are apparent now, we must be prepared, and I don't think that they'll spend any more money than they need in the OCD office," said Bowler.

Wish to Quiz Co-Ordinator.

The aldermen voted to invite Ralph H. Burke, deputy coördinator of civilian defense for the Chicago area, to appear at a future meeting and explain how the $400,000 appropriation will be used. Last week the printing bills incurred in publishing the OCD's weekly and monthly magazines were criticized by aldermen.

The committee also decided the proposal to allow the Chicago plan commission $133,590 for 1944 was too high and voted to cut the sum to $90,000. The commission was allowed $140,158 for 1943. The committeemen asked that H. Evert Kincaid, acting executive director of the commission, appear and explain the long list of salaries outlined in the request for funds.

Approve Mayor's Plan.

The committee approved an ordinance, urged by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, that will establish an engineering board of review to investigate all plans for public works projects. The proposal calls for a capital account appropriation of $50,000. A $50,000 appropriation for a post-war economic advisory council was approved.

Other tentative appropriations approved include: Mayor's office, $76,866; clerk's office, $156,296; vehicle license commission, $44,181; license appeal commission, $10,240; board of zoning appeals, $20,216.

SOLDIER SON'S LETTERS FIND DAD A SUICIDE

Letters from the soldier son of William Feldman, an attorney who was found fatally shot with a revolver near him in his office at 188 West Randolph street, arrived yesterday shortly before it was testified at a coroner's inquest that Feldman had been brooding because he feared his son, who was overseas, might be killed. A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned by the jury.

Feldman's brother, Abraham, 5540 Congress street, testified the attorney was depressed because his son, Pvt. Robert Feldman, 18 years old, was in North Africa. The brother introduced a letter written to him in which the attorney said he was a "mental and physical wreck" and intended to take his life.

Similar letters were found addressed to Feldman's wife, Sadie, and to a business associate. Feldman, 54, lived at 7022 Merrill avenue. He was found Tuesday and died in Henrotin hospital, where the inquest was held.

WIFE OF A SOLDIER 'INNOCENT VICTIM' IN CAR THEFT CASE

Mrs. Betty Bokun, 25 years old, a pretty blonde living at 7130 Normal boulevard, was freed of a charge of automobile larceny by Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court yesterday on the plea of her attorney, Harry Busch, that she was an innocent victim. The car stolen is owned by Nathan G. Simon, 6012 South Francisco avenue. Atty. Busch said that it was bought by her husband, Peter, an army private, at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for $325, and that he wrote to her to come down and drive it home. She did that, said Busch, and soon afterward was arrested. It was not known the car was stolen, the lawyer added. Judge McGarry nol prossed the charge against Mrs. Bokun.

WILDCAT FIVE PLAYS STRONG FOE SATURDAY

It's West. Michigan; Graham Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While Chicago basketball fans are watching the inaugural double header of the season Saturday night in the Stadium, Northwestern's squad will open its campaign aginst Western Michigan in Evanston High school gymnasium. This game will be the only preview of the Wildcats before they meet Notre Dame on Dec. 18 in the Stadium.

Because of navy talent, which includes holdover letter men, Northwestern and Michigan have been made early favorites in the Big Ten race which opens next month. Purdue is only a step behind in the consensus because the Boilermakers also will benefit from transfer material. Purdue, however, does not have holdover varsity men who have proved their scoring ability, but this easily may be remedied by players from last year's freshman team.

Illinois Shows Strength.

The feature game Saturday night in the Stadium between Illinois and Great Lakes shapes up as a far better contest than it seemed to be a month ago. Altho Illinois has lost all regulars on its championship quintet, the victory over Detroit Tuesday night, as well as the one over the alumni on which four of last year's regulars played, points to a good offensive team.

There is no question but that the Bluejackets will have another good team. The squad will improve as it plays into condition. Illinois will furnish a fine opportunity to judge the abilities of the Great Lakes squad. De Paul, with four victories, meets Nebraska on the same program and should have no difficulty in getting its first triumph in the Stadium.

Graham May Not Play.

Western Michigan, which has had advantage in practice time over Northwestern, may upset the Wildcats, as it did last year in the season's opener. Coach Dutch Lonborg of the Wildcats naturally is more concerned with evaluating his material than in winning this particular game.

Northwestern has Capt. Otto Graham, of course, who finished second in Big Ten scoring last year, but Nick Vodick, who played center an . guard, is the only other regular letter man available. Ronnie Schumacher, forward, received a letter, but he was at best a first line substitute. George Felt will be a big asset, however. The 6 foot 4 inch center won this position at the start of last season but was forced to the side lines by ineligibility. Graham, Vodick, and Felt probably insure a capable quintet, provided that Graham, who has been ill with the flu, is able to play. If not, Jim Schmidt, from South Dakota State, will take his place.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

It is fortunate, indeed, that the National Football league has at its head a man of Elmer Layden's integrity, stability, and vision. . . . If there is any foundation in fact for veiled charges of collusion between professional football players and gamblers, the fans may rest assured that such dishonesty will be brought to light and the guilty banished from football forever. . . . That's the way Layden operates and that is the reason he was chosen to direct America's fastest growing sport. . . . He will defend any man in the league from the most affluent owner to the most lowly paid player against rumor and innuendo. . . . Once he gets factual evidence of irregularities he will assess maximum penalties, make no mistake about that. . . . The league at this stage of its development could tolerate no other type of leader. . . . George Halas, Curley Lambeau, Tim Mara, Bert Bell, George Marshall and others responsible for the popularity the game now enjoys were wise enough to incorporate in the league constitution a provision making gambling by any one connected with the organization punishable by expulsion. . . .

The head of any big sports group frequently hears gossip about irregularities of operation. . . . Maj. John L. Griffith has spent no little time and energy in running down reports of illegal recruiting and subsidizing in the Western conference. . . . So has Ed Atherton, commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference. . . . Invariably their investigations reveal that the rumors were just rumors. . . . That doesn't mean they can be ignored. . . . Gambling always has been a vexing problem for those interested in the prosperity of sport, amateur and professional. . . . In the present situation it is well to keep in mind that no factual evidence has been printed or submitted to the league commissioner of collusion between players and gamblers or club owners and gamblers. . . . One newspaper reporter has worked up a mild rage because recent defeats of the Washington Redskins have taken the gamblers for a ride. . . . If some one must be taken for a ride, we can think of no more deserving passengers than men who make a livelihood gambling on sports events.

Why America Is Great.

What makes our country powerful and great?
The many blessings, bounteous and rare,
Which come to her to ease the crushing weight
Of war and strife all lands at times must bear?
I doubt that these alone could make her great,
For nations once as richly blessed as she
Are now the victims of a ruthless hate,
Oppressed by tyrants and no longer free.
"What then," you ask, "has made her strong and great,
What then besides these blessings rich and rare
Have aided her to reach her lofty state?"
Her faith and trust, my friend, in God and pray'r!

BEARS SPEED DRILL FOR PRO PLAY-OFF GAME

Scoff at Reports of Gambling.

March On Office

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—George P. Marshall, president of the Washington Redskins, his coaches, business manager, and 24 members of the team, marched into the Times-Herald office this evening and demanded proof of the story the newspaper published this morning, insinuating collusion between the players and gamblers on National Football league games played this season. They got none.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Bears, not even mildly disturbed by insinuations that professional football players were associating with gamblers, went ahead yesterday in their drills for the National league championship game in Wrigley field on Dec. 19 or 26.

In fact, the Bears were glad that the rumors, coming out of Washington Tuesday night, had cleared the atmosphere. They joked about it in the clubhouse.

"We might bet a cigar or two among ourselves on who makes the most yards or catches the most passes," said Bob Snyder, the No. 2 Bear quarter back, "just like the friendly wagers which are made in any sport or business."

"Old Familiar Cry."

The Bears, while going thru a few dozen plays in a two hour workout at Wrigley field, were much more concerned in getting a full complement of men for the drills. Bronko Nagurski still is detained at his Minnesota farm, but some of the boys who know of his love for hunting suspect that he's drawing a bead on a few deer to lay in a winter supply of meat. Coaches were trying to get a call thru to International Falls last night to invite the old fellow to come a-runnin' to Chicago.

Turner, Wilson Absent Too.

Bulldog Turner, the team's all-league center, missed practice because of the illness of his 3 year old daughter in St. Louis. George Wilson was absent because of a cold.

Last night pictures were shown of the recent game in Washington which the Bears lost to the Redskins, 21 to 7.

"The pictures surprised us," said Coach Paddy Driscoll. "They prove that we weren't mauled as badly as we thought. Except for a 53 yard run by young Frank Seno and two runs of 25 and 20 yards by Wilbur Moore, we didn't do so badly."

The Bears, after experiencing this 21 to 7 defeat, not to mention the 14 to 6 loss to the Redskins for the title last year, still are convinced their tactics are sound. They plan now new strategy for the Redskins, whom they confidently believe will beat the Giants Sunday, thus setting up the title game for a week from Sunday.

Ensign Stydahar in Town.

The Bears may get a little temporary help today. Ensign Joe Stydahar of the naval reserve is in town after active service on a merchant ship which took him to South America, England, Ireland, and Scotland. Joe admitted he would like nothing better than to exercise his 265 pounds in a Bear uniform. The one time Bears' all-league tackle said navy service "is a lot of fun." He will return to duty Saturday in New York.

The Phil-Pitt Eagles have unhorsed the Bears as perennial leaders in yardage gained by rushing, league statistics show. The Eagles marched 1,730 yards on the ground to the Bears' 1,651. The Chicagoans maintained their over-all ground gaining superiority with the help of their greatest season in the air. They gained 2,310 on passes and 84 for laterals for a combined gain of 4,045. The Eagles' total was only 2,878.

The Bears' 4,045 yards was the second highest in league history. In 1941, the Bears gained 4,265 yards.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

George Young, the 36 year old native of Omega, Ga., who didn't begin bowling until ten years ago, last night became the Alpha of the preliminary rounds in the third All-Star national match game tournament with a smashing 7,464. The balding George, who has a record of 29 perfect games of 300, made sure of a place in the finals, opening at noon today, with an 1,187 that gave him his 36 game total.

The fight for the 13 qualifying rôles in the cast of 16 to be completed by Champion Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis.; Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., and Johnny Crimmins of Detroit, Mich., was the most furious in the three year history of bowling's biggest show, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

Wins $200 Prize.

Young, who earned first preliminary prize of $200 by his performance, beat out Paul Krumske of the Chicago Classic league's Meister Braus by 21 pins. Krumske gave the crowd one of its biggest thrills of the night when he posted a 279 born of eight consecutive strikes before he left the No. 4 pin standing in the ninth frame, and then left the No. 10 stick upright on his third ball in the final frame.

Nelson Burton, the St. Louis coholder of the national match doubles championship who had paced the field thruout most of the preview rounds, dropped to fourth with a 7,436, one pin back of Mort Lindsey, the Connecticut veteran, who gave a private show of his own with a 1,257. This was registered on the same squad that averaged 210. It included Young, Buddy Bomar of Chicago, Walter Wellman of Findley, O.; Dale Ward of the Coast Guard at San Francisco, and Fred Bujack of Detroit.

Finals Open Today.

The finals will open this morning with the Schwoegler-Day-Crimmins threesome and the thirteen 36 game qualifiers going into a round robin competition based on the Petersen cumulative point system. Each man will meet his rivals once in four game blocks, with an additional position round for Sunday's final standings. Thru the Petersen system a bowler is awarded one point for each 50 pins he knocks down, one point for each game won within a series, and one point if he knocks down more pins than his opponent while losing more games within a series. In addition, if any game within the series of four blocks finishes in a tie, each bowler is awarded half a point, the equivalent of 25 pins.

The starting times for today's matches are 12 noon, 1:20 p. m., 2:40 p. m., 4 p. m., 6:20 p. m., 7:40 p. m., 9 p. m., and 10:20 p. m. This will obtain thru the finals.

The field is bowling for a total purse of $7,000, of which $200 and $100, respectively, were to be awarded to the first and second high men for the 36 games comprising the preliminaries and semi-finals. The victor of the entire tournament will be given $2,000 and a championship trophy, with $1,000 going to the runner-up.

Mt. Carmel to Play Dec. 26 in New Orleans

BY FRANK NORRIS.

The Louisiana State High School association yesterday sanctioned the proposed post-season charity football game between Mount Carmel, city-wide co-champion of Chicago, and Jesuit Hight, champion of New Orleans, La. The game will be played in City Park stadium in the southern city on Sunday, Dec. 26. Mount Carmel is co-city champion of Chicago with St. George of Evanston, which meets Mount St. Michael in the Polo Grounds in New York City next Sunday in a charity game.

Proceeds of the New Orleans game will be used to open a U. S. O. center and promote further interest in the New Orleans Catholic Youth organization. Mount Carmel will receive only its expenses for the trip.

Game Finally Approved.

Father Ambrose Casey, Mount Carmel principal, after announcing that the school had withdrawn its acceptance of the offer Tuesday night, yesterday accepted when it was sanctioned by the Louisiana association and approved by the OCD office in New Orleans.

Approval of the game came thru a telephone conversation between Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans. Mayor Maestri wanted to know why Mount Carmel objected and Mayor Kelly, after conferring with A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education for the City league, assured the southern mayor that all the difficulty was arising in the south and not Chicago. A meeting by the southern state's association brought instant approval. Then officials notified Father Casey of the facts and he accepted.

Unbeaten in Nine Games.

Plans for the charity game were formulated by Fred Digby, sports editor of the New Orleans Item; Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE; the Rev. Patrick J. Quinn, diocesan supervisor of the New Orleans Catholic Youth organization, and the Rev. James McDonnell, president of the Chicago Catholic league.

Mount Carmel is undefeated in nine games this season, having won seven and tied two. Wally Fromhart, former star of Notre Dame, is coach of the Caravan.

Dorazio Ends Training for Bolden Bout

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Gus Dorazio, battle scarred Philadelphia heavyweight, ended training yesterday for a 10 round bout with Nate Bolden, 1937 Chicago intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner in Chicago Stadium tomorrow. The 27 year old Pennsylvanian sparred two fast rounds with Jim Gardner, his light heavyweight sparmate.

Dorazio, who displayed considerable ability in his Chicago debut last summer when he beat Lem Franklin, is supremely confident of spoiling Nate's bid for his fifth straight victory. Whitey Bimstein, New York trainer, will be in Dorazio's corner.

Gus Maps Strategy.

Dorazio, who has won his last four contests, believes Bolden will use a hit and run, counter-punching style, against him. Gus demonstrated in training that he may be able to ruin this plan by crowding his clever opponent and smothering him with a variety of punches.

Like Bolden, Gus is determined to score a victory because of the possibility of obtaining a big money match with Tami Mauriello or Jimmy Bivins, ranking contenders for a shot at Sgt. Joe Louis' title.

Bolden Eases Up.

Nate took things easy yesterday. He will follow the same procedure today. The Chicagoan reached peak condition on Tuesday, 24 hours early, and as a result was down to 169 pounds, four under the weight he wants to be for the bout. The two day rest will enable him to regain those pounds.

ILLINOIS DUCKS PLENTIFUL, BUT HARD TO SHOOT

Birds Leave Marshes; Feed in Corn Fields.

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho the latest duck census made by the Illinois Natural History survey indicates that there are more than 2,710,000 ducks in the Illinois river valley, the sport of hunting mallards recently hasn't been anything to brag about. In fact, shooting in most of the marshes has been poor. A few spots report good hunting. The smart greenheads are working the cornfields and the big lakes or rest areas.

In some of the marshes [including those owned by clubs] the ducks have learned where the blinds are and after being gunned pretty strong are refusing to be fooled by a stool of decoys and a duck caller. As a result bags on some of the club grounds recently were so low as to be almost unbelievable to the shooter, who always figures that such places get wonderful hunting day in and week out during a season.

Big Flights Arrive.

One encouraging thing about the season this year is the heavy flight of birds that finally hit the Illinois river. The prediction of Ducks Unlimited of a big duck year has been borne out. It was a curious twist of luck that this year of a heavy migration should find the Illinois river lacking both water and natural duck foods, which make for good shooting in the marshes and bayous.

As an assistant game technician of the Illinois Natural History survey said yesterday, if the Illinois had been well stocked with duck foods sportsmen would have had better shooting this year. Instead the shortage of waterfowl foods caused the ducks to leave the barren sloughs and visit cornfields early in the season.

Ducks Visit Cornfields.

We wonder if the duck shooting in other states has been changed as much as it has in Illinois due to mechanical corn pickers. In this state those remarkable machines are putting the ducks on the "swing shift," which is affecting the whole sport. Clubs with large bodies of water and not too much hunting marsh are noticing the change as well as day shooting places, because the ducks know they don't have to go into some of the smaller lakes and marshes where they got food but also a cannonading from shotguns.

Instead they can go to a cornfield, eat well and then return to a big lake well out of range of shotguns.

Coach Stirs Hawks with Talk on Leafs

BY EDWARD BURNS.

National Hockey league teams will have done a lot of skating and scoring during this week of rest the Blackhawks have been experiencing. The Chicagoans, nevertheless, may take to Chicago Stadium ice Sunday night still possessed of a second place tie with their adversaries of the evening, the Toronto Maple Leafs. Or they might be tied for third place with the Leafs, both teams passed by the Boston Bruins.

Toronto will come to town Sunday either sharp or terribly tired as the result of a battle to be played Saturday night with the league leading Montreal Canadiens. These all-Canada clashes are always pretty hot stuff and the Leafs will be faced with the job of making their constituents forget a 7 to 2 blistering administered by the Montreal Speedsters earlier in the season.

Manager Paul Thompson has warned his Hawks they should not assume the Leafs will be leg weary when they show up here. He thinks the Leafs will get so much momentum Saturday that they still will be flashing about when they hit the Stadium freeze Sunday. Then, too, the Leafs are not too fond of the Hawks.

The Leafs whipped the Hawks in the season opener here, Oct. 31, 4 to 1, but the Hawks on Nov. 13 precisely avenged this invasion embarrassment by beating the Leafs in Toronto, 4 to 1.

The Leafs have made 68 goals in 15 league games, an average of 4.5 per game, which is slightly better than the Hawks' 61 in 14 games, an average of 4.4 goals per game.

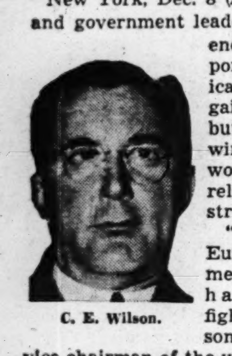
LONG WAR PULL AHEAD, WILSON WARNS PLANTS

Larger Production Is Scheduled.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Industrial and government leaders today gave encouraging reports on America's production gains this year, but warned that winning the war would continue a relentless, uphill struggle.



C. E. Wilson.

"The fight in Europe looks to me like a long, hard, bitter fight," C. E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of the war production board, told the 48th annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers. "Unless we are exceptionally lucky, it will be costly in lives beyond the expectations of most of the American people. The cost in material will be equally heavy.

Jap "Pushover" Flouted.

"Japan will be a tough, dangerous, persistent enemy. If any one of us still clings to the silly delusion that the Japanese will be a pushover for us after Germany is knocked out of the war, let him talk to some of the officers and men who have come back from the Pacific theater."

Wilson reported over-all output in 1943 would be 50 per cent higher than in 1942 and next year would be 80 per cent above 1942. He said increases scheduled for 1944 included munitions, aircraft tonnage, naval and merchant ship production, and trucks. Among declines were ordnance and signal equipment, construction, tanks, and ammunition.

Admiral Gives Advice.

Touching on next year's election, he said: "I am deeply alarmed today over the possibility that a right wing reaction may draw some sections of capital so far away from our traditions as to imperil the entire structure of American life as we know it."

Rear Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the bureau of naval ordnance, who today relinquished that post to go on active sea duty, also advised Americans to prepare for difficult fighting.

"Our victory will not be won without continued efforts equal in devotion and efficiency to those put forth in our days of greatest uncertainty," he declared.

Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft corporation and of Republic Steel corporation, told the session that prime requisites of post-war prosperity were industrial peace and coöperation between industry and labor.

Outlines Four "Keystones."

He said "class conflict would prove disastrous" and outlined these four keystones for industrial peace:

"1. Recognition of the principle of collective bargaining;

"2. Recognition of the right of employes to join or not to join any labor organization;

"3. Scrapping of the 'class conflict' idea in labor management relations and recognition that coöperation between men and management naturally follows mutual understanding of each other's problems;

"4. Incentive for investment and work—a fair return for venture capital and fair wages for employes."

Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, told the N. A. M.'s second war congress that insufficient tire and truck replacements to meet 1944 requirements may adversely affect the nation's transportation system.

Alien Patents Held War Aid, Boon in Peace

The effectiveness with which American industry is turning enemy patents to use in making weapons for war against the axis and the post-war opportunity for industry to exploit thousands of other patents seized by the alien property custodian were described yesterday by H. H. Sargeant, chief of the patent administration division of the office of the alien property custodian. He addressed a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel.

Sargeant said American manufacturers already have requested approximately 700 licenses, covering 11,719 seized patents and patent applications, and that 45,000 inventions and processes are available to industry on a nonexclusive, royalty free licensing basis.

Propeller to Aid Waterway Use.

Among the patents seized by the APC is the Voith-Schneider propeller which Sargeant emphasized would be of value to Chicago and other cities involved in inland water transportation. He asserted the propeller "gives remarkable maneuverability to ships, and its installation cost is higher than that of conventional propellers, the savings in hull structure, fuel consumption, and crew personnel and the elimination of reversing gears and turbines make it well adapted to the difficult navigation conditions of the drainage canal and the Mississippi river."

Other discoveries of enemy origin covered by APC held patents include tungsten carbide and beryllium. The former is among the hardest known substances and its use makes it possible to machine hard steel and airplane aluminum as rapidly as wood can be shaped, Sargeant said. It has been termed one of Germany's "secret weapons."

Beryllium a "Magic Metal."

He described beryllium as a "magic metal of almost unbelievable endurance," which is particularly adaptable to the aircraft and electrical industries. Harder than structural steel, it is used in the altimeters, cowl hinges, valve springs for high speed airplanes, and in other places where continuous wear is vital.

Sargeant urged Chicago manufacturers to use the APC library in the Field building in Chicago and apply for any licenses adaptable to their businesses.

WABASH BONDS.

I own a $1,000 Wabash Railway company refunding and general mortgage series A 5½ per cent bond, due March 1, 1975. What is the status of this issue under the reorganization program for the company? V. S.

Answer: A plan of reorganization was consummated June 18, 1942, and new securities and cash were made available June 26, 1942, to holders of Wabash railway securities.

Under the reorganization, holders of the refunding and general mortgage 5½s of 1975 received for each $1,000 bond plus accrued interest to Jan. 1, 1941, the following securities of the successor Wabash Railroad company: $151.33 of general mortgage income series B 4¼ per cent bonds due Jan. 1, 1991; 3.7833 shares of 4½ per cent preferred stock, and 9.8367 shares of common. Holders of the new common were given an option to take $11.75 in cash for each common share.

DRASTIC CUT IN HOG SHIPMENTS AVERTS EMBARGO AT YARDS

An embargo on shipments of hogs to the Chicago market was averted this week only by a drastic reduction in the movement from farms, leaders in the Chicago stock yards trade said yesterday. The three day volume, at 88,600 head, including direct to packers, stood 23 per cent below last week and 8 per cent below the same three days last year.

Despite the large decrease 9,000 hogs were unsold at the close yesterday. Packers, with several days' supply on their hands, bought all they could handle of the fresh receipts, mostly at the $13.75 "support" price. The average was unchanged, at $13.50.

The cattle market also developed a "holdover trouble." The three day supply, at 44,400, was the second largest of the year. Most good to choice cattle found an outlet early, but several thousand head of steers and yearlings valued from $13 to $15 remained unsold at the close. Lambs advanced mostly 25 cents.

Packers under federal inspection slaughtered 1,289,603 cattle last month, a total which just nosed out the former record of 1,273,771 head in October, 1942.

Steel Makers to Negotiate New Pay Pact

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP).—United States Steel corporation today announced it would negotiate a new labor contract with the United Steelworkers of America [CIO], and the union said approximately 150 other companies also had agreed to reopen their contracts.

"Big Steel's" announcement was in reply to the union's notice of intention to reopen wage negotiations after demanding a general 17 cent hourly increase for some 500,000 "basic steel" workers.

Schedule Tuesday Conference.

Benjamin F. Fairless, United States Steel president, said representatives of five subsidiaries, Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, American Steel and Wire company, Columbia Steel company, National Tube company, and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company would meet here next Tuesday with union officials.

The United States Steel announcement came less than 24 hours after the Weirton, W. Va., independent union asked the Weirton Steel company for a $1 an hour minimum wage. Weirton is a subsidiary of National Steel corporation, only major producer which does not have a contract with the CIO.

Below Weirton Demand.

The basic hiring rate in the present CIO contract is 78 cents an hour. The 17 cent proposed increase would still leave the minimum wage 5 cents an hour lower than that proposed by the Weirton union.

Economists of the CIO declare the 17 cent raise is sufficient only to boost wages on the same scale that living costs have risen since the "Little Steel" formula became the measuring stick for wages in September, 1942.

CANCEL DIVIDEND AND THEN VOTE TENTATIVE ONE

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP).—Directors of Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., today rescinded their action of Nov. 29 in declaring a dividend of one share of stock on each five shares outstanding because of "the delay in final passage of the pending tax bill."

The directors passed new resolutions tentatively declaring the same dividend and likewise payable Dec. 28 to holders of record Dec. 14 but "effective only upon further action of directors."

Sell Fidelity Firm's Assets for $3,062,236

Remaining assets of the Fidelity Assurance association on deposit with Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, for the protection of Illinois contract holders were sold yesterday for $3,062,236 plus accrued interest of approximately $36,800.

The securities were sold under competitive bidding to 16 Chicago securities firms and the First National Bank of New York. Twenty firms were included in the list of bidders. Seventy-five lots or issues were sold, in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $130,000. One block of $66,000 was left unsold because a satisfactory bid was not received, and another $26,000 block is being held until February, 1944, when the bonds mature.

Redemption Sum Is Large.

In addition to the funds received from the sale, Hughes holds a "very substantial" sum realized from bond redemptions and interest payments.

Hughes said that the basis for distributing funds to holders of investment contracts will be determined by the Circuit court of Sangamon county. In view of the fact that contract holders will have an opportunity to object to the basis of distribution, several months may elapse before the court will be in a position to order the final distribution, Hughes said.

The deadline for the filing of claims by contract holders, originally set for Oct. 1, 1943, has been extended to Jan. 4, 1944. No figures were available as to the amount of claims already filed.

Later Holders Benefit.

Holders of contract sold prior to July 7, 1931, are not protected as fully as holders of later contracts who will benefit from changes in Illinois law requiring sellers of investment contracts to deposit securities with the state.

Successful bidders for the Fidelity securities, in addition to the New York bank, were Rogers and Tracy, Shields and Co., Lehman Brothers, Graham, Parsons & Co., Glore, Forgan & Co., Smith, Barney & Co., Harris, Hall & Co., McMaster Hutchinson & Co., First Boston corporation, Kidder, Peabody & Co., A. G. Becker & Co., Clement, Curtis & Co., Bear, Stearns & Co., Harriman Ripley & Co., Fahnestock & Co., A. C. Allyn & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., and Salomon Brothers & Hutzler.

CAUTION KEEPS GRAIN PRICES IN NARROW RANGE

Inability of traders to understand some of the recent OPA grain price regulations was said yesterday to be hampering trading in cash and futures grain on the Chicago market. Wheat futures closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent a bushel lower. Oats finished unchanged to ½ cent lower. Rye moved within a range of about 2 cents and closed unchanged to ⅝ cent higher. Barley was ⅛ to ¼ cent lower.

Brokers, in explaining some of the confusion, said the order freezing the price of oats was unworkable, pointing out that, while the ceiling on No. 3 white oats here was 80¼ cents under the terms of the order, it was possible to pay as much as 4 cents more for the grain if brought from Minneapolis.

Cash grain handlers, at a meeting today, are expected to pass resolutions asking the OPA to correct the apparent inequality in prices between the various markets.

A commission house with eastern connections bought heavily in rye futures and prices advanced 1 cent to a new seasonal high. Equally heavy selling which followed was attributed to a professional trader.

People and Events

Dr. R. K. Bliss, director of extension service at Iowa State college, received the American Farm Bureau federation's award for distinguished service to American agriculture yesterday at the federation's meeting in the Hotel Sherman. The award was also made posthumously to the late Congressman Henry B. Steagall of Alabama, and was accepted by his daughter, Mrs. Myra Steagall Wall.

Ray Chamberlain, executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, Washington, D. C.; James Dalton, editor of Motor magazine, New York, and Seymour M. Lewis, general counsel of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, will address a dinner meeting of Cook county motor car and truck dealers and finance men tonight in the Stevens hotel.

All officers and directors were elected yesterday at the annual directors' meeting of Walgreen company. W. G. Johnston, a director, was elected vice president.

WMC IS SEEKING TO CO-ORDINATE WAR CUTBACKS

Tries to Ease Labor Turnover Shock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Retrenchments in the government's munitions program must be concentrated in the 69 critical labor shortage areas to permit quick absorption of the released workers, Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission, said today in a year-end summary of the man power program.

McNutt said the WMC is taking steps toward the adoption of a policy which would coördinate contract terminations or curtailments by the various procurement agencies to cushion the shock of labor displacement in local communities.

Referring to an expected release of 150,000 war workers in the next 90 days as the result of contract terminations, McNutt emphasized the need for advance planning of these retrenchments to avoid local economic dislocations.

Expect Layoffs to Be Brief.

He said the acute labor shortage areas can absorb the shock of contract shifts because the workers laid off will quickly find new jobs in local industries and will not have to move to another community. The Gary-Hammond-South Chicago area is classified as having an acute labor shortage. Chicago is classified as facing an acute labor shortage within six months.

"Present cutbacks [in war contracts] represent shifts in types of production necessary to meet strategic requirements," McNutt said. "In terms of total numbers of workers they are not large. They are far smaller, indeed, than our immediate demands for labor. But they must be made in the right places. They must be done with care. Should different procurement agency cuts coincide in very tight areas, the result could be a paralyzing shock, a waste of man power, and a hardship on thousands of workers."

Unemployment at Record Low.

McNutt reported that unemployment on Dec. 1 declined to a low point of 700,000, compared with the "bedrock minimum" of 1 million estimated a year ago. These unemployed now, McNutt said, are almost entirely workers in transition between jobs and the unemployables, such as the aged and infirm.

Further growth in the civilian working force [now at a peak of 51,500,000] must come from housewives and others outside the regular labor market, he asserted.

L. C. SMITH ENDS RIFLE JOB; BACK TO TYPEWRITERS

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP).—L. C. Smith & Corona company, which has been producing the M1903-A3 army rifle, is going back to typewriter production.

Col. Frank J. Atwood, chief of the Rochester ordnance district, announced today termination of the manufacture of the rifle, a modification of the army's Springfield, five shot, hand operated, bolt action rifle, at the Syracuse plant and at the Remington Arms company factory at Ilion.

Atwood explained that "volume of production of the army's M-1 [Garand] rifle and the carbine, both semi-automatic weapons of fire power far superior to the Springfield, is now so great there no longer exists a need for M1903-A3 production."

PNEUMATIC TOOL 9 MONTH PROFIT SHOWS DECLINE

Chicago Pneumatic Tool company yesterday reported consolidated profit of $1,582,806, equal to $4.04 a common share, for the nine months ended Sept. 30, against $2,040,532, or $4.51 a share, for the 1942 period. Earnings this year were determined after provision of $9,995,000 for federal income and excess profits taxes, equal to 72 per cent of income before allowance for reserve for contingencies, which amounted to $1,875,000.

Cuban Atlantic Sugar company's consolidated profit for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was $899,225, equal to $1.23 a share, compared with $3,378,044, or $4.63 a share, for the preceding 12 months. Laurence A. Crosby, president, said the decrease was due chiefly to government restrictions on production and price.

Allied Mills Distillery Sale Battle Is Won by De Haven

The Allied Mills, Inc., plan for the sale of the entire capital stock of the Century Distilling company was approved by a wide margin over the two-thirds vote of the company's outstanding shares at a meeting of stockholders last night in the Board of Trade building. The vote in favor of the management's program was 623,259 shares and 58,044 shares were voted against it.

There were indications, however, that the litigation may delay the sale of Century Distilling with its 251,000 barrels of whisky to National Distillers Products corporation and 14 associates for $17,750,000, in addition to the payment to Allied Mills of a cash dividend from Century of $4,650,000 and the repayment of a $4,600,000 loan.

Shane Threatens to Fight.

Threat of an injunction suit to stop the deal came from William H. Shane II., Philadelphia, who conducted a proxy fight against the sales plan.

Shane wishes the Century stock sold pro rata to Allied's stockholders on the same terms as contemplated in the sale to the National Distillers group. Following such sale, the Shane plan contemplates the distribution of the whisky inventory as a dividend.

John Ross of Philadelphia, attorney for Shane, took exception to the counting of proxies received subsequent to the mailing of the letter of J. B. De Haven, Allied's president, dated Nov. 27, soliciting votes for the special meeting. This letter, he asserted, contained misleading statements. He also objected to the "disfranchisement" of stock transferred during the 10 day period prior to the meeting. Both these points, he said outside the meeting, were likely to figure in an injunction suit.

There was some comment on the fact that Harry G. Atwood, Peoria, Ill., son of a former chairman of Allied Mills, who conducted a proxy fight against the sale plan, did not figure prominently in the proceedings. Of the proxies given him, 7,054 shares were voted for the management's plan, and 25,624 shares against. The latter were fewer than the number of shares which Atwood said in his proxy statement were owned beneficially by him and members of his immediate family.

Recessed Five Times.

The meeting, which was first called to order at 11 a. m., was recessed five times, and a vote was not reached until nearly 12 hours later. Meanwhile a proxy committee, headed by Atty. James F. Spoerri, Chicago, was canvassing the votes. Spoerri informed the stockholders that the committee had no authority to tabulate proxies received subsequent to the management's Nov. 27 letter.

Stock transferred during the 10 day period, he said, amounted to 34,000 shares, or not enough to affect the outcome of the voting.

Woe for Stock Shorts

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Wall street sources reported today the whisky shortage had brought woe to the speculators who had sold short during the recent spectacular advance in the shares of American Distilling company. In a few months the stock climbed from around $30 to its current price of $120 a share. It rose $6 yesterday and $7 today. Much of the rise was recorded after the company last month announced a dividend under which it would sell to stockholders one barrel for each share at $32 a barrel.

Test of Illinois Slum Clearing Law Is Begun

BY AL CHASE.

Opening arguments against the constitutionality of the Illinois neighborhood redevelopment corporation act were heard yesterday by Judge Julius Miner of the Circuit court. The hearing was recessed to next Tuesday morning, when attorneys for the city of Chicago will be heard in favor of the slum clearance law.

Bernard Nash, attorney for John F. Zurn, a realtor, who sought to prevent expenditure of $1,000 appropriated by the city to meet expenses of the municipal supervisory commission provided by the act, gave three main arguments against the law.

Opposes Condemnation Plan.

"First, a corporation of this kind should not have the right of condemnation because it is a private corporation for profit and no public purpose is involved in the statute," Nath said.

"Second, the statute is unconstitutional because it fails to provide for proper notice to the property owners of the hearings before the neighborhood redevelopment commission appointed by Mayor Kelly.

"Third, the act is unconstitutional because it fails to provide for a fair and adequate hearing before the commission."

Cites New York Decision.

Nath also cited a recent decision by the New York court of appeals involving a Metropolitan Life Insurance company housing project in New York City. That ruling upheld condemnation by the city, which was acting for the insurance company, Nath said the decision casts doubt on the constitutionality of the Illinois law which permits condemnation directly by a private corporation.

The Illinois neighborhood redevelopment corporation act was passed by the legislature two years ago. It was planned to enable the assembling of large tracts of land for housing projects in blighted areas.

INDUSTRIAL AND RAIL STOCK PRICES CLIMB; TRADE VOLUME LARGE

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Another broad array of gains in industrial and rail leaders appeared in the stock market today. Final advances in top ranking issues ranged from fractions to more than a point. The rise brought a substantial increase in volume to 1,320,000 shares, the first time transactions have topped a million shares since Nov. 9.

Factors which seemed to have most influence on the buying revival were elimination of recent speculative anxiety over the near east conferences and an unexpectedly small flow of tax selling.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite rose 0.4 of a point at 49. Of the 913 issues traded 633 advanced, 131 declined, and 149 were unchanged.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Prices advanced in broader and more active trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. The volume leaders, Chicago Corporation, Nash-Kelvinator, Domestic Industries A common, and Radio corporation, made fractional gains. Eversharp rose 1⅛ to a new peak for 1943 and Midland United A preferred and Mickelberry's Food Products also registered new highs.

90-DAY RECESS ON FEED DUTIES VOTED IN HOUSE

Opponents Say Bill Won't Lift Supply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The house, over bitter opposition from many middle western congressmen, voted today to remove import duties for 90 days on feed grains and other live stock and poultry feeds. The vote on the measure, which now goes to the senate, was 255 to 55.

Rep. Frank Carlson.

Backers of the resolution offered by Rep. Reid F. Murray [R., Wis.] contended the suspension of duties is required as a war emergency measure to encourage additional feed imports for shortage areas. They declared the current shortage is causing a loss of millions of pounds of milk and poultry production.

Maximum Imported Now.

Rep. Frank Carlson [R., Kas.] and other opponents of the bill contended, however, that the United States is already importing all the feed that can be shipped, even with present duties, and that the measure is a blow directed at the livelihood of grain producing farmers.

"This resolution will not help American live stock, dairy and poultry producers," Carlson told the house. "It will, however, be a financial boon to the Canadian farmer. It will set a dangerous precedent by removing tariffs. It places the American farmer in competition with the farmers of every nation in the world that produces these crops."

Example of "One World."

Rep. William Lemke [R., S. D.] said the measure, which is supported by the war food administration, is "another example of this theory of 'one worldism' and is designed to raise the standards of the world at American expense, while lowering our standards."

Altho the suspension of duties is to run for only 90 days under the resolution, Lemke predicted that demands will be made for further extensions in an effort to make the provision permanent.

Rep. Calvin D. Johnson [R., Ill.] asserted that there would be plenty of feed available if the administration would reduce ration point values on meat, so that excessive numbers of live stock now on farms could be moved into consumer channels, thus reducing feed needs.

The duty exemption under the resolution would apply to wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, flax, cottonseed, and hay, when used as feed or a constituent of feed.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
War Manpower Commission regulations require that most employes must obtain a statement of availability from their present employers—or from the War Manpower Commission—before accepting a job with another employer. Determine whether you can obtain, or need, a statement of availability. You will save your time and that of the employers.
